Primaries Set Today In 6 States

Senate, Governor, House Seats Are At Stake In Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nominations for four Senate seats, four governors' mansions and 28 House seats are at stake today in primary elections in six states.

With no major challenges mounted against incumbent governors or senators, most of the interest is on the Republican gubernatorial races in Arizona and New Hampshire.

Other states with party primaries today are Colorado, Minnesota, Vermont and Wisconsin. Georgia voters will pick House nominees Wednesday and Massachusetts will have a primary involving House, Senate and gubernatorial candidates Thursday.

Here's a rundown on major races:

ARIZONA

Richard G. Kleindienst, former aide of Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, is competing with auto dealer and publisher Evan Mecham for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Gov. Paul Fannin is unopposed for the Republican nomination to the Senate seat now held by Goldwater. Four Democrats seek the gubernatorial nomination and six are scrambling for the right to oppose Fannin. Included in the latter group are former State Supreme Court Justice Renz Jennings and Roy Elson, administrative assistant to Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Former Gov. Wesley Powell is trying for a comeback in the GOP gubernatorial primary against the man who ousted him two years ago, former State Rep. John Pillsbury. After the 1962 primary Powell endorsed John W. King who went on to become the state's first Democratic governor in 40 years. King is unopposed for Democratic nomination to a second term.

COLORADO

All four House members seeking nominations to new terms are unopposed. There is no balloting this year for governor or senator.

MINNESOTA

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy is favored over two lesser known foes in his try for Democratic nomination to a second term. Wheelock Whitney, 38, is unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination.

VERMONT

Sen. Winston L. Prouty has no Republican primary opposition as he shoots for a second term. The man he beat six years ago, State Sen. Frederick J. Fayette, is opposed for the Democratic nomination by former Rep. William H. Meyer. In the gubernatorial race Gov. Philip H. Hoff, first Democrat to lead the state in more than a century, is unopposed for nomination to a second term while three men, including Lt. Gov. Ralph A. Foote, seek the Republican nomination.

WISCONSIN

Sen. William Proxmire is favored over two opponents in the Senate Democratic primary while Wilbur Renk is unopposed for the GOP nomination. Gov. John Reynolds, seeking a second term, is favored in the Democratic primary while former Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles is expected to capture the GOP gubernatorial nomination.

U.S. Pilot, 3 Japs Killed As Jets Crash

TOKYO (AP) — Two U.S. jet fighter planes crashed southwest of Tokyo today, killing one pilot and three Japanese factory workers.

An F8 Navy Crusader piloted by Lt. R. C. Schoeder, Rochester, Minn., crashed while taking off from Atsugi Naval Station about 40 miles southwest of Tokyo. It plowed into a small factory, killing three workers and injuring four other Japanese.

Schoeder bailed out. He said in a statement he had aimed his plane at an open area surrounded by trees and did not realize there was a factory beyond.

U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer called on Vice Foreign Minister Takio Oda to extend condolences.

About an hour earlier an Air Force F105 crashed on the banks of the Sagami River near the Atsugi station. The body of the pilot, whose name was withheld, was found in the wreckage.

POURS FOR TEACHERS. Ed Maloney, chairman, pours coffee for Miss Linda Evans of LaCroft, while Robert Dawson, left, new high school reserve basketball coach, and Dan McKeel, sixth grade teacher at Westgate, look on at the reception for East Liverpool teachers held by the education committee of the Chamber of Commerce this morning. About 225 teachers attended at Westgate Junior High School and a meeting of the instructors followed. Serving coffee and doughnuts besides Maloney were Samuel W. Brown, E. R. Chandler, Leo Lawrence, Lester Bloomenthal and Donald U. Honicky. After the general meeting, teachers met with their principals at Westgate later then reported to their respective buildings this afternoon in preparation for the resumption of classes at city schools Wednesday.

Warnings Up On Coast

Hurricane Dora Aims At Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dora aimed her massive punch at Florida's midsection today and hurricane warnings went up along 280 miles of the United States' Southeast coast.

The Weather Bureau advised residents in low-lying areas where access roads might be cut by tides up to 10 feet above normal to evacuate today and said hurricane - force winds could rake the area tonight.

Hurricane warnings were posted from Melbourne, Fla., just south of the nation's space center at Cape Kennedy, north of Brunswick, Ga.

A hurricane watch with gale warnings was posted from Stuart, Fla., just north of the winter playground of the wealthy at Palm Beach, to Myrtle Beach, S.C.

Cape Kennedy went on a condition 3 alert and began buttoning up. Six huge rockets were lashed securely to their launch pads by emergency crews.

An Air Force spokesman said the rockets, including an Atlas-Agena scheduled to hurl a Mariner space probe toward Mars this fall, could withstand winds up to 175 miles an hour on their pads.

Shortly after daybreak, Dora was about 350 miles east of Cape Kennedy and moving westward steadily at about 15 m.p.h.

"It's too early to say where it will make land," said forecaster Raymond Kraft at Miami, "but the area of hurricane warnings should feel hurricane-force winds sometime late tonight."

"Dora is a large and severe hurricane with highest winds estimated at 130 m.p.h. near the center," the Weather Bureau said, adding:

"It has the strength to put up a 10-foot tide a little north of where the center reaches the coast, along with huge waves."

Gale-force winds extend nearly 350 miles to the north of Dora's eye and 100 miles to the south, giving it a huge striking range 450 miles across.

The Weather Bureau warned small craft in the area of warning display to seek safe harbor and small craft elsewhere from Florida to the Carolinas and from the Bahamas and Puerto Rico to Bermuda to remain in port.

Meanwhile, the British liner Queen Mary docked at Southampton, England, after being swept by the tail-end of Cleo, the season's first hurricane. Thirteen of its passengers were cut and bruised.

Cleo, almost a midget in comparison with Dora, swept out into the North Atlantic after killing more than 130 persons and causing millions in damage in a rampage through the Caribbean and up Florida's east coast late last month.

22 Motorists Face Court In Cases Over Weekend

Driving permits of three motorists were suspended and bench warrants were issued for the arrests of two other drivers in Municipal Court hearings this morning for 22 motorists cited by city police and the State Highway Patrol for traffic violations over the long holiday weekend.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff suspended the learner's permit of Jeanne Lee Price, 18, of 622 Jackson St. for 60 days and also gave her a suspended $25 fine and costs after she pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident.

She was cited early Sunday after a collision at the intersection of W. 7th St. and Dawson Ave.

The license of Clyde E. Hunt, 37, of 1069 Locust St. was suspended for 10 days and he was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge.

Hunt, who told Judge Chertoff he fell asleep, was cited by police after his auto struck three parked vehicles and a utility pole on E. 4th near Elm St. early Saturday.

A 10-day suspension and a fine of $15 and costs were handed Franklin Donald Griggs of Lisbon R. D. 3. Griggs, who also pleaded guilty, was arrested Aug. 23 by the patrol for speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30.

Bench warrants were ordered for George Leonard Kosko of West Point and Kenneth Looman of Mingo Junction, both cited on speeding charges and released to appear today.

Kosko was cited by city police in a radar check Friday morning on Dresden Ave. for doing 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

Looman was charged by the patrol with traveling 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7 Saturday.

Seven other motorists drew fines of $10 and costs each and four forfeited bonds in other speeding charges. All were cited on W. 8th St. at speeds ranging from 45 to 51 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

The penalties were handed to Frank G. Willis of Salineville

Secret Cases Added To Grand Jury's List

LISBON — The Columbiana County September Grand Jury, to be chosen Wednesday morning, will be presented one of two secret cases to be added to 28 transcripts on file, Prosecutor William Brokaw said today.

The September term of court officially opened at noon today when the County Bar Association had dinner at the VFW dining room, followed by a meeting in Courtroom No. 1.

Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard will preside over criminal trials this term, and will swear in the Grand Jury Wednesday morning. The panel is to report to Judge Buzzard late Friday or Monday morning, Brokaw said.

City Man Injured; 4 Hurt Near New Garden In Crash

A head - on crash which injured four near New Garden Sunday boosted Columbiana County's traffic accident total for the Labor Day weekend to seven — with no fatalities — the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A city man received a neck injury Sunday night near Wellsville in one of the four injury accidents reported since Friday night at 6, officers said.

Sgt. R. J. Rizzo said the total of accidents was less than an average weekend, and commended district motorists for the holiday traffic record.

Donald Richard Click, 26, of 857 W. 8th St. suffered a whiplash injury to the neck and bruises of the knee when his 1955 coach overturned along Keay Rd. about a half mile north of Wellsville at 6:45 p. m.

The patrol said Click came to a T-intersection and apparently pulled the car over the edge of an embankment and it rolled over on its top.

James V. Migliore, 25, of Canton was admitted to Aultman Hospital at Canton after a head-on crash near New Garden in which three others were hurt.

Officers said Migliore was headed east on Route 172 and attempted to pass another vehicle when his car collided head-on with a station wagon operated by Donald Renkert, 35, of North Canton about four miles west of Route 9.

Migliore suffered a possible back injury and his wife, Pauline, 25, received a fractured collarbone and shoulder injuries.

Renkert was treated for cuts of the lip and scalp and a passenger, Lawrence Hart Jr., 35, of North Canton was treated for abrasions of the knee.

Migliore was cited for passing without the assured clear distance.

Pay Phone And Candy Loot In Laundromats

A pay telephone and four candy bars were stolen in two separate thefts from do-it-yourself laundries, police were advised over the holiday.

Homer Hoffman told police the pay phone, including the board on which it was mounted to the wall, were stolen from his laundromat at 701 Dresden Ave. between midnight Sunday and 8:40 a. m. Monday.

Four candy bars were stolen after a thief broke a glass in a vending machine at the Econ-O-Wash Laundry, 1790 Pennsylvania Ave. Police were told the machine is owned by the Set Vending Co., 400 Poplar Ln.

West Virginia Crash Injures City Employe

Mrs. Helen Ford of Spring Grove Ave., chief clerk in the water department, is in the New Martinsville (W. Va.) Hospital with injuries received in an auto accident over the weekend.

Mrs. Ford suffered a compound leg fracture and a head injury and her mother, whom she was visiting over the holiday, also received a head injury in the mishap, water department officials were advised.

Dwells On Horrors Of Nuclear War In Address At Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — President Johnson has taken sharp exception to Sen. Barry Goldwater's view that some nuclear weapons are conventional in character and could be turned over to North Atlantic Treaty Organization control.

Addressing a Labor Day rally sponsored by the AFL-CIO, Johnson said "there is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon."

He said that "no president of the United States can divest himself of the responsibility" for deciding when or if to use such weapons.

Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, told the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Cleveland on Aug. 25 that he thought a way should be found to give NATO its own stockpile of small, tactical nuclear weapons for use on the battlefield—arms which he said could be termed "conventional nuclear weapons."

At present, NATO's nuclear arms are under American control and could be used only by order of the President.

Johnson, who was seen by 100,000 people, according to police estimates, during his five-hour trip to Detroit, dwelt on the horrors of nuclear war.

The first nuclear exchange would kill 100 million Americans and more than 100 million Russians, he said.

"And when it was over our great cities would be in ashes and our fields would be barren and our industry would be destroyed and our American dreams would be vanished," Johnson said.

Raising his voice to a shout, Johnson said, "As long as I am president, I will bend every effort to make sure that that day never comes."

Noting that no nation has "loosed the atom against another" in the past 19 years, Johnson said: "To do so now is a political decision of the highest order and it would lead us down an uncertain path of blows and counter-blows whose outcome none may know. No president of the United states can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

Johnson's speech was built on the theme that all Americans are united in seeking common goals of prosperity, justice and peace.

September Weather Turns Into Heat Wave

September's first weekend was marked by gradually warmer weather but the forecast indicates it may turn into a heat wave with a torrid 90 or more expected today and still higher Wednesday.

And this is the month when summer departs and autumn arrives—on the calendar.

Saturday had a high of 76, Sunday 78 and Monday 86 and Charles Boughner, lockmaster at Montgomery Dam, where the weekend temperatures were recorded, said his weather advisory indicated highs of 94 both today and tomorrow. The Ohio weatherman said it will go to 90 or so in Northeast Ohio. Tonight's low range will be much warmer — 63-68 — compared to the downtown's 57 recorded at 6 a. m. today. There is no rain in sight. The season's change Sept. 22.

Jaycee 'Queen'

This pretty Wellsville High School senior was crowned "Miss Jaycee of 1965" at a dance Monday night at the MacDonald School, climaxing the annual Wellsville Jaycee Day celebration.

Miss Candy Jackson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Louis Jackson, 1727 Chester Ave., was selected over 26 other contestants.

She was presented a crown, a floral bouquet, a set of luggage, a trophy and other gifts.

Miss Jackson will reign over all Junior Chamber of Commerce activities in Wellsville for the coming year, until her successor is selected at the next Labor Day observance.

First runnerup was Miss

Won't Approach Record

Highway Deaths Soar Past 500

By The Associated Press

Deaths on the nation's highways and streets over the long Labor Day weekend rose past the 500 mark today, but the National Safety Council said the number of fatalities would not approach record figures.

At the latest count, traffic fatalities across the United States numbered 523. Eighteen persons were killed in boating accidents and 57 others drowned.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, credited cautious driving on the part of homeward - bound motorists with keeping the death toll behind last year's record of 557 lives. Throughout most of the 78-hour weekend, the number of deaths had kept pace with the record setting 1963 figures.

Early Sunday evening the number of deaths reached 450 and safety council spokesmen expressed fear that a new record would be set as motorists clogged highways on the way home.

The safety council estimated before the holiday began that 490 to 550 persons would be killed during the weekend. An Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes over a 78-hour nonholiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21, to midnight Monday, Aug. 24, showed 456 persons dead in traffic accidents, 24 in boating accidents and 54 by drowning.

The safety council's Labor Day weekend traffic count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday (local times).

Chain Collisions Involve 10 Vehicles In Road Fog

At least one man was injured in a series of traffic crashes involving 10 vehicles on Route 39 in heavy fog between Wellsville and Highlandtown this morning.

The sound of griding metal, breaking glass and impacts between trucks could be heard by investigating officers within 50 feet of the accident sites, but the vehicles could not be seen due to the thick fog in places, one State Highway patrolman reported.

Senator Hits At Policies Of President

Will Spell Out His Tax Cut Proposal In Los Angeles Talk

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater launched his first presidential campaign tour today by charging that the Johnson administration "in effect promises to regiment our people at home and has demonstrated that it will wreck our alliances abroad."

A 25 per cent, five-year tax cut proposal in his pocket, the Republican presidential nominee set out from Phoenix on a campaign journey that will cover 11 cities in seven states.

San Diego is his first stop.

In a speech at Los Angeles tonight, Goldwater will spell out the details of his tax cut program—already sketched by a top aide.

The Arizona senator envisions a five per cent annual reduction in both individual and corporate income taxes, linked with a drive to reduce or at least hold the line on federal expenditures.

He believes it can be financed out of increased tax revenues produced by economic expansion—and that at the same time, a Republican administration could balance the budget and make payments against the national debt.

Goldwater's tour opening statement said Johnson "lists prosperity, justice and peace as the three parts of his pledge to

Talks Pushed For Chrysler, UAW Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators made a last-ditch attempt today to reach agreement on a new labor contract between Chrysler and the United Auto Workers Union, with a strike deadline only hours away.

As the clock ticked off the final 24 hours toward the 10 a.m. Wednesday deadline, bargaining teams were expected to meet in round-the-clock sessions.

Chrysler was selected as the UAW's No. 1 strike target this year over General Motors or Ford, the other members of the auto industry's Big Three.

Weary but hopeful, the negotiators decided to break off talks Sunday night and begin the marathon discussions this morning.

"We wanted to have a fresh outlook on this last day because there may be a long haul ahead," commented one of the Chrysler bargainers.

UAW President Walter Reuther observed: "I leave here tired but more hopeful than when I came in. We agreed that we could do more productive work with a fresh start tomorrow."

Three years ago, when GM was the strike target, announcement of an agreement came at 4 a.m., just six hours before the deadline.

Earlier, Reuther said at a Labor Day rally in Detroit's Cadillac Square, that "a mile

NEW HAMPSHIRE

Former Gov. Wesley Powell is trying for a comeback in the GOP gubernatorial primary against the man who ousted him two years ago, former State Rep. John Pillsbury. After the 1962 primary Powell endorsed John W. King who went on to become the state's first Democratic governor in 40 years. King is unopposed for Democratic nomination to a second term.

COLORADO

All four House members seeking nominations to new terms are unopposed. There is no balloting this year for governor or senator.

MINNESOTA

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy is favored over two lesser known foes in his try for Democratic nomination to a second term. Wheelock Whitney, 38, is unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination.

VERMONT

Sen. Winston L. Prouty has no Republican primary opposition as he shoots for a second term. The man he beat six years ago, State Sen. Frederick J. 22 Motorists Face Court In Cases Over Weekend

Driving permits of three motorists were suspended and bench warrants were issued for the arrests of two other drivers in Municipal Court hearings this morning for 22 motorists cited by city police and the State Highway Patrol for traffic violations over the long holiday weekend.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff suspended the learner's permit of Jeanne Lee Price, 18, of 622 Jackson St. for 60 days and also gave her a suspended $25 fine and costs after she pleaded guilty to leaving the scene of an accident.

She was cited early Sunday after a collision at the intersection of W. 7th St. and Dawson Ave.

The license of Clyde E. Hunt, 37, of 1069 Locust St. was suspended for 10 days and he was fined $25 and costs after pleading guilty to a reckless driving charge.

Hunt, who told Judge Chertoff he fell asleep, was cited by police after his auto struck three parked vehicles and a utility pole on E. 4th near Elm St. early Saturday.

A 10-day suspension and a fine of $15 and costs were handed Franklin Donald Griggs of Lisbon R. D. 3. Griggs, who also pleaded guilty, was arrested Aug. 23 by the patrol for speeding 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 30.

Bench warrants were ordered for George Leonard Kosko of West Point and Kenneth Looman of Mingo Junction, both cited on speeding charges and released to appear today.

Kosko was cited by city police in a radar check Friday morning on Dresden Ave. for doing 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

Looman was charged by the patrol with traveling 75 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7 Saturday.

Seven other motorists drew fines of $10 and costs each and four forfeited bonds in other speeding charges. All were cited on W. 8th St. at speeds ranging from 45 to 51 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone.

The penalties were handed to Frank G. Willis of Salineville

City Man Injured; 4 Hurt Near New Garden In Crash

A head - on crash which injured four near New Garden Sunday boosted Columbiana County's traffic accident total for the Labor Day weekend to seven — with no fatalities — the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A city man received a neck injury Sunday night near Wellsville in one of the four injury accidents reported since Friday night at 6, officers said.

Sgt. R. J. Rizzo said the total of accidents was less than an average weekend, and commended district motorists for the holiday traffic record.

Donald Richard Click, 26, of 857 W. 8th St. suffered a whiplash injury to the neck and bruises of the knee when his 1955 coach overturned along Keay Rd. about a half mile north of Wellsville at 6:45 p. m.

The patrol said Click came to a T-intersection and apparently pulled the car over the edge of an embankment and it rolled over on its top.

James V. Migliore, 25, of Canton was admitted to Aultman Hospital at Canton after a head-on crash near New Garden in which three others were hurt.

Officers said Migliore was headed east on Route 172 and attempted to pass another vehicle when his car collided head-on with a station wagon operated by Donald Renkert, 35, of North Canton about four miles west of Route 9.

Migliore suffered a possible back injury and his wife, Pauline, 25, received a fractured collarbone and shoulder injuries.

Renkert was treated for cuts of the lip and scalp and a passenger, Lawrence Hart Jr., 35, of North Canton was treated for abrasions of the knee.

Migliore was cited for passing without the assured clear distance.

Pay Phone And Candy Loot In Laundromats

A pay telephone and four candy bars were stolen in two separate thefts from do-it-yourself laundries, police were advised over the holiday.

Homer Hoffman told police the pay phone, including the board on which it was mounted to the wall, were stolen from his laundromat at 701 Dresden Ave. between midnight Sunday and 8:40 a. m. Monday.

Four candy bars were stolen after a thief broke a glass in a vending machine at the Econ-O-Wash Laundry, 1790 Pennsylvania Ave. Police were told the machine is owned by the Set Vending Co., 400 Poplar Ln.

Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, told the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in Cleveland on Aug. 25 that he thought a way should be found to give NATO its own stockpile of small, tactical nuclear weapons for use on the battlefield—arms which he said could be termed "conventional nuclear weapons."

At present, NATO's nuclear arms are under American control and could be used only by order of the President.

Johnson, who was seen by 100,000 people, according to police estimates, during his five-hour trip to Detroit, dwelt on the horrors of nuclear war.

The first nuclear exchange would kill 100 million Americans and more than 100 million Russians, he said.

"And when it was over our great cities would be in ashes and our fields would be barren and our industry would be destroyed and our American dreams would be vanished," Johnson said.

Raising his voice to a shout, Johnson said, "As long as I am president, I will bend every effort to make sure that that day never comes."

Noting that no nation has "loosed the atom against another" in the past 19 years, Johnson said: "To do so now is a political decision of the highest order and it would lead us down an uncertain path of blows and counter-blows whose outcome none may know. No president of the United states can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

Johnson's speech was built on the theme that all Americans are united in seeking common goals of prosperity, justice and peace.

September Weather Turns Into Heat Wave

September's first weekend was marked by gradually warmer weather but the forecast indicates it may turn into a heat wave with a torrid 90 or more expected today and still higher Wednesday.

And this is the month when summer departs and autumn arrives—on the calendar.

Saturday had a high of 76, Sunday 78 and Monday 86 and Charles Boughner, lockmaster at Montgomery Dam, where the weekend temperatures were recorded, said his weather advisory indicated highs of 94 both today and tomorrow. The Ohio weatherman said it will go to 90 or so in Northeast Ohio. Tonight's low range will be much warmer — 63-68 — compared to the downtown's 57 recorded at 6 a. m. today. There is no rain in sight. The season's change Sept. 22.

Chosen At Wellsville

Jaycee 'Queen'

This pretty Wellsville High School senior was crowned "Miss Jaycee of 1965" at a dance Monday night at the MacDonald School, climaxing the annual Wellsville Jaycee Day celebration.

Miss Candy Jackson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Louis Jackson, 1727 Chester Ave., was selected over 26 other contestants.

She was presented a crown, a floral bouquet, a set of luggage, a trophy and other gifts.

Miss Jackson will reign over all Junior Chamber of Commerce activities in Wellsville for the coming year, until her successor is selected at the next Labor Day observance.

First runnerup was Miss

Highway Deaths Soar Past 500

By The Associated Press

Deaths on the nation's highways and streets over the long Labor Day weekend rose past the 500 mark today, but the National Safety Council said the number of fatalities would not approach record figures.

At the latest count, traffic fatalities across the United States numbered 523. Eighteen persons were killed in boating accidents and 57 others drowned.

Howard Pyle, president of the safety council, credited cautious driving on the part of homeward - bound motorists with keeping the death toll behind last year's record of 557 lives. Throughout most of the 78-hour weekend, the number of deaths had kept pace with the record setting 1963 figures.

Early Sunday evening the number of deaths reached 450 and safety council spokesmen expressed fear that a new record would be set as motorists clogged highways on the way home.

The safety council estimated before the holiday began that 490 to 550 persons would be killed during the weekend. An Associated Press survey, made for comparative purposes over a 78-hour nonholiday weekend from 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21, to midnight Monday, Aug. 24, showed 456 persons dead in traffic accidents, 24 in boating accidents and 54 by drowning.

The safety council's Labor Day weekend traffic count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday (local times).

One Man Injured

Chain Collisions Involve 10 Vehicles In Road Fog

At least one man was injured in a series of traffic crashes involving 10 vehicles on Route 39 in heavy fog between Wellsville and Highlandtown this morning.

The sound of griding metal, breaking glass and impacts between trucks could be heard by investigating officers within 50 feet of the accident sites, but the vehicles could not be seen due to the thick fog in places, one State Highway patrolman reported.

Adam J. Frischkorn, 74, of Wellsville R. D. 1 suffered injuries to the left shoulder and

Senator Hits At Policies Of President

Will Spell Out His Tax Cut Proposal In Los Angeles Talk

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater launched his first presidential campaign tour today by charging that the Johnson administration "in effect promises to regiment our people at home and has demonstrated that it will wreck our alliances abroad."

A 25 per cent, five-year tax cut proposal in his pocket, the Republican presidential nominee set out from Phoenix on a campaign journey that will cover 11 cities in seven states.

San Diego is his first stop.

In a speech at Los Angeles tonight, Goldwater will spell out the details of his tax cut program—already sketched by a top aide.

The Arizona senator envisions a five per cent annual reduction in both individual and corporate income taxes, linked with a drive to reduce or at least hold the line on federal expenditures.

He believes it can be financed out of increased tax revenues produced by economic expansion—and that at the same time, a Republican administration could balance the budget and make payments against the national debt.

Goldwater's tour opening statement said Johnson "lists prosperity, justice and peace as the three parts of his pledge to

Talks Pushed For Chrysler, UAW Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators made a last-ditch attempt today to reach agreement on a new labor contract between Chrysler and the United Auto Workers Union, with a strike deadline only hours away.

As the clock ticked off the final 24 hours toward the 10 a.m. Wednesday deadline, bargaining teams were expected to meet in round-the-clock sessions.

Chrysler was selected as the UAW's No. 1 strike target this year over General Motors or Ford, the other members of the auto industry's Big Three.

Weary but hopeful, the negotiators decided to break off talks Sunday night and begin the marathon discussions this morning.

"We wanted to have a fresh outlook on this last day because there may be a long haul ahead," commented one of the Chrysler bargainers.

UAW President Walter Reuther observed: "I leave here tired but more hopeful than when I came in. We agreed that we could do more productive work with a fresh start tomorrow."

Three years ago, when GM was the strike target, announcement of an agreement came at 4 a.m., just six hours before the deadline.

Earlier, Reuther said at a Labor Day rally in Detroit's Cadillac Square, that "a mile

Holiday Traffic Kills 22 In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's highways contributed more than their share of traffic fatalities to the tragic national death toll for the long Labor Day weekend, but the statewide count fell one short of official predictions.

The Associated Press counted 22 dead in Ohio traffic accidents during the 78-hour holiday period from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday. The Ohio Highway Safety Department had estimated that 23 persons would die on the state's highways over the weekend.

But Ohioans had little to crow about. The traffic death toll mounted rapidly during the early hours of the weekend and by midway through the period had leaped past the total of 16 killed during the entire 1963 Labor Day holiday. A tapering off Sunday and Monday prevented this year's toll from reaching more tragic proportions.

As it was, Ohio's toll was fifth highest in the nation, behind Texas, California, Illinois and New York, as the national toll climbed past the 500 mark.

In addition to traffic deaths, one person died in a boating accident, five drowned and three were killed in miscellaneous accidents for a total holiday accidental death toll of 31.

The fatalities:

Friday Night

Henry Johnson, 77, Huron, thrown from his truck when it left the road and struck a tree in his front yard.

David Salmons, 19, Chesapeake, when the pickup truck he was in ran off Ohio 243 about 18 miles southeast of Ironton.

Joseph Simons, 32, Canton, in a two-car crash on Ohio 153 near Louisville (Stark County).

Eugene Baker, Canadian seaman, drowned when he apparently slipped from a ladder while going from the pier to his ship docked in Cleveland.

Robert Wooldord, 16, Cincinnati, in a one-car crash in the Cincinnati suburb of Indian Hill.

John A. Orris, 12, Warren, when the car he was in missed a stop sign and was struck by another vehicle outside Warren.

Larry Allen Jardine, 22, Rt.2 Zanesville, when his car went out of control and crashed on a county road near Zanesville.

Mrs. Velma Pertzog, 37, Jeanette, Pa., drowned in Lake Erie at Ashtabula after the motorboat she was in hit a breakwall.

Saturday

Paul H. Moore, 31, Bethel, and children Clayton, 5, and Patricia, 3, and Jackie Boster, Chesapeake, in a head-on two-car collision on U.S. 52 six miles east of Ironton.

Irvin C. Nowlin, 29, Middletown, when his motorcycle struck a trailer being pulled from a private drive in Lebanon.

Thomas Moore, 46, Rt. 1 Port Washington (Tuscarawas County), when the car he was in crashed into a bridge on Ohio 16 in northern Muskingum County.

Mary Gertrude Chamberlin, mid - 60s, McClure (Henry County), in a two-car collision on U.S. 6 in McClure.

Richard Lauser, 20, Delphos, when the car he was in hit a pole on Ohio 116 just south of Van Wert.

Barbara Jean Hood, 19, Akron, in a two-car crash in Akron.

Warren P. Abbott, 61, of Monmouth, Ill., when struck by a car in Cincinnati.

Bobby Franklin Williams, 24, near Mount Sterling (Madison County), struck by a train as he walked along tracks in Mount Sterling.

Sunday

Patrick Laurenoff, 25, Parkersburg, W. Va., in a two-car collision on Ohio 7 between Bellaire and Shadyside.

Gary Davis, 11, Cleveland, when he jumped from a shed roof near a Cleveland apartment building, caught his foot in a clothes line and landed on his head.

Charles Holcomb, 11, Rt. 1, Powell, and brother Sammy, 9, drowned in a pond north of the Columbus suburb of Worthington while on a company picnic.

William F. Van Pelt, 20, Delphos, of injuries suffered in the Saturday traffic accident just south of Van Wert which killed Richard Lauser.

Jerry Schock, 48, Dayton, drowned in an old quarry near Springfield.

Fred Eicke, 62, when struck by a car along a rural Perry County road.

Monday

Mrs. Austa Eberhart, 42, and Alice Eberhart, 82, both of Kenton, in a two-car collision at the intersection of two county roads in southeast Hardin County.

Mrs. Helen Roth, 77, Tuscarawas, burned when her clothing caught fire while she was preparing supper in her home.

Charles Thomas, 14, Rt. 1, Cecil (Paulding County) drowned in the Auglaize River east of Paulding while trying to assist another boy in trouble.

Stephen Shropshire, 52, Dayton, in a two-car headon collision a mile east of Fairborn (Greene County).

Rhodes May Pick Morr As Development Director

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Close cooperation among the state's agriculture, natural resources and development departments was ordered by Gov. James A. Rhodes early in his economy-boosting efforts.

Now the possibility exists that one man will have occupied—in less than two years—the director's chair of all three departments.

He is Fred E. Morr, 41, a ruggedly handsome combination of farmer-outdoorsman and attorney-executive. He came into the state spotlight Jan. 5, 1963, when Rhodes announced Morr would become state agriculture director.

At the time, Morr was living near Xenia in Greene County with his wife, son and two daughters, managing 1,500 acres of farm land and serving as county auditor.

In his four months as head of agriculture, the state's smallest department, he reorganized top level management, setting up a "farm cabinet" of his division chiefs, and slicing costs.

Rhodes was impressed. When the six-year term of Brig. Gen. Herbert B. Eagon as natural resources director expired in April 1963, the governor asked Morr to take over that much-larger department. The pay stayed the same — $14,000 a year.

Morr has held that job ever since, and there probably have been fewer storms raging around the sometimes controversial department than at practically any time since its founding in 1949.

But last week, after months of rumors, George E. Wilson of Akron resigned as director of Ohio's Department of Development. This is the reorganized agency that seeks to attract industry, tourists and income generally to Ohio and with which Rhodes had directed the agriculture and natural resources departments especially to cooperate.

Over the weekend, the Columbus Dispatch in a copyrighted story predicted Rhodes would name Morr to succeed Wilson, whose resignation is effective next Jan. 1. The Dispatch said the action might come by a week from today.

For Morr, in addition to new challenges, it would mean a $4,000 increase in annual pay. The Dispatch says Morr would accept, and that he favors Dale E. Whitesell, 39, his wildlife division chief for the past year, as his successor in natural resources. Whitesell, like Morr, is a World War II air corps veteran and was a game management supervisor in the Xenia area for a dozen years.

Wittenberg U. Invites 6 Major Candidates

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Wittenberg University, which attracted the late President John F. Kennedy to its campus during the 1960 campaign, has invited six major candidates to appear this year.

President John N. Stauffer said invitations have been sent to President Lyndon B. Johnson; his Republican opponent, Sen. Barry Goldwater; U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young and his Republican opponent, Robert Taft Jr.; Rep. Clarence J. Brown and his Democratic opponent in the Seventh Ohio District, Jerry Graham.

Finely grated carrot mixed with minced celery and onion, and moistened with mayonnaise, makes a surprisingly zesty sandwich filling.

Lisbon Widow Dies Suddenly

LISBON — Mrs. Anna E. Nold, 618 W. Lincoln Way, died suddenly Monday at 8:35 p. m. at Salem City Hospital, where she was taken after becoming ill while visiting her parents' graves at the Trinity Friends Church Cemetery. She was 75.

She was born Feb. 16, 1889, in Center Township, to James Atterholt and Edith Eyre Atterholt, and spent her entire life in this area. Her husband, S. D. Nold, died Jan. 12.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, past president of the Women's Association and the Hospital Auxiliary.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Randal Carlson of Youngstown and Mrs. Ruth Kelm of Lisbon; two sons, S. Edward Nold and Warren J. Nold, both of Lisbon, and 13 grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

William Mooney

Services for William Alfred Mooney of Wellsville, who died Sunday at City Hospital following an apparent heart attack, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Haugh Funeral Home by the Rev. William L. Mautz of the Hammondsville Methodist Church. Mr. Mooney, 89, had been a patient at the Greystone Nursing Home.

A lifelong resident of Wellsville, he was born July 2, 1875, in Meigs County to George Mooney and Eveline Miller Mooney.

A former employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. Mooney had also worked as a meter reader with the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Barton of Reedsville and Mrs. Jennie Pander of East Liverpool; three sons, Hugh Mooney in Mississippi, Fred Mooney of Fall River, Mass., and Earl Mooney of Dayton; four sisters, Mrs. Goldie Perry of Belpre, Mrs. Ivy Parsons of Akron, Mrs. Eva Killbert of Cleveland and Mrs. Rosetta Tounder of Youngstown, and 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Wellsville today from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

Mrs. Myrtle Moncrief

Mrs. Myrtle Moncrief, 80, of Cleveland, widow of Fred Moncrief and a former East Liverpool resident, died Sunday at 2:55 p. m. at a hospital in Berea, from complications after she broke a hip in a fall.

Mrs. Moncrief was born in Fredericktown in April, 1884, daughter of Emma T. Thomas and Martin E. Thomas. Her husband died in February 1963.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Morrison of Cleveland; a brother, Sherman A. Thomas of East Liverpool; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Mielke of Dalton, Ill., and Mrs. Helen Currier of Santa Monica, Calif., and two grandsons and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Leimkuehler Funeral Home on Franklin Ave., Cleveland with burial there.

Mrs. Ida Highfield

Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery, Chester, for Mrs. Ida Mary Highfield, following Mass Wednesday at 9 a. m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Chester.

Fr. Eugene Jacobs will officiate.

Mrs. Highfield, of the Allison School Rd., Chester, died Saturday.

Friends may call today at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel.

Howard Scott

Funeral services were held in Sistersville Sunday afternoon for Howard L. Scott, 77, retired potter, veteran of World War I, and a native of East Liverpool. Burial was there.

A resident of Shiloh, W. Va., in Tyler County, he died Thursday night in Sistersville General Hospital.

He was born here April 25, 1887, to John Scott and Lou Enna Campbell Scott, and was a member of the Methodist Church, American Legion Post 67 and VFW Post 6327 of Sistersville and was an honorary member of the IBOP.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Scott, a son, four grandchildren and several nephews and nieces.

Albert A. Collins

Albert A. Collins of Cleveland, a former Salineville area resident, died Sunday night about 7 at his home, following a heart attack.

A son of the late William Collins and Mary Collins, he had gone to Cleveland about 30 years ago.

He was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church at Cleveland.

Survivors include his widow Mrs. Blanch Collins at home; a daughter, Mrs. June Hlivak, a sister, Miss Hilda Collins, and a brother, Omer Collins, all of Cleveland.

Services will be held Wednesday morning at 9:30 at the church. Burial will be in Cleveland.

Friends may call at the Flynn & Froeik Funeral Home, 13104 Euclid Ave., Cleveland.

Infant Campbell

Graveside services will be held at 3 this afternoon at the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church Cemetery for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Campbell of Lisbon, R.D. 3, who was stillborn Monday at 5:40 p. m. at City Hospital.

Besides the parents, survivors include two sisters, Ruth Campbell and Ruby Campbell, both at home, and the paternal grandfather, Hugh Campbell of Grimms Bridge.

The Martin Funeral Home arranged services.

Infant Adkins

Services for Donna Jo Adkins, infant daughter of Pearley Adkins and Patricia Stine Adkins, 434 Washington St., Newell, were held at 10 this morning at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel.

The Rev. Ralph Hedricks, pastor of the Newell Methodist Church, officiated and burial was in Shadow Lawn Memory Gardens.

The infant was stillborn Monday at 7:25 a. m. at City Hospital.

Besides the parents, survivors include a sister, Pamela Adkins at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stine, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lesta Adkins, all of Newell.

Frank Flowers

NEW CUMBERLAND — Services were held Sunday afternoon at New Matamoras for Frank Flowers, 76, father of Homer Flowers of New Cumberland, who died Friday at his home at Beavertown, near New Matamoras. Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, Beavertown.

He was a lifelong resident of the Beavertown vicinity, where he was born March 22, 1888, and was a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maggie Meyers Flowers, another son, four daughters, including Mrs. Lucille Dillon of Weirton, and 22 grandchildren and three - great - grandchildren.

2 Fires At Lisbon

LISBON — Firemen were called on two fires Monday with only minor damage in each. They were called by a grass fire at 2:30 p.m., to the Pettigrew farm on the old Steubenville Rd. to the south and at 10:23 p.m. to a trash fire in an alley at the rear of the Isaly Store on S. Market St.

A DETROITER (at top) in Mexican garb, is shown as he waited for President Johnson to pass so he could shake his hand Monday. He was unaware, however, that he was being searched by an unidentified Secret Service man (shown checking the man's 'serape', a Mexican blanket). At bottom, nothing irregular was found on the man's person and he is shown shaking hands with the President who was in Detroit for a Labor Day speech in Kennedy Square. (UPI Telephoto)

the American people. But not freedom."

The President, in a Labor Day speech at Detroit, talked of "three of the goals which are the basis of unity—the goals of prosperity, justice and peace."

"He should know," Goldwater said, "and the American people should remember, that there have been prosperous slaves, that justice can be found in a prison and that tyranny can bring peace to anyone who will surrender."

"Without freedom," he added, "unity is nothing more than conformity."

Goldwater said Johnson's speech "emphasizes the choice that Americans face in this election—the choice between conformity or freedom at home and the choice between weakness or strength abroad.

"This administration in effect promises to regiment our people at home and has demonstrated that it will wreck our alliances abroad," the Arizona senator said.

Cart Lifters Barely Escape City Ordinance

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — People who walk off with shopping carts at food centers narrowly escaped a proposed city ordinance to control these cart discarders.

The City Council instructed Corporation Counsel Murray Conzelman to draft an ordinance aimed at fines for both grocery store owners and customers. It would require a $10 recovery fee.

Aldermen agreed that something should be done to discontinue the practice of leaving carts in the middle of streets and on private property.

Aldermen voted down the ordinance by a 9 to 7 margin.

Boy, 4, Not Likely To Disobey In Future

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —Four - year - old Kenny Himes isn't likely to disobey his parents for awhile.

Kenny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Himes, had been told he could not cross a bridge near his home. One recent day, when no one was looking, Kenny sneaked across the bridge.

That evening when his father came home, he spanked Kenny. He didn't bother to tell his son how he knew he had crossed the bridge.

Himes, a hospital corpsman at the U.S. Coast Guard Air Station, happened to be flying over the area in a helicopter, looked down and saw his son crossing into forbidden territory.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Deaths and Funerals

Lisbon Widow Dies Suddenly

LISBON — Mrs. Anna E. Nold, 618 W. Lincoln Way, died suddenly Monday at 8:35 p. m. at Salem City Hospital, where she was taken after becoming ill while visiting her parents' graves at the Trinity Friends Church Cemetery. She was 75.

She was born Feb. 16, 1889, in Center Township, to James Atterholt and Edith Eyre Atterholt, and spent her entire life in this area. Her husband, S. D. Nold, died Jan. 12.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, past president of the Women's Association and the Hospital Auxiliary.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Randal Carlson of Youngstown and Mrs. Ruth Kelm of Lisbon; two sons, S. Edward Nold and Warren J. Nold, both of Lisbon, and 13 grandchildren.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

William Mooney

Services for William Alfred Mooney of Wellsville, who died Sunday at City Hospital following an apparent heart attack, will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Haugh Funeral Home by the Rev. William L. Mautz of the Hammondsville Methodist Church. Mr. Mooney, 89, had been a patient at the Greystone Nursing Home.

A lifelong resident of Wellsville, he was born July 2, 1875, in Meigs County to George Mooney and Eveline Miller Mooney.

A former employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Mr. Mooney had also worked as a meter reader with the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Barton of Reedsville and Mrs. Jennie Pander of East Liverpool; three sons, Hugh Mooney in Mississippi, Fred Mooney of Fall River, Mass., and Earl Mooney of Dayton; four sisters, Mrs. Goldie Perry of Belpre, Mrs. Ivy Parsons of Akron, Mrs. Eva Killbert of Cleveland and Mrs. Rosetta Tounder of Youngstown, and 13 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Springhill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home in Wellsville today from 2-4 and 7-9 p.m.

Mrs. Myrtle Moncrief

Mrs. Myrtle Moncrief, 80, of Cleveland, widow of Fred Moncrief and a former East Liverpool resident, died Sunday at 2:55 p. m. at a hospital in Berea, from complications after she broke a hip in a fall.

Mrs. Moncrief was born in Fredericktown in April, 1884, daughter of Emma T. Thomas and Martin E. Thomas. Her husband died in February 1963.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Morrison of Cleveland; a brother, Sherman A. Thomas of East Liverpool; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Mielke of Dalton, Ill., and Mrs. Helen Currier of Santa Monica, Calif., and two grandsons and four great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Leimkuehler Funeral Home on Franklin Ave., Cleveland with burial there.

Mrs. Ida Highfield

Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery, Chester, for Mrs. Ida Mary Highfield, following Mass Wednesday at 9 a. m. at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Chester.

Fr. Eugene Jacobs will officiate.

Mrs. Highfield, of the Allison School Rd., Chester, died Saturday.

Friends may call today at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel.

Howard Scott

Funeral services were held in Sistersville Sunday afternoon for Howard L. Scott, 77, retired potter, veteran of World War I, and a native of East Liverpool. Burial was there.

A resident of Shiloh, W. Va., in Tyler County, he died Thursday night in Sistersville General Hospital.

He was born here April 25, 1887, to John Scott and Lou Enna Campbell Scott, and was a member of the Methodist Church, American Legion Post 67 and VFW Post 6327 of Sistersville and was an honorary member of the IBOP.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Scott, a son, four grandchildren and several nephews and nieces.

Albert A. Collins

Albert A. Collins of Cleveland, a former Salineville area resident, died Sunday night about 7 at his home, following a heart attack.

A son of the late William Collins and Mary Collins, he had gone to Cleveland about 30 years ago.

He was a member of St. Aloysius Catholic Church at Cleveland.

Survivors include his widow Mrs. Blanch Collins at home; a daughter, Mrs. June Hlivak, a sister, Miss Hilda Collins, and a brother, Omer Collins, all of Cleveland.

Services will be held Wednesday morning at 9:30 at the church. Burial will be in Cleveland.

Friends may call at the Flynn & Froeik Funeral Home, 13104 Euclid Ave., Cleveland.

Infant Campbell

Graveside services will be held at 3 this afternoon at the Calcutta United Presbyterian Church Cemetery for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Campbell of Lisbon, R.D. 3, who was stillborn Monday at 5:40 p. m. at City Hospital.

Besides the parents, survivors include two sisters, Ruth Campbell and Ruby Campbell, both at home, and the paternal grandfather, Hugh Campbell of Grimms Bridge.

The Martin Funeral Home arranged services.

Infant Adkins

Services for Donna Jo Adkins, infant daughter of Pearley Adkins and Patricia Stine Adkins, 434 Washington St., Newell, were held at 10 this morning at the Chester Arner Funeral Chapel.

The Rev. Ralph Hedricks, pastor of the Newell Methodist Church, officiated and burial was in Shadow Lawn Memory Gardens.

The infant was stillborn Monday at 7:25 a. m. at City Hospital.

Besides the parents, survivors include a sister, Pamela Adkins at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stine, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Lesta Adkins, all of Newell.

Call In The Psychologists

The most dreaded turn of events in highway hazards is happening. The National Safety Council claims that traffic fatalities now are rising both absolutely and relatively.

The absolute rise is to be expected. More autos are being driven by more people. A relative rise is something else.

It means auto transportation is growing relatively more dangerous per 100 million miles. It means that if the number of cars, drivers and passengers remained constant, the fatality total would continue to go up, regardless.

Up until now, this has not been true. In terms of miles driven, auto transportation had been growing safer as highways and vehicles improved. Danger was not increasing as fast as the ever-growing total of cars, drivers and passengers. This was vastly reassuring to the safety experts. It showed they were making progress in their efforts to widen the margin of highway safety.

THE CONTRARY evidence—5.4 deaths currently per 100 million miles, against a previous figure of 5.1—has upset their high hopes for relative safety.

Traffic fatalities for the first seven months this year jumped 11 per cent over last year's first seven months, with the most frightening rise occurring in the up-to-24 age group.

The standard explanation for the high death rate among young drivers is lack of judgment. Youthful motorists have high mechanical aptitude for auto driving; their reflexes are quick. But, lacking experience, they are short on judgment.

The standard explanation leaves much unexplained.

It is not just the dangerous things young drivers do because they know no better that is killing and maiming them and endangering other drivers. It is also the things they do they know to be dangerous.

Some of these, such as drag-racing on public highways, must be described as a direct manifestation of the death wish, either for themselves or the helpless people who might get in the way.

High-speed driving in general certainly cannot be explained away by lack of judgment. Young drivers are better acquainted with their cars and what they can do than mature drivers who did not grow up in the proximity of souped-up engines.

WHEN THESE drivers rev up their cars to superspeeds, they are putting their lives on the line in exchange for a thrill they know may end in tragedy and possibe oblivion.

There isn't one of them who hasn't had dinned into him the danger of excessive speed on public roads—not one who doesn't know that even professional auto race drivers spin and catapult to their death at similar speeds while driving racing cars.

Perhaps it's time to quit concentrating on highway engineering and cars and start peering into the dark areas of psychology in which some of our young souls are wandering, willing to trade their lives for something the 20th century isn't giving them.

Call in the psychologists and give the safety experts and traffic policemen a rest.

No Ranks To Close

From time to time government officials in Washington have been reported pessimistic and discouraged about South Viet Nam.

They aren't half as pessimistic and discouraged as their fellow Americans out in the boondocks of this Republic. They have a distinct advantage over the rest of us.

They know what they are supposed to be doing and how they propose to do it, but all the rest of us know is that they aren't making headway.

It's like standing at the side of the road watching a driver tinker with a balky bus. The kibitizers don't know what's going on, but they do know the bus isn't showing signs of improvement.

ONE THING is plain about South Viet Nam. Our people there keep waiting for the natives to close ranks and stand shoulder-to-shoulder against the common enemy—the Communists from North Viet Nam. They keep waiting for the natives to be good sports about the whole thing and achieve unity.

That would be the good old American way.

But the good old American way doesn't mean a thing in South Viet Nam, Laos, the Congo, or any of the other way stations on the long journey to international peace and understanding. The United States might as well wish for the Greeks and Turks to close ranks in Cyprus.

Achieving unity is as far beyond the ken of these people as achieving two cars in every garage, shipshape sanitary conditions and a shower bath every morning. They don't even know enough about these things to dream about them.

What they dream about is exterminating the enemy. In Indo-China, the enemy was the French, who were driven out by military forces that later turned out to have been inspired and provisioned by Communists — whether Chinese or Russian doesn't matter much.

Ergo, the Communists were associated with liberation from "foreign devils." But now the "foreign devil" is the United States, which is liberating South Viet Nam from North Viet Nam; i.e., the Communists.

NO WONDER the government is blue about South Viet Nam.

A long time ago when President Eisenhower, who recently had been a general, was asked about going into South Viet Nam he said in somewhat different words it would be like jumping into quicksand.

So the United States went in under President Kennedy, and it looks now as if Dwight Eisenhower knew what he was talking about.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

You probably are as confused as anybody by all the reports on the wealth of Johnson and Goldwater. The only thing that appears certain is that each of them, with their wives, has umpteen millions of bucks.

Just as a side thought, the issue of religion seems to have died a lot later, with the election of Kennedy, than the issue of wealth. As you have pointed out, several earlier presidents were rich.

Some of our founding fathers and presidents were men of considerable substance.

One strange aspect in recent administrations is that some of the most solvent presidents were least diffident about boosting the national debt. Let me know if you have figured this out.

But to get back to Johnson and Goldwater, or Goldwater and Johnson if you prefer, they each took vacations after the strenuous conventions at which they were nominated.

GOLDWATER kept issuing statements from a yacht off Catalina Island, Calif., and Johnson repaired to his Texas-size ranch in the state of the same name.

You, too, must have rested up after the conventions on that pea patch of yours.

But the way things are going, in 1968 we will have to have at least one candidate who embodies both of the best possible worlds. He will be a composite of our 1964 candidates and will have both a ranch and a yacht, or have them readily available for rest periods.

For instance, Mr. 1968 Candidate could have a mammoth ranch on which is a giant lake with a giant yacht, or he could have a mammoth yacht on which is a ranch.

In these days of status symbols it would not be surprising at all to see someone turn up with a war surplus baby flattop on which there was both a corral and a bridal path.

Nothing like a canter around the deck in the brisk salt air to relax one'x nerves and gird one for the political wars.

And what with all the assorted daughters, sons and in-laws it should be easy to assemble a volunteer crew.

Of course the next step up from a baby flattop would be a surplus standard-sized aircraft carrier. It would even provide space for members of the national committees and other party faithfuls to gallop up and down the deck.

DON'T SAY it will never happen, because, as you know, with all the wonderful things going on these days we can't believe our eyes or ears. Anything is possible.

By the way, how are horses with regard to mal de mer? Maybe a resistant breed of animal will have to be developed. Or they could be conditioned when colts by serving as live specimens going up and down on merry-go-rounds. That in itself could open a whole new industry.

But if anyone owned and sailed a full-sized aircraft carrier, he really should have his own ocean on which to do it. This should not be insurmountable to a determined and enterprising man. All such ownership would require would be to obtain international agreements, and these are always available for a price.

The Atlantci and Pacific, or the Pacific and Atlantic, if you prefer, are closest to home and thus most desirable. Take your choice.

So here we have two of the requisites for the presidential candidate of the future—ownership of an aircraft carrier and an ocean to sail it on.

It sure has been a long summer—not so hot, but long.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

Of the 3,000 known languages in the world, it is claimed that Eeperanto is one of the simplest. Its vocabulary, with 3,500 root words and only six rules of grammar, can be learned within a month. Each of its 28 letters has only one sound, and each word is pronounced exactly as it is spelled. Proponents of this language, invented in 1887 by Dr. Ludovikio Zemenhof for international auxiliary use, claim that 70 to 75 per cent of all words are recognizable to English-speaking people.

Gold is far from being the most valuable in minerals, as some people suppose. Among minerals bearing a greater value than gold are beryllium, platinum, radium, palladium, osmium, iridium and vanadium.

Dark Clouds Over GOP In New York

By Raymond Moley

Gov. Rockefeller has claimed with no inconsiderable pride that the Republican party in his state is as well fixed as it is in Kansas. The Republican party in New York has the governorship, it controls both houses of the legislature, and has two United States senators and most of the congressional seats.

This, however, is a very deceptive picture of Republican strength in the Empire State in 1964. For its prospects in this campaign are overcast with large dark areas, and only here and there brightened by a touch of sunshine.

The most serious factor in the situation is the confused state of mind of thousands of normally Republican voters. If their ideological convictions are conservative, they face a number of vital questions.

AND UNLESS they can find answers to their questions, many will, as one man said recently in a private conversation, be on the golf course on election day. Others will seek Republican unity in response to the pleas of former Vice President Nixon, former Gov. Dewey, and Gov. Rockefeller. Still others will split their tickets and vote for Johnson-Humphrey at the national level and Sen. Keating at the state level.

Still others are solidly for Goldwater-Miller and will because of the appeal for party unity vote the straight Republican ticket.

The ensuing Republican confusion would be great enough in any event, but the young people who organized the Conservative party have added a further element of disunity. Two years ago when this new party was organized and secured a place on the ballot, it seemed to me a highly inadvisable political adventure. Its purpose apparently was to muster opposition to Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Javits, who were running that year, to cut into their voting strength and thus to demonstrate popular opposition to the liberal policies of these two gentlemen.

THE CONSERVATIVES, however, claimed that they were creating a counterforce to the New York Liberal party which, because of the threat it presents, moves the Democratic party further toward ultra-liberalism.

But the Liberal party is in everything but name a Democratic satellite. It endorses Democratic candidates and it helps to elect Democrats. The Conservative party, on the other hand, has achieved no such working arrangement with the Republican party. It still remains a force of indeterminate size which draws votes from Republican candidates and thus contributes to the election of Democrats.

It seems to me that after the nomination of Sen. Goldwater for president, the New York Conservative party lost its major reason for its existence. But it persists in maintaining its identity and has nominated candidates for a number of offices, including the U. S. senatorship. Also, the presence of its candidates on the ticket will no doubt itensify the efforts of Sen. Keating and others to draw ideological lines of dissent from those of Goldwater-Miller.

Thus, the persistence of the Conservative party would tend to diminsh any hope that Goldwater-Miller can carry New York State in November.

IT'S TRUE that the Republican party, by denying the Conservative party the right to list the duly selected Republican electors on its ticket, acted unwisely. For Rockefeller, the titular head of his party in New York, has declared his support for Goldwater - Miller. It would redound to Rockefeller's credit if Goldwater-Miller could carry the state or at least make a creditable showing in the election.

If Keating and other Republican candidates persist in their detachment from the national ticket, the result will be a state Republican party quite separate from the national body. This detachment virtually concedes New York's electoral votes to the Democratic national ticket.

Perhaps these two Republican parties will continue after the election, perhaps not. But this is the situation which confronts New York Republicans this year. And it is most unfortunate for the two-party system that calmer judgments have not prevailed on all sides—a more reasonable attitude by the Conservative party, by the New York Republican party, and by Sen. Keating himself.

Goldwater has never "written off" New York as fighting ground. But for reasons beyond his control he now must win enough of the 49 remaining states to get a majority in this year's election.

The high school is really outdated, but is perfect compared to Central.

It would cost as much money to remodel these buildings as it would to build a new school. I am a property owner and I don't enjoy paying taxes any better than the next person, but when it comes to my children and grandchildren I want the best for them—not a limited activity as I had.

The Kennedy Influence

By David Lawrence

If Elected, Bobby Could Play Key Role

Things hardly will be the same at the Department of Justice without Bobby Kennedy as attorney general. Some people will welcome such an observation, while others will say it with an expression of regret.

David Lawrence

The outgoing attorney general is personally likeable, alert-minded, and as able a politician as has ever presided over the Department of Justice. If his brother had not been elected president of the United States, the youth of 35 would not have been appointed to this office. He had never tried a case in court and there were plenty of other lawyers of far more experience who readily might have been chosen.

Did Mr. Kennedy, however, do a good job as attorney general? The answer depends upon whether the appraisal is made on a political or non-political basis. For, as campaign manager for his brother in 1960, Bobby Kennedy learned all about the political rewards expected by people in various sections of the country. He knew how important it was to keep a strong hold on the local politicians by listening to them and giving them, so far as possible, what they wanted. Mr. Kennedy helped to dispense patronage not only in his own department but in other departments of the government.

All this isn't anything new. The tragic fact is that Republican presidents, too, have appointed a national political figure to the office of attorney general.

THE AMERICAN people have never made an effective protest against this unfortunate custom in politics. Yet the attorney general is the man who recommends for appointment the judges of all the federal courts, including the Supreme Court of the United States.

Sometimes, despite their political backgrounds, these judges conscientiously perform their tasks. Often the lawyers in a community recognize the political environment which surrounds the bench and wish that the system were different. Frequently it looks as if the Department of Justice runs to the judges it has put on the bench to get an injunction or a favorable ruling in controversies, especially those with political overtones. The Department of Justice should never be a tool of politics.

IT'S POSSIBLE that some of the criticism heard of Attorney General Kennedy as a practitioner of politics is unjustified but it has arisen largely because of the kinship between the head of the Department of Justice and the man in the White House.

During the unfortunate crisis in April 1962 in the steel industry, the investigative and police powers of the federal government were widely criticized as having been improperly brought into a political controversy.

There has been a feeling, too, among the career officers of the Department of Justice that, unless they played ball with the political chief at their head, they were liable to be sidetracked. In other administrations, there has always been a feeling that such officials could have recourse to the president and get a hearing, but because of the close relationship between the Kennedy brothers, this was usually discounted as likely to be of no avail.

Bobby Kennedy belongs in politics and knows his way around. He inherits the wit and resourcefulness of his grandfather, who was for many years the mayor of Boston.

THE FORMER attorney general has an astuteness and cleverness, as well as a capacity for making political decisions that have won the admiration of many of the politically-minded throughout the land. Some have gone so far as to say that in many respects he excelled his brother and actually had more experience with the political world than the man who served as president.

Although it's perhaps a political disadvantage for anyone to run for the United States Senate in a state in which he has not resided a long time, Bobby Kennedy expects to overcome it on the stump in his effort to become senator from New York State.

He has a good chance to win because the Republicans are by no means united. Many Republicans will refrain from voting at all in the Senate contest because Sen. Kenneth Keating, the Republican nominee, has caused considerable disappointment by his reluctance to endorse Sen. Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

If Mr. Kennedy is victorious, he may help to build a political apparatus in Congress that could give plenty of worry to the Johnson administration and have a bearing on the selection of candidates for the presidency and vice presidency in 1968.

If Mr. Johnson isn't elected this November, certainly Bobby Kennedy, as a United States senator, would be able to exert even more influence inside the Democratic party in connection with the choice of presidential and vice presidential candidates four years hence.

The Campaign Is On

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The presidential campaign is on its way—but you'll need a scorecard to keep up with the two candidates: President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Before a Labor Day rally in Detroit Monday Johnson called for unity, which is what the Democratic platform called for two weeks ago. But Johnson made headlines with a not-new attack on Goldwater.

He shouted "no president of the United States can give up responsibility for deciding when or if to use nuclear weapons." The Democratic platform already had said the President alone must control the use of nuclear weapons.

Last Aug. 25 in Cleveland, Goldwater made a suggestion to the Veterans of Foreign Wars which wasn't new with him, either, that the NATO allies should be given their own stock of "small, tactical, nuclear weapons, what truly may be called conventional weapons" and the NATO commander should have more control over them." Goldwater had said that before.

But Johnson answered Monday to an estimated 100,000 people in Cadillac Square: "Make no mistake, there is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon." His administration had answered Goldwater on that before.

Two days after Goldwater's August talk to the veterans, Cyrus R. Vance, deputy secretary of defense, told the same group that to call tactical nuclear weapons small and conventional is "dangerously misleading."

He said the typical tactical nuclear weapons has several times the yield of the single bomb which destroyed Hiroshima and that "the largest blockbusters of World War II are like hand grenades" compared to the support weapons in the hands of a single infantry division today.

Following the two sides on the subject of the draft is dizzy business.

When Adlai E. Stevenson was the Democratic presidential candidate in 1956 he suggested the draft "be ended at the earliest possible moment."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower fired back: "I see no chance of ending the draft and carrying out the responsibilities for the security of this country that must be carried out."

In 1956 Goldwater challenged Stevenson to be specific on how he planned to cut taxes, reduce the national debt, and end the draft. He said Stevenson had called for an adequate defense but would end the draft.

But as early as last February Goldwater said he thought the draft could be ended. And in a speech opening his campaign Sept. 3 the senator — who wants to cut taxes, balance the budget, reduce spending and have adequate defense — promised if elected to end the draft "as soon as possible."

The Johnson administration got busy on the draft problem a couple of months after Goldwater first suggested earlier this year it could be ended.

Johnson ordered a study of the draft system and said the study would consider the possibility of ending selective service within 10 years.

Call In The Psychologists

The most dreaded turn of events in highway hazards is happening. The National Safety Council claims that traffic fatalities now are rising both absolutely and relatively.

The absolute rise is to be expected. More autos are being driven by more people. A relative rise is something else.

It means auto transportation is growing relatively more dangerous per 100 million miles. It means that if the number of cars, drivers and passengers remained constant, the fatality total would continue to go up, regardless.

Up until now, this has not been true. In terms of miles driven, auto transportation had been growing safer as highways and vehicles improved. Danger was not increasing as fast as the ever-growing total of cars, drivers and passengers. This was vastly reassuring to the safety experts. It showed they were making progress in their efforts to widen the margin of highway safety.

THE CONTRARY evidence—5.4 deaths currently per 100 million miles, against a previous figure of 5.1—has upset their high hopes for relative safety.

Traffic fatalities for the first seven months this year jumped 11 per cent over last year's first seven months, with the most frightening rise occurring in the up-to-24 age group.

The standard explanation for the high death rate among young drivers is lack of judgment. Youthful motorists have high mechanical aptitude for auto driving; their reflexes are quick. But, lacking experience, they are short on judgment.

The standard explanation leaves much unexplained.

It is not just the dangerous things young drivers do because they know no better that is killing and maiming them and endangering other drivers. It is also the things they do they know to be dangerous.

Some of these, such as drag-racing on public highways, must be described as a direct manifestation of the death wish, either for themselves or the helpless people who might get in the way.

High-speed driving in general certainly cannot be explained away by lack of judgment. Young drivers are better acquainted with their cars and what they can do than mature drivers who did not grow up in the proximity of souped-up engines.

WHEN THESE drivers rev up their cars to superspeeds, they are putting their lives on the line in exchange for a thrill they know may end in tragedy and possibe oblivion.

There isn't one of them who hasn't had dinned into him the danger of excessive speed on public roads—not one who doesn't know that even professional auto race drivers spin and catapult to their death at similar speeds while driving racing cars.

Perhaps it's time to quit concentrating on highway engineering and cars and start peering into the dark areas of psychology in which some of our young souls are wandering, willing to trade their lives for something the 20th century isn't giving them.

Call in the psychologists and give the safety experts and traffic policemen a rest.

No Ranks To Close

From time to time government officials in Washington have been reported pessimistic and discouraged about South Viet Nam.

They aren't half as pessimistic and discouraged as their fellow Americans out in the boondocks of this Republic. They have a distinct advantage over the rest of us.

They know what they are supposed to be doing and how they propose to do it, but all the rest of us know is that they aren't making headway.

It's like standing at the side of the road watching a driver tinker with a balky bus. The kibitizers don't know what's going on, but they do know the bus isn't showing signs of improvement.

ONE THING is plain about South Viet Nam. Our people there keep waiting for the natives to close ranks and stand shoulder-to-shoulder against the common enemy—the Communists from North Viet Nam. They keep waiting for the natives to be good sports about the whole thing and achieve unity.

That would be the good old American way.

But the good old American way doesn't mean a thing in South Viet Nam, Laos, the Congo, or any of the other way stations on the long journey to international peace and understanding. The United States might as well wish for the Greeks and Turks to close ranks in Cyprus.

Achieving unity is as far beyond the ken of these people as achieving two cars in every garage, shipshape sanitary conditions and a shower bath every morning. They don't even know enough about these things to dream about them.

What they dream about is exterminating the enemy. In Indo-China, the enemy was the French, who were driven out by military forces that later turned out to have been inspired and provisioned by Communists — whether Chinese or Russian doesn't matter much.

Ergo, the Communists were associated with liberation from "foreign devils." But now the "foreign devil" is the United States, which is liberating South Viet Nam from North Viet Nam; i.e., the Communists.

NO WONDER the government is blue about South Viet Nam.

A long time ago when President Eisenhower, who recently had been a general, was asked about going into South Viet Nam he said in somewhat different words it would be like jumping into quicksand.

So the United States went in under President Kennedy, and it looks now as if Dwight Eisenhower knew what he was talking about.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

You probably are as confused as anybody by all the reports on the wealth of Johnson and Goldwater. The only thing that appears certain is that each of them, with their wives, has umpteen millions of bucks.

Just as a side thought, the issue of religion seems to have died a lot later, with the election of Kennedy, than the issue of wealth. As you have pointed out, several earlier presidents were rich.

Some of our founding fathers and presidents were men of considerable substance.

One strange aspect in recent administrations is that some of the most solvent presidents were least diffident about boosting the national debt. Let me know if you have figured this out.

But to get back to Johnson and Goldwater, or Goldwater and Johnson if you prefer, they each took vacations after the strenuous conventions at which they were nominated.

GOLDWATER kept issuing statements from a yacht off Catalina Island, Calif., and Johnson repaired to his Texas-size ranch in the state of the same name.

You, too, must have rested up after the conventions on that pea patch of yours.

But the way things are going, in 1968 we will have to have at least one candidate who embodies both of the best possible worlds. He will be a composite of our 1964 candidates and will have both a ranch and a yacht, or have them readily available for rest periods.

For instance, Mr. 1968 Candidate could have a mammoth ranch on which is a giant lake with a giant yacht, or he could have a mammoth yacht on which is a ranch.

In these days of status symbols it would not be surprising at all to see someone turn up with a war surplus baby flattop on which there was both a corral and a bridal path.

Nothing like a canter around the deck in the brisk salt air to relax one'x nerves and gird one for the political wars.

And what with all the assorted daughters, sons and in-laws it should be easy to assemble a volunteer crew.

Of course the next step up from a baby flattop would be a surplus standard-sized aircraft carrier. It would even provide space for members of the national committees and other party faithfuls to gallop up and down the deck.

DON'T SAY it will never happen, because, as you know, with all the wonderful things going on these days we can't believe our eyes or ears. Anything is possible.

By the way, how are horses with regard to mal de mer? Maybe a resistant breed of animal will have to be developed. Or they could be conditioned when colts by serving as live specimens going up and down on merry-go-rounds. That in itself could open a whole new industry.

But if anyone owned and sailed a full-sized aircraft carrier, he really should have his own ocean on which to do it. This should not be insurmountable to a determined and enterprising man. All such ownership would require would be to obtain international agreements, and these are always available for a price.

The Atlantci and Pacific, or the Pacific and Atlantic, if you prefer, are closest to home and thus most desirable. Take your choice.

So here we have two of the requisites for the presidential candidate of the future—ownership of an aircraft carrier and an ocean to sail it on.

It sure has been a long summer—not so hot, but long.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

Of the 3,000 known languages in the world, it is claimed that Eeperanto is one of the simplest. Its vocabulary, with 3,500 root words and only six rules of grammar, can be learned within a month. Each of its 28 letters has only one sound, and each word is pronounced exactly as it is spelled. Proponents of this language, invented in 1887 by Dr. Ludovikio Zemenhof for international auxiliary use, claim that 70 to 75 per cent of all words are recognizable to English-speaking people.

Dark Clouds Over GOP In New York

When Adlai E. Stevenson was the Democratic presidential candidate in 1956 he suggested the draft "be ended at the earliest possible moment."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower fired back: "I see no chance of ending the draft and carrying out the responsibilities for the security of this country that must be carried out."

In 1956 Goldwater challenged Stevenson to be specific on how he planned to cut taxes, reduce the national debt, and end the draft. He said Stevenson had called for an adequate defense but would end the draft.

But as early as last February Goldwater said he thought the draft could be ended. And in a speech opening his campaign Sept. 3 the senator — who wants to cut taxes, balance the budget, reduce spending and have adequate defense — promised if elected to end the draft "as soon as possible."

The Johnson administration got busy on the draft problem a couple of months after Goldwater first suggested earlier this year it could be ended.

Johnson ordered a study of the draft system and said the study would consider the possibility of ending selective service within 10 years.

Talks

seperates where we are and where mangement is."

He told an estimated 100,000 persons that when he left the rally he would be ready "to bargain around the clock for two days" if necessary to reach an agreement.

Reuther preceded President Johnson at the speakers platform and then rode out to the airport with him.

The UAW chieftain said he told Johnson that the two sides in negotiations are "quite a way apart and have real problems." But Reuther added that he has great hope and has seen other situations "that looked just as unpromising."

In his speech, Reuther reiterated that the UAW doesn't want government intervention in the bargaining.

The President, Reuther related, told him that the government is not planning to get involved but is depending on the good sense of the negotiators on both sides of the table.

Reuther told the rally — which included thousands of UAW retirees — that none of the Big Three companies has offered any improvement in pensions for workers already retired.

Chrysler, GM and Ford made virtually identical offers to the UAW last month, including higher pay, increased holiday and vacation pay and improved retirement pension benefits for workers now on the job.

The proposals, described by industry spokesmen as generous, were branded inadequate by the union.

Autoist Blocks Road, Beats Man

A Chester woman told police early this morning her husband was assaulted by an unidentified motorist who had blocked his car on the Chester Bridge.

Chester Hobbs, 20, of 315 3rd St., Chester, was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the left eyebrow and abrasions of the left cheek.

His wife, Mrs. Eileen Hobbs, said she and her husband were en route to East Liverpool at 12:45 a. m. and a motorist in an old model auto slowed down in front of them and finally stopped to talk to some girls.

After trying several times to get past the halted auto, her husband went to the other car to inquire if there was trouble, Mrs. Hobbs said. The occupant suddenly jumped out and struck her husband.

Two other men than ran up and the trio jumped into the car and drove away, she told officers.

New Pilot Training System Developed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A new simulator system, for training pilots to make quick visual adjustment from aircraft instruments to actually seeing terrain has been developed for Research-Technology Division at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Aircrewmen sit in a simulator resembling the flight deck of their plane, while color television conveys a picture of three-dimensional, scale - model terrain moving on a belt. Instructors can control lights to simulate landings and takeoffs night or day, at dusk, or in fog or cloud cover.

Link Division of General Precision Inc. of Binghamton, N.Y., is producing 14 units in addition to the prototype for the Air Force under a $3.8 million contract.

Stumbling Block To Adjournment

Senate Resumes Battle Over Reapportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate tackles anew today the chief stumbling block to the adjournment of Congress — a scrap over the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment decision.

In an effort to force a showdown, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois planned to file a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule.

Dirksen is the chief sponsor of a proposal designed to delay for a year or more court orders for the reapportionment of seats in both houses of state legislatures on a basis of population.

His aim is to gain time to seek adoption of a constitutional amendment that would permit states to apportion seats in one branch of their legislatures on a basis other than population.

The cloture petition will come to a vote automatically Thursday. To carry, it must have the support of two-thirds of the senators voting.

Dirksen said he was confident of mustering a majority but laid no claim to the necessary two-thirds margin. He told reporters it will depend on how many senators are absent.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said it appeared "very doubtful" the Senate would invoke its cloture rule, under which each senator's speaking time would be limited to one hour.

If the cloture move fails, a group of liberal Democrats who have been carrying on what Dirksen calls a filibuster against his proposal will be free to keep on talking indefinitely.

Dirksen's proposal, offered as a rider to the 3.3-billion foreign aid authorization bill, could be tabled and thus killed if opponents could line up a majority against it. So far they have been unable to do so.

With the stalemate standing in the way of congressional adjournment, there were reports that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D - Minn., President Johnson's vice presidential running mate, now is ready to throw his weight publicly behind the anti-Dirksen forces.

Johnson so far has kept silent on the reapportionment issue. The platform adopted by the Democrats at their national convention in Atlantic City avoided the subject altogether, in contrast with the GOP platform pledge to support action to overturn the Supreme Court's ruling.

The dispute is more an urban-rural clash than a party-line fight. Big-city and suburban spokesmen protest that state legislative districts are heavily weighted in favor of rural areas and argue that federal court orders offer the only hope of reapportionment.

10,000 Youths Battle Troopers

New Hampshire Resort Calms Down After Riot

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (AP) — This seashore resort town was peaceful today after a Labor Day eve riot in which some 10,000 teen-agers battled state troopers, local police and National Guardsmen four hours.

Authorities finally ran the young persons out of town Sunday night by forming human wedges and walking from the beach area in the center of town to either end.

Some 200 persons were arrested. Twenty were injured.

Police couldn't explain the reasons for the rioting, but Robers W. Rhodes, commissioner of public safety in New Hampshire, blamed the youths' parents for a lack of discipline in the home.

"The parents have stepped aside and have left their children to the teachers and to the police," Rhodes said.

There were some reports of police brutality in the wake of a score of injured — one seriously. But Gov. John W. King said flatly:

"You can't blame police for lack of parental discipline. The police leaned over backward not to use brutality."

One boy, Peter Zaniboni, 16, of Everett, Mass., was hit in the face with a load of birdshot from a police shotgun and doctors said he probably would lose the sight of his right eye.

Damage was counted in the thousands of dollars as merchants began cleaning up from the four-hour rioting. The revelers, having a final fling before school opens this week, threw rocks, garbage, beer bottles and cans filled with sand and set fire to some buildings while smashing windows along the beachfront.

"It was too well planned and organized to have been a spontaneous affair stimulated by beer and drinking," said Rhodes.

He and other police officials said youths had passed out leaflets and notes inviting other young persons "for the big rumble."

The governor said the riot was a "symptom of a moral sickness in American youth which is potentially explosive."

King said he hoped the courts would not "mollycoddle" the 200 persons arrested during the rioting.

It took a force of 250 heavily armed police and militiamen with fixed bayonets to restore order.

Police began today to take to court the 200 who were arrested on charges of inciting a riot, rioting, disorderly conduct and drunkenness. Many of those arrested were released on bail for court appearances in the next couple of weeks.

King had ordered out the National Guard, and deputized reinforcements of Massachusetts and Maine state troopers to help quell the riot.

Police reported receiving dozens of calls Monday from parents of youngsters of 15 or 16, asking if they were among those hurt or arrested.

"Some of them didn't even know where their children were," said Rhodes.

Newell Fire Run 'Buffs' Warned

Newell volunteer firemen today warned community residents of the practice of following the fire truck on trips to fires.

Floyd Wilson, assistant chief, said the department will file charges against those caught following the truck in the future.

He said sightseers created a traffic jam Sunday night when the fire truck was called to a traffic accident on Route 66.

When firemen made a run to Lennyville Monday night at 6:20 to quell a grass fire, three or four cars followed the truck, Wilson said.

In addition, he asked parents to start assuming the responsibility of keeping their youngsters at home and away from the fire station when the fire alarm sounds.

Wellsville To Block Street For Repairs

Lisbon St., between 3rd and 4th Sts., in Wellsville will be barricaded to traffic several days to allow street repairs.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said the Pennsylvania Railroad started work today rebuilding a spur line crossing the street as its phase of a repaving project.

He asked that motorists cooperate while the work is under way.

The city plans to have a section of Lisbon St. blacktopped in the near future. The railroad was requested to repair the crossing in conjunction with the project.

Summit Police Probe Fatal Shooting Of Boy

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Summit County authorities today were investigating the fatal shooting of a 9-year-old boy in suburban Norton.

Robert Wickwire was pronounced dead at Barberton Citizens Hospital Monday night after being found with a bullet wound in his forehead at the home of aunt, Mrs. Clifford Larrison, where he lived. Police said he had been shot with a .22-caliber revolver.

Add lots of minced parsley to hot buttered rice when you are serving the rice with a pale-colored dish such as chicken or veal fricassee. And a sprinkle of paprika over the fricassee just before serving won't hurt either!

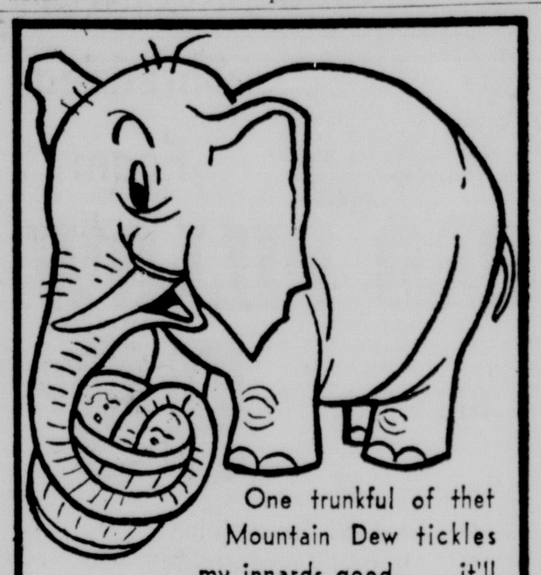

Lisbon School Board Will Convene Tonight

LISBON — The Lisbon Board of Education will meet tonight at 7:30 with several matters awaiting action, according to Supt. Oliver Payne.

Bids will be opened for coal and there will be a discussion of school building insurance, along with several problems which developed since school resumed last week.

Lisbon Youth Forfeits

LISBON — Dwayne Butream, 18, of R. D. 2 forfeited a $15 appearance bond Monday in Mayor Dean Stockman's Court on a charge of failing to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited by police after his car struck the rear of one driven by Mary M. Hahn, 31, of 330 E. Lincoln Way Sunday at 6:05 p.m. on Jackson St. There was $50 damage to the Hahn car and $150 to Butream's police said.

seperates where we are and where mangement is."

He told an estimated 100,000 persons that when he left the rally he would be ready "to bargain around the clock for two days" if necessary to reach an agreement.

Reuther preceded President Johnson at the speakers platform and then rode out to the airport with him.

The UAW chieftain said he told Johnson that the two sides in negotiations are "quite a way apart and have real problems." But Reuther added that he has great hope and has seen other situations "that looked just as unpromising."

In his speech, Reuther reiterated that the UAW doesn't want government intervention in the bargaining.

The President, Reuther related, told him that the government is not planning to get involved but is depending on the good sense of the negotiators on both sides of the table.

Reuther told the rally — which included thousands of UAW retirees — that none of the Big Three companies has offered any improvement in pensions for workers already retired.

Chrysler, GM and Ford made virtually identical offers to the UAW last month, including higher pay, increased holiday and vacation pay and improved retirement pension benefits for workers now on the job.

The proposals, described by industry spokesmen as generous, were branded inadequate by the union.

Autoist Blocks Road, Beats Man

A Chester woman told police early this morning her husband was assaulted by an unidentified motorist who had blocked his car on the Chester Bridge.

Chester Hobbs, 20, of 315 3rd St., Chester, was treated at City Hospital for a laceration of the left eyebrow and abrasions of the left cheek.

His wife, Mrs. Eileen Hobbs, said she and her husband were en route to East Liverpool at 12:45 a. m. and a motorist in an old model auto slowed down in front of them and finally stopped to talk to some girls.

After trying several times to get past the halted auto, her husband went to the other car to inquire if there was trouble, Mrs. Hobbs said. The occupant suddenly jumped out and struck her husband.

Two other men than ran up and the trio jumped into the car and drove away, she told officers.

New Pilot Training System Developed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A new simulator system, for training pilots to make quick visual adjustment from aircraft instruments to actually seeing terrain has been developed for Research-Technology Division at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Stumbling Block To Adjournment

Senate Resumes Battle Over Reapportionment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate tackles anew today the chief stumbling block to the adjournment of Congress — a scrap over the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment decision.

In an effort to force a showdown, Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois planned to file a petition to invoke the Senate's debate-limiting cloture rule.

Dirksen is the chief sponsor of a proposal designed to delay for a year or more court orders for the reapportionment of seats in both houses of state legislatures on a basis of population.

His aim is to gain time to seek adoption of a constitutional amendment that would permit states to apportion seats in one branch of their legislatures on a basis other than population.

The cloture petition will come to a vote automatically Thursday. To carry, it must have the support of two-thirds of the senators voting.

Dirksen said he was confident of mustering a majority but laid no claim to the necessary two-thirds margin. He told reporters it will depend on how many senators are absent.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said it appeared "very doubtful" the Senate would invoke its cloture rule, under which each senator's speaking time would be limited to one hour.

If the cloture move fails, a group of liberal Democrats who have been carrying on what Dirksen calls a filibuster against his proposal will be free to keep on talking indefinitely.

Dirksen's proposal, offered as a rider to the 3.3-billion foreign aid authorization bill, could be tabled and thus killed if opponents could line up a majority against it. So far they have been unable to do so.

With the stalemate standing in the way of congressional adjournment, there were reports that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D - Minn., President Johnson's vice presidential running mate, now is ready to throw his weight publicly behind the anti-Dirksen forces.

Johnson so far has kept silent on the reapportionment issue. The platform adopted by the Democrats at their national convention in Atlantic City avoided the subject altogether, in contrast with the GOP platform pledge to support action to overturn the Supreme Court's ruling.

The dispute is more an urban-rural clash than a party-line fight. Big-city and suburban spokesmen protest that state legislative districts are heavily weighted in favor of rural areas and argue that federal court orders offer the only hope of reapportionment.

10,000 Youths Battle Troopers

New Hampshire Resort Calms Down After Riot

HAMPTON BEACH, N.H. (AP) — This seashore resort town was peaceful today after a Labor Day eve riot in which some 10,000 teen-agers battled state troopers, local police and National Guardsmen four hours.

Authorities finally ran the young persons out of town Sunday night by forming human wedges and walking from the beach area in the center of town to either end.

Some 200 persons were arrested. Twenty were injured.

Police couldn't explain the reasons for the rioting, but Robers W. Rhodes, commissioner of public safety in New Hampshire, blamed the youths' parents for a lack of discipline in the home.

"The parents have stepped aside and have left their children to the teachers and to the police," Rhodes said.

There were some reports of police brutality in the wake of a score of injured — one seriously. But Gov. John W. King said flatly:

"You can't blame police for lack of parental discipline. The police leaned over backward not to use brutality."

One boy, Peter Zaniboni, 16, of Everett, Mass., was hit in the face with a load of birdshot from a police shotgun and doctors said he probably would lose the sight of his right eye.

Damage was counted in the thousands of dollars as merchants began cleaning up from the four-hour rioting. The revelers, having a final fling before school opens this week, threw rocks, garbage, beer bottles and cans filled with sand and set fire to some buildings while smashing windows along the beachfront.

"It was too well planned and organized to have been a spontaneous affair stimulated by beer and drinking," said Rhodes.

He and other police officials said youths had passed out leaflets and notes inviting other young persons "for the big rumble."

The governor said the riot was a "symptom of a moral sickness in American youth which is potentially explosive."

King said he hoped the courts would not "mollycoddle" the 200 persons arrested during the rioting.

It took a force of 250 heavily armed police and militiamen with fixed bayonets to restore order.

Police began today to take to court the 200 who were arrested on charges of inciting a riot, rioting, disorderly conduct and drunkenness. Many of those arrested were released on bail for court appearances in the next couple of weeks.

King had ordered out the National Guard, and deputized reinforcements of Massachusetts and Maine state troopers to help quell the riot.

Police reported receiving dozens of calls Monday from parents of youngsters of 15 or 16, asking if they were among those hurt or arrested.

"Some of them didn't even know where their children were," said Rhodes.

Newell Fire Run 'Buffs' Warned

Newell volunteer firemen today warned community residents of the practice of following the fire truck on trips to fires.

Floyd Wilson, assistant chief, said the department will file charges against those caught following the truck in the future.

He said sightseers created a traffic jam Sunday night when the fire truck was called to a traffic accident on Route 66.

When firemen made a run to Lennyville Monday night at 6:20 to quell a grass fire, three or four cars followed the truck, Wilson said.

In addition, he asked parents to start assuming the responsibility of keeping their youngsters at home and away from the fire station when the fire alarm sounds.

Wellsville To Block Street For Repairs

Lisbon St., between 3rd and 4th Sts., in Wellsville will be barricaded to traffic several days to allow street repairs.

Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said the Pennsylvania Railroad started work today rebuilding a spur line crossing the street as its phase of a repaving project.

He asked that motorists cooperate while the work is under way.

The city plans to have a section of Lisbon St. blacktopped in the near future. The railroad was requested to repair the crossing in conjunction with the project.

Summit Police Probe Fatal Shooting Of Boy

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Summit County authorities today were investigating the fatal shooting of a 9-year-old boy in suburban Norton.

Robert Wickwire was pronounced dead at Barberton Citizens Hospital Monday night after being found with a bullet wound in his forehead at the home of aunt, Mrs. Clifford Larrison, where he lived. Police said he had been shot with a .22-caliber revolver.

Lisbon Youth Forfeits

LISBON — Dwayne Butream, 18, of R. D. 2 forfeited a $15 appearance bond Monday in Mayor Dean Stockman's Court on a charge of failing to stop within the assured clear distance. He was cited by police after his car struck the rear of one driven by Mary M. Hahn, 31, of 330 E. Lincoln Way Sunday at 6:05 p.m. on Jackson St. There was $50 damage to the Hahn car and $150 to Butream's police said.

A-Weapons Control, Taxes, Civil Rights Issues

Political Candidates Fire Volleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Candidates on both sides of the political fence have fired volleys on such issues as nuclear weapons control, taxes and civil rights in the first major skirmishing of the 1964 presidential election campaign.

President Johnson, while not openly acknowledging it as a campaign speech, took sharp issue with Republican nominee Barry Goldwater on the question of nuclear weapons control in a Labor Day address in Detroit Monday.

In nearby Indiana and Ohio the vice presidential nominees, Republican Rep. William E. Miller of New York and Democratic Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota touched, respectively, on taxes and civil rights among other things.

Goldwater didn't mix into the scrap but from the Arizona senator's camp came word that he will outline tonight a plan for reducing taxes by 5 per cent a year for five years if he is elected in November.

Goldwater, who rested in Phoenix Monday, opens his first major campaign swing in San Diego, Calif., today. Johnson, Humphrey and Miller all returned to Washington.

Johnson spoke at an AFL-CIO-sponsored Labor Day rally in Detroit's Cadillac Square, the place where Democratic candidates have begun their campaigns since 1948.

The President didn't once use the word Democrat. Much of his speech dwelt on such topics as national unity, peace and prosperity. But there was little doubt he was aiming shafts at Goldwater when he moved to the subject of nuclear weapons control.

Goldwater, in an Aug. 25 speech, had suggested a way be found to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with small, tactical nuclear weapons for battlefield use, weapons which he said "may truly be called conventional weapons."

"Make no mistake," Johnson said Monday. "There is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon."

He said the judgment to use nuclear weapons is "a political decision of the highest order" and added: "No president of the United States can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

Miller, campaigning in Indiana, told a Labor Day audience in South Bend that working men would benefit from a Republican administration through tax cuts and protection of jobs from foreign competition.

"Our administration will refuse to toy with dangerous programs in the field of tariffs and immigration which could well destroy our labor market," Miller said.

He said the Johnson administration is advocating immigration policies that would "open the floodgates" for foreign people seeking jobs in the United States.

He said tariff reductions backed by the Democratic administration already have affected industry and employment adversely but more cuts are being sought. "Do we have to make the same dumb mistakes over and over again?" he asked.

Miller also pledged a series of tax cuts so that government "takes progressively less of the fruits of your labor."

Repeating a favorite campaign topic, Miller said that "those who make trouble in our streets, whether it takes the form of open rioting or goes under the more sophisticated name of 'civil disobedience' will find no comfort, just condemnation" from a GOP administration. This drew a big hand from his audience.

Taxes will be the subject of Goldwater's address in Los Angeles tonight. A source high in Goldwater's campaign organization outlined to newsmen Monday some of the senator's thinking on taxes and the federal budget.

The source said Goldwater would aim to begin the 5 per cent yearly corporate and private income tax reduction in June 1966, and continue it for five years. It would be coupled, he said, with a slice in federal excise taxes.

Accompanying the tax cut would be reduction of federal expenditures or at least a holding action which would produce a balanced budget over the five-year period.

Humphrey, campaigning in Ohio, told a Youngstown news conference in answer to question he was concerned over the future of civil rights should Goldwater be elected. He said this concern stemmed from the fact that Goldwater not only voted against the 1964 Civil Rights Act, "he denounced it."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate attacked Goldwater throughout the day as being out of step not only with his own party but with the age.

"I think Goldwater opposes all people in his party that disagree with him and those people that believe in the 20th century," he told a Labor Day gathering in Youngstown Monday night.

After 3-Day Holiday Weekend

One Of Life's Ordeals

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is returning to the job after a three-day holiday weekend.

Some, of course, can't stand to be away from the usual routine of office or plant life. They return to it with glad neighs, as an old horse to its stall.

Others of us, on the other hand, need a little reindoctrination upon having to come back to the chafing of the daily rut. Freedom has made us a bit wild and coltish.

We need again to be reconciled to the thought that, while variety may be the spice of life, it is also good for our immortal souls to be back once more plodding through the old salt mine.

In that helpful spirit we have assembled some remarks by the sages of the ages on why work is good for what ails us:

"Where our work is, there let our joy be." — Tertullian.

"As a cure for worrying, work is better than whisky." — Thomas A. Edison.

"Let us work without protest; it is the only way to make life endurable." — Voltaire.

"Work keeps at bay three great evils: boredom, vice, and need." — Voltaire.

"Work! God wills it. That, it seems to me, is clear." — Gustave Flaubert.

"I don't pity any man who does hard work worth doing. I admire him. I pity the creature who doesn't work, at whichever end of the social scale he may regard himself as being." — Theodore Roosevelt.

Well, there's the case for the joys of good old work. But how about those stubborn rebels who have to be dragged kicking and screaming back to the job?

Here is some consolation for them:

"Never work when hungry." — Hippocrates.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." — James Howell, 1650.

"Only horses work, and they turn their backs on it." — U.S. hobo proverb.

"I like work; it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours. I love to keep it by me; the idea of getting rid of it nearly breaks my heart." — Jerome K. Jerome.

"Work only tires a woman, but it ruins a man." — African proverb.

"Work is for the birds!" — Hal Boyle.

Man Struck By Car Claimed In Hospital

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) —Twenty-one - year-old Danny Dyrer of Crooskville told Perry County sheriffs deputies he was driving along a rural road Sunday when he saw a car he thought he recognized parked along the side of the road and decided to offer assistance.

In pulling off the road, Dyrer told officers, he didn't see Fred Eickel, also of Crooksville, standing nearby and his car struck the 62-year - old man. Eickel died about an hour later in Good Samaritan Hospital, Zanesville.

The sheriff's office was continuing its investigation of the incident.

Auto Mishaps Claim Two In West Virginia

By The Associated Press

West Virginia closed the long Labor Day holiday with at least two dead in traffic accidents to rate among the lowest states in highway fatalities.

Monday — the last and usually busiest of the three day holiday — escaped without a traffic death in the state. Accidents Saturday and Sunday raised the state's 1964 death toll to 293, compared with 259 a year ago.

The state was far below last year's toll for the 78-hour period, which claimed eight lives.

William Yelich, 19, of near Glenville, was killed Sunday in a car crash on W. Va. 5 near Glenville.

Harry B. Ridings, 78, of Martinsburg was killed when struck by a car Saturday in downtown Martinsburg.

At least three West Virginians lost their lives in traffic accidents outside the state. They were:

Richard C. Warman, 23, of Morgantown was killed Monday when the jeep he was riding in was struck from behind and pushed down a steep embankment near Oakville, Ontario, Canada.

Patrick Laurenoff, 25, of Parkersburg died Sunday in a head-on collision near Bellaire, Ohio.

Richard Summers, 46, of Kesler Cross Lanes, Nicholas County, died Friday night in a two-car collision near Zelienople, Pa.

Tabloid-Size Paper Published In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The appearance of a 32-page tabloid published by striking American Newspaper Guildsmen marks the first time since the summer of 1936 that Youngstown has had two daily newspapers.

The guild's paper, the Steel Valley News, made its debut Monday and William Nief, circulation manager, said the 35,000 copies run off from the flat-bed press were sold out.

The daily and Sunday Youngstown Vindicator has continued publishing a limited edition each day since it was struck three weeks ago today by ANG Local 11 in a dispute over an initial contract for 42 outside circulation employes, five of whom have never left the plant since the walkout started, have put out the Vindicator for over-the-counter sales only at the plant. An estimated 3,000 copies have been sold each day.

The Guild's paper, which emphasized local and court news, was sold for 10 cents mostly at the city's newsstands. It will be published every day but Saturday for the duration of the strike, which has idled 400.

Other unions at the newspaper have honored the Guild picket lines.

In 1936, the Telegram, A Scripps-Howard paper, merged with the Vindicator, whose normal daily circulation is 102,000 and 159,000 on Sunday.

Negotiations, meanwhile, are scheduled to resume Wednesday at 9 a.m., with federal mediator Harding Roach of Akron sitting in. Two previous sessions held since the strike produced no progress, Roach has said.

Italy produced 280 documentary films in 1963.

In Youngstown Address

Humphrey Claims Barry Out Of Step With Times

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Sen. Barry Goldwater is out of step with the times and with a large segment of his own party, and "large numbers of good Republicans are turning to President Johnson," Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, told a Labor Day gathering here.

Winding up his first weekend of campaigning for the vice presidency, Humphrey said Monday night Americans enjoy "unprecedented prosperity" under the Democratic administration and urged voters to "send Barry back home on the range" in November.

After finishing his speech, Humphrey picked up the telephone, called the White House and compared notes with the President, who also was on the campaign trail Monday.

"He said he had a great day," Humphrey told reporters. "I told him about the friendly and enthusiastic reception I received in Ohio. That was all we talked about."

Humphrey said he was very happy with the crowds he saw in Barberton, near Akron, where an estimated 70,000 persons lined the route of a traditional Labor Day parade. Partisan crowds in both Barberton and Youngstown applauded as Humphrey hurled barb after barb in the direction of Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

And in both places they took up the chant of "but not Senator Goldwater," as Humphrey called the roll of issues, from the tax cut to medicare, which he said were opposed by the GOP standard bearer.

Declaring that "we can't afford irresponsibility" in the White House, Humphrey told more than 3,000 persons at Idora Park here that Goldwater says one thing one day, tries to figure out what he said the next day, and the following day takes back what he said originally.

By contrast, he said, the Johnson administration has carried out the campaign promises made by the late President Kennedy four years ago.

Earlier, at a news conference, Humphrey said he was concerned over what would happen in the civil rights struggle should Goldwater be named president. His concern arose, he said, over the fact that Goldwater not only voted against the civil rights bill but also "denounced it."

As for the charges of radicalism that have been hurled at Humphrey by Rep. William E. Miller, his opposite number on the GOP ticket, the Senator shrugged these off as "frightening stories" and "fictions" being created by the Republicans.

"The opposition has to indulge in a certain amount of fiction and mythology to keep their hopes alive," he declared.

State Democratic leaders who joined Humphrey on his tour, which started with a 1 a.m. torchlight reception at Akron Municipal Airport, included Sen. Stephen M. Young, former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, William Coleman, the state party chairman, and Robert Sweeney, who is running for Congress-at-large.

Greek Cypriot Unit To Spur Russian Aid

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Makarios will send a delegation to Moscow this week to seek concrete terms for the Soviet offer of aid to the Greek Cypriot government.

The Greek Cypriot president called for Soviet military aid last month after Turkish war planes attacked Greek Cypriot positions. He has also asked the United Arab Republic for help.

The Soviet Union is reported to have offered Makarios $30 million in economic credits and to have left the way open for discussion of Soviet military aid.

An authoritative source here said the Soviet offer was conditional on Makarios continuing to insist on self-determination for the island republic rather than an agreement to unite it with Greece, a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Makarios has been under pressure from Greece to refuse Soviet help and he had seemed to be weakening in his decision to open formal negotiations with the Kremlin.

The Greek Cypriot delegation will include Andreas Araouzos, minister of commerce and industry; Costas Ashiotis, director of the foreign ministry, and Lefcos Georghiades, Cypriot ambassador to Moscow. The announcement said Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou also may go to Moscow after attending the U.N. Security Council debate on Cyprus expected to open next week.

The United Nations reported that the Greek Cypriots have tightened their economic blockade of the Turkish Cypriot community despite warnings from the U.N. peace force.

The United Nations said roadblocks have restricted food shipments into the Turkish quarters of Famagusta and Lanarca. Makarios blockaded three other Turkish areas last month, including the quarter in Nicosia where more than 30,000 Turkish Cypriots live.

Ronald Eckleberry, treasurer, announced the insurance on the youngsters will be renewed. A discussion was held on a goodwill project for October.

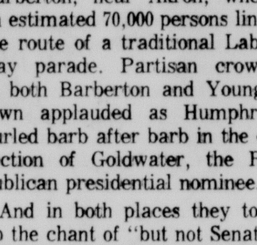

Next committee meeting is Oct. 2, Art DeLong announced.

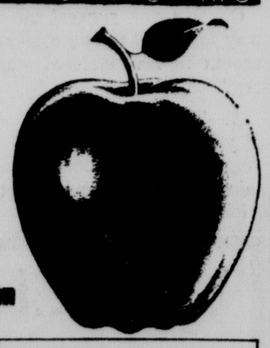

Underwood Criticizes New York Cab Driver

PINEVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Cecil H. Underwood, Republican candidate for governor, says West Virginians don't need the kind of charity shown by the New York taxi driver who brought clothes for the needy in Appalachia last weekend.

Addressing a Labor Day celebration, Underwood said: "We certainly don't need New York cab drivers to come into West Virginia. New Yorkers have their own problems."

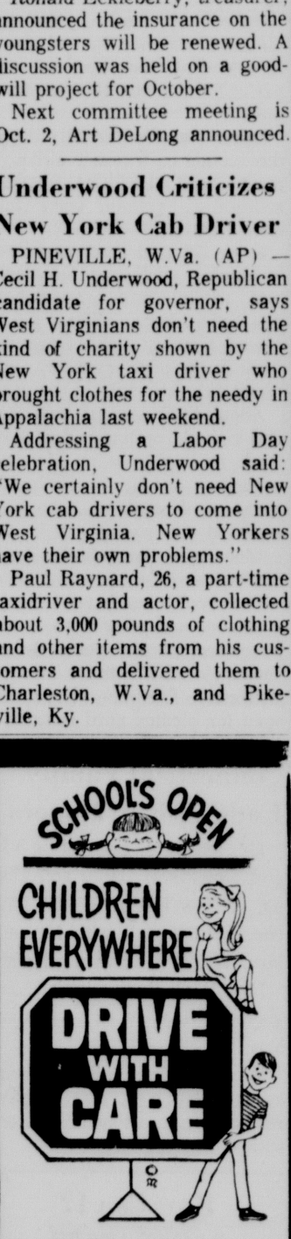

Paul Raynard, 26, a part-time taxidriver and actor, collected about 3,000 pounds of clothing and other items from his customers and delivered them to Charleston, W.Va., and Pikeville, Ky.

A-Weapons Control, Taxes, Civil Rights Issues

Political Candidates Fire Volleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Candidates on both sides of the political fence have fired volleys on such issues as nuclear weapons control, taxes and civil rights in the first major skirmishing of the 1964 presidential election campaign.

President Johnson, while not openly acknowledging it as a campaign speech, took sharp issue with Republican nominee Barry Goldwater on the question of nuclear weapons control in a Labor Day address in Detroit Monday.

In nearby Indiana and Ohio the vice presidential nominees, Republican Rep. William E. Miller of New York and Democratic Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota touched, respectively, on taxes and civil rights among other things.

Goldwater didn't mix into the scrap but from the Arizona senator's camp came word that he will outline tonight a plan for reducing taxes by 5 per cent a year for five years if he is elected in November.

Goldwater, who rested in Phoenix Monday, opens his first major campaign swing in San Diego, Calif., today. Johnson, Humphrey and Miller all returned to Washington.

Johnson spoke at an AFL-CIO-sponsored Labor Day rally in Detroit's Cadillac Square, the place where Democratic candidates have begun their campaigns since 1948.

The President didn't once use the word Democrat. Much of his speech dwelt on such topics as national unity, peace and prosperity. But there was little doubt he was aiming shafts at Goldwater when he moved to the subject of nuclear weapons control.

Goldwater, in an Aug. 25 speech, had suggested a way be found to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with small, tactical nuclear weapons for battlefield use, weapons which he said "may truly be called conventional weapons."

"Make no mistake," Johnson said Monday. "There is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon."

He said the judgment to use nuclear weapons is "a political decision of the highest order" and added: "No president of the United States can divest himself of the responsibility for such a decision."

Miller, campaigning in Indiana, told a Labor Day audience in South Bend that working men would benefit from a Republican administration through tax cuts and protection of jobs from foreign competition.

"Our administration will refuse to toy with dangerous programs in the field of tariffs and immigration which could well destroy our labor market," Miller said.

He said the Johnson administration is advocating immigration policies that would "open the floodgates" for foreign people seeking jobs in the United States.

He said tariff reductions backed by the Democratic administration already have affected industry and employment adversely but more cuts are being sought. "Do we have to make the same dumb mistakes over and over again?" he asked.

Miller also pledged a series of tax cuts so that government "takes progressively less of the fruits of your labor."

Repeating a favorite campaign topic, Miller said that "those who make trouble in our streets, whether it takes the form of open rioting or goes under the more sophisticated name of 'civil disobedience' will find no comfort, just condemnation" from a GOP administration. This drew a big hand from his audience.

Taxes will be the subject of Goldwater's address in Los Angeles tonight. A source high in Goldwater's campaign organization outlined to newsmen Monday some of the senator's thinking on taxes and the federal budget.

The source said Goldwater would aim to begin the 5 per cent yearly corporate and private income tax reduction in June 1966, and continue it for five years. It would be coupled, he said, with a slice in federal excise taxes.

Accompanying the tax cut would be reduction of federal expenditures or at least a holding action which would produce a balanced budget over the five-year period.

Humphrey, campaigning in Ohio, told a Youngstown news conference in answer to question he was concerned over the future of civil rights should Goldwater be elected. He said this concern stemmed from the fact that Goldwater not only voted against the 1964 Civil Rights Act, "he denounced it."

The Democratic vice presidential candidate attacked Goldwater throughout the day as being out of step not only with his own party but with the age.

"I think Goldwater opposes all people in his party that disagree with him and those people that believe in the 20th century," he told a Labor Day gathering in Youngstown Monday night.

After 3-Day Holiday Weekend

One Of Life's Ordeals

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals is returning to the job after a three-day holiday weekend.

Some, of course, can't stand to be away from the usual routine of office or plant life. They return to it with glad neighs, as an old horse to its stall.

Others of us, on the other hand, need a little reindoctrination upon having to come back to the chafing of the daily rut. Freedom has made us a bit wild and coltish.

We need again to be reconciled to the thought that, while variety may be the spice of life, it is also good for our immortal souls to be back once more plodding through the old salt mine.

In that helpful spirit we have assembled some remarks by the sages of the ages on why work is good for what ails us:

"Where our work is, there let our joy be." — Tertullian.

"As a cure for worrying, work is better than whisky." — Thomas A. Edison.

"Let us work without protest; it is the only way to make life endurable." — Voltaire.

"Work keeps at bay three great evils: boredom, vice, and need." — Voltaire.

"Work! God wills it. That, it seems to me, is clear." — Gustave Flaubert.

"I don't pity any man who does hard work worth doing. I admire him. I pity the creature who doesn't work, at whichever end of the social scale he may regard himself as being." — Theodore Roosevelt.

Well, there's the case for the joys of good old work. But how about those stubborn rebels who have to be dragged kicking and screaming back to the job?

Here is some consolation for them:

"Never work when hungry." — Hippocrates.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." — James Howell, 1650.

"Only horses work, and they turn their backs on it." — U.S. hobo proverb.

"I like work; it fascinates me. I can sit and look at it for hours. I love to keep it by me; the idea of getting rid of it nearly breaks my heart." — Jerome K. Jerome.

"Work only tires a woman, but it ruins a man." — African proverb.

"Work is for the birds!" — Hal Boyle.

Man Struck By Car Claimed In Hospital

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) —Twenty-one - year-old Danny Dyrer of Crooskville told Perry County sheriffs deputies he was driving along a rural road Sunday when he saw a car he thought he recognized parked along the side of the road and decided to offer assistance.

In pulling off the road, Dyrer told officers, he didn't see Fred Eickel, also of Crooksville, standing nearby and his car struck the 62-year - old man. Eickel died about an hour later in Good Semaritan Hospital, Zanesville.

The sheriff's office was continuing its investigation of the incident.

Auto Mishaps Claim Two In West Virginia

By The Associated Press

West Virginia closed the long Labor Day holiday with at least two dead in traffic accidents to rate among the lowest states in highway fatalities.

Monday — the last and usually busiest of the three day holiday — escaped without a traffic death in the state. Accidents Saturday and Sunday raised the state's 1964 death toll to 293, compared with 259 a year ago.

The state was far below last year's toll for the 78-hour period, which claimed eight lives.

William Yelich, 19, of near Glenville, was killed Sunday in a car crash on W. Va. 5 near Glenville.

Harry B. Ridings, 78, of Martinsburg was killed when struck by a car Saturday in downtown Martinsburg.

At least three West Virginians lost their lives in traffic accidents outside the state. They were:

Richard C. Warman, 23, of Morgantown was killed Monday when the jeep he was riding in was struck from behind and pushed down a steep embankment near Oakville, Ontario, Canada.

Patrick Laurenoff, 25, of Parkersburg died Sunday in a head-on collision near Bellaire, Ohio.

Richard Summers, 46, of Kesler Cross Lanes, Nicholas County, died Friday night in a two-car collision near Zelienople, Pa.

Tabloid-Size Paper Published In Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The appearance of a 32-page tabloid published by striking American Newspaper Guildsmen marks the first time since the summer of 1936 that Youngstown has had two daily newspapers.

The guild's paper, the Steel Valley News, made its debut Monday and William Nief, circulation manager, said the 35,000 copies run off from the flat-bed press were sold out.

The daily and Sunday Youngstown Vindicator has continued publishing a limited edition each day since it was struck three weeks ago today by ANG Local 11 in a dispute over an initial contract for 42 outside circulation employes, five of whom have never left the plant since the walkout started, have put out the Vindicator for over-the-counter sales only at the plant. An estimated 3,000 copies have been sold each day.

The Guild's paper, which emphasized local and court news, was sold for 10 cents mostly at the city's newsstands. It will be published every day but Saturday for the duration of the strike, which has idled 400.

Other unions at the newspaper have honored the Guild picket lines.

In 1936, the Telegram, A Scripps-Howard paper, merged with the Vindicator, whose normal daily circulation is 102,000 and 159,000 on Sunday.

Negotiations, meanwhile, are scheduled to resume Wednesday at 9 a.m., with federal mediator Harding Roach of Akron sitting in. Two previous sessions held since the strike produced no progress, Roach has said.

Italy produced 280 documentary films in 1963.

Humphrey Claims Barry Out Of Step With Times

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— Sen. Barry Goldwater is out of step with the times and with a large segment of his own party, and "large numbers of good Republicans are turning to President Johnson," Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, told a Labor Day gathering here.

Winding up his first weekend of campaigning for the vice presidency, Humphrey said Monday night Americans enjoy "unprecedented prosperity" under the Democratic administration and urged voters to "send Barry back home on the range" in November.

After finishing his speech, Humphrey picked up the telephone, called the White House and compared notes with the President, who also was on the campaign trail Monday.

"He said he had a great day," Humphrey told reporters. "I told him about the friendly and enthusiastic reception I received in Ohio. That was all we talked about."

Humphrey said he was very happy with the crowds he saw in Barberton, near Akron, where an estimated 70,000 persons lined the route of a traditional Labor Day parade. Partisan crowds in both Barberton and Youngstown applauded as Humphrey hurled barb after barb in the direction of Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

And in both places they took up the chant of "but not Senator Goldwater," as Humphrey called the roll of issues, from the tax cut to medicare, which he said were opposed by the GOP standard bearer.

Declaring that "we can't afford irresponsibility" in the White House, Humphrey told more than 3,000 persons at Idora Park here that Goldwater says one thing one day, tries to figure out what he said the next day, and the following day takes back what he said originally.

By contrast, he said, the Johnson administration has carried out the campaign promises made by the late President Kennedy four years ago.

Earlier, at a news conference, Humphrey said he was concerned over what would happen in the civil rights struggle should Goldwater be named president. His concern arose, he said, over the fact that Goldwater not only voted against the civil rights bill but also "denounced it."

As for the charges of radicalism that have been hurled at Humphrey by Rep. William E. Miller, his opposite number on the GOP ticket, the Senator shrugged these off as "frightening stories" and "fictions" being created by the Republicans.

Miss Judith Marie Stern And Loren Crawford Wed

MRS. L. J. CRAWFORD
Bride In Nuptials Aug. 30.

Miss Judith Marie Stern wore a gown of eggshell taffeta when she became the bride of Loren James Crawford the evening of Aug. 30 at 7 o'clock in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Denver Fisher of Wood St. and Fred W. Stern of Calcutta Acres. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Crawford of Westfield.

The Rev. D. Ross Salisbury, rector, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with white gladiolus, palms and ferns. Satin bows marked the family pews. Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Norman Stern. The fitted bodice of her gown was designed with a scalloped neckline, lace yoke and short sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt, circled with rows of lace accented with sequins, fell into a chapel train. She wore matching mitts. Her fingertip veil fell from a taffeta cabbage rose trimmed with pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of orchids, baby mums and stephanotis.

Mrs. Norman Stern, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. George Rinestine and Mrs. James Martin. They wore sheaths of royal blue taffeta fashioned with three - tier overskirts. Matching shoes and veiled circlets completed their costumes. They carried cascade arrangements of yellow spider mums and pompons. Their white gloves were gifts of the bride.

Richard Triplett was best man. Ushers were Charles Stewart, George Rinestine and Kent Kirkham, cousin of the bride. They received key chains from the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a gold crepe sheath with lime color accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore pink nylon with black accessories and Mrs. Frank Lambright, grandmother of the bride, cocoa print. All wore white carnation corsages.

A reception for 200 followed in the Parish Hall under the supervision of St. Margaret's Guild. The buffet table was centered with a four-tier cake, encircled by silver sprayed fern. Arrangements of yellow and white mums and snapdragons completed the setting.

Guests were from Canton, Brilliant, Midland, Pittsburgh and Wellsville.

For her honeymoon tour of the South, the bride wore a blue and white dacron ensemble with white accessories and her bridal orchids.

The bride, a 1960 graduate of Beaver Local High School, is employed as inventory clerk with the Parts Service Co.

Her husband, who was graduated in 1955 from East Liverpool High School, is a presser with the Ferro Corp.'s Louthan Plant. He served with the Army in France and England.

The newlyweds are residing at 775½ Dresden Ave.

Weekend's Fine Weather Attracts Throngs To Parks

The Tri - State District got through the Labor Day weekend without a traffic fatality despite heavy traffic, while the pleasant weather served as a lure to draw thousands to area parks for the last fling of summer.

Labor Day traditionally drops the curtain on summer although most park facilities, except swimming, remain open into cold weather.

Some 530 used Thompson Park swimming pool over the weekend while there were about 600 picnickers. The pool closed Monday night. Some 400 were in the pool yesterday and about 600 picnickers in the park.

About 4,200 persons picnicked and visited Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown on Monday, according to N. T. Holbrook, park superintendent, who also reported 425 swimmers in the outdoor pool along State Route 2.

The pool closed until this weekend, and after then it will be closed for the year. Boat docks closed for the season yesterday. The park will remain open for picnics until Oct. 31.

Holbrook reported there were visitors to the park this summer from 44 states and Canada, and swimmers from Italy, Japan, Iraq, Germany, Mexico and Canada.

Supt. George Armstrong of Raccoon Creek State Park said attendance over the weekend totaled about 14,000.

This was only about equal to some of the warmer weekends in July, according to Armstrong, who said that the early opening of Western Pennsylvania schools and the nearby Allegheny County Fair cut into the Labor Day attendance at the park considerably.

Friday attendance showed 1,068, Saturday 3,000, Sunday 5,100 and Labor Day, 5,500.

Armstrong said the beaches were closed Monday, and the boating is closed except for nice weekends during the next month or so. The picnic area is open yeararound, but the family camping area will close on Dec. 15.

All 150 camping sites were filled over the weekend, and there was an overflow of 15 who needed accommodations.

Connecticut Family Ends Visit In Rogers

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ritchie and daughters, Cathy and Donna, of New Haven, Conn., have concluded a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ritchie of Rogers.

Mrs. H. G. Rudibaugh of Niles visited Friday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Swaney and daughter, Nancy, have returned from a tour of Western states.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent air holes in my cakes?

A.—By pouring your batter through a slit spoon.

Q.—How can I make varnish dry faster?

A.—Fill a shallow vessel with hot water and place the can of varnish in this while working. It will make your varnish flow easier, and it will also dry in a shorter time.

Q.—What can I do if, after removing a stain successfully from a fabric, I find that the cleaning fluid has left a ring?

A.—Try this: Let the cleaning fluid dry thoroughly, then hold the material over a steaming teakettle until the mark disappears.

Q.—Can you suggest an easy way for a girl to add a pleasant aroma to her personal stationery?

A.—Try putting a drop or so of your favorite perfume into your personal ink bottle or fountain pen. This should do the trick.

NAACP Names 5 To State Session

Five delegates to the state conference Sept. 18-20 in Toledo were named at the meeting of the East Liverpool NAACP chapter Saturday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

They will be Alonzo Spencer, president; Mrs. Dorothy E. Peters and Misses Suzanne Williams, Phyllis Mahone and Alice Loker.

Spencer was advised the chapter will be presented with the NAACP's leadership merit award. The award is based on membership and activities.

The group also voted to endorse the $3,380,000 school bond issue after hearing a talk on the need for the proposed construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings by Thomas H. Dixon, Westgate School principal.

Hancock College Unit Appoints Instructor

The appointment of Wilmon Boyd Culley of Weirton as part-time instructor in business administration at the Hancock County branch of West Liberty State College was announced by Dr. Paul N. Elbin, president of the college, and Supt. Robert H. Hall.

Culley, who received his master of business administration degree from Indiana University in 1960, has taught at Washington & Jefferson College and the College of Steubenville.

He was graduated from Weir High School in 1955. He is presently employed at Weirton Steel Co. engaged in incentive and methods work. He will teach mathematics of finance and introduction to business during the first semester at the branch college in Weirton.

Oak Glen Yearbook Distribution Starts

Distribution of copies of the Oak Glen High School yearbook, "Oak Leaf," got under way this afternoon at the school, Principal E. Russell Slack reported.

He asked students to bring their receipts of payment to the school office to obtain their copies.

A total of 525 copies of the record of last year's school activities will be handed out to the students.

Builder Has Sense Of Responsibility

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Builder Don Canter feels his responsibility to the purchaser doesn't end when the contract is signed for one of his custom - built homes. He wants the owners to be happy and get to know their neighbors.

For the fourth consecutive year Canter and the realtors handling the sale of his houses entertained residents of the development and prospective purchasers. The party was held in a recently completed new model home.

Rude Awakening Put Overweight On Right

Meet a refreshingly frank reducer who was jolted into taking action. Here is her story:

Ida Jean Kain

"I would like to pass along my motivation for losing weight. In January, I weighed 163½ pounds. I'm less than 5' 2", so I was really bulging at all seams.

"I didn't like what I saw in the mirror and was embarrassed when I was buying clothes. To get anything wide enough through the middle no other part of any garment fit.

"EVEN SO, I postponed action. But one day we were riding out in a farming area, and I noticed a large feed lot full of hogs being fattened for market. I asked myself if that were the impression I gave of myself to those around me. Right then and there I said to myself: 'This is it! Had the good Lord wanted me to be a hog He would have given me four feet.'

"My very next purchase was a good calorie counter. With pencil and paper in hand, I began counting calories. I checked on the food nutrients my body needed to be sure I was following a properly balanced diet. From this point, I took off for a slimmer me.

"I didn't even tell my husband, nor any of the family. I knew if they noticed any difference this would be proof that I was succeeding. The first two weeks I lost only 2½ pounds—not much, but a start; and I didn't want to lose fast and invite wrinkles. In about a month my family began to notice, and now (six months later) I think they are even more proud of my accomplishment than I am. I'm pretty proud, too. I now weigh 136 pounds.

"I weigh every morning. Some diet rules say once a week, but if I weigh just the tiny bit more than the previous morning, I eat on the 1,000 calorie mark or just under. I feel that by this plan I won't regain any fraction of what I have lost.

"IT TAKES a little extra time and effort on my part, but any good attempt requires this. The self-discipline is not only good for my body, but for my soul as well.

"I'm the mother of six. I have 14 grandchildren, and I fix all the good things they like to eat. "I feel so much better mentally. I was quite self-conscious about my excess weight. In closing, let me add that I am 62 years old and 'going strong.'

"I still hope to slim down another 10 pounds . . . and then retain the new leanness. I hope this will help someone else to decide to take matters in hand and count calories."

The greatest victory is the victory over self. Congratulations to this gallant grandmother.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Revised Calorie Chart. Address request to Ida Jean Kain, care of The Review. Post card requests cannot be answered.

Boy Hit By Wheel Off Race Car Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two-year-old Steven M. LaFollette of Cleveland died in Marymount Hospital today of head injuries suffered when he was hit by a wheel that flew off a stock car during a race.

This was only about equal to some of the warmer weekends in July, according to Armstrong, who said that the early opening of Western Pennsylvania schools and the nearby Allegheny County Fair cut into the Labor Day attendance at the park considerably.

Friday attendance showed 1,068, Saturday 3,000, Sunday 5,100 and Labor Day, 5,500.

Armstrong said the beaches were closed Monday, and the boating is closed except for nice weekends during the next month or so. The picnic area is open yeararound, but the family camping area will close on Dec. 15.

All 150 camping sites were filled over the weekend, and there was an overflow of 15 who needed accommodations.

Connecticut Family Ends Visit In Rogers

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ritchie and daughters, Cathy and Donna, of New Haven, Conn., have concluded a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Ritchie of Rogers.

Mrs. H. G. Rudibaugh of Niles visited Friday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Swaney and daughter, Nancy, have returned from a tour of Western states.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent air holes in my cakes?

A.—By pouring your batter through a slit spoon.

Q.—How can I make varnish dry faster?

A.—Fill a shallow vessel with hot water and place the can of varnish in this while working. It will make your varnish flow easier, and it will also dry in a shorter time.

Q.—What can I do if, after removing a stain successfully from a fabric, I find that the cleaning fluid has left a ring?

A.—Try this: Let the cleaning fluid dry thoroughly, then hold the material over a steaming teakettle until the mark disappears.

Q.—Can you suggest an easy way for a girl to add a pleasant aroma to her personal stationery?

A.—Try putting a drop or so of your favorite perfume into your personal ink bottle or fountain pen. This should do the trick.

NAACP Names 5 To State Session

Five delegates to the state conference Sept. 18-20 in Toledo were named at the meeting of the East Liverpool NAACP chapter Saturday night at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex.

They will be Alonzo Spencer, president; Mrs. Dorothy E. Peters and Misses Suzanne Williams, Phyllis Mahone and Alice Loker.

Spencer was advised the chapter will be presented with the NAACP's leadership merit award. The award is based on membership and activities.

The group also voted to endorse the $3,380,000 school bond issue after hearing a talk on the need for the proposed construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings by Thomas H. Dixon, Westgate School principal.

Hancock College Unit Appoints Instructor

The appointment of Wilmon Boyd Culley of Weirton as part-time instructor in business administration at the Hancock County branch of West Liberty State College was announced by Dr. Paul N. Elbin, president of the college, and Supt. Robert H. Hall.

Culley, who received his master of business administration degree from Indiana University in 1960, has taught at Washington & Jefferson College and the College of Steubenville.

He was graduated from Weir High School in 1955. He is presently employed at Weirton Steel Co. engaged in incentive and methods work. He will teach mathematics of finance and introduction to business during the first semester at the branch college in Weirton.

Oak Glen Yearbook Distribution Starts

Distribution of copies of the Oak Glen High School yearbook, "Oak Leaf," got under way this afternoon at the school, Principal E. Russell Slack reported.

He asked students to bring their receipts of payment to the school office to obtain their copies.

A total of 525 copies of the record of last year's school activities will be handed out to the students.

Builder Has Sense Of Responsibility

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Builder Don Canter feels his responsibility to the purchaser doesn't end when the contract is signed for one of his custom - built homes. He wants the owners to be happy and get to know their neighbors.

For the fourth consecutive year Canter and the realtors handling the sale of his houses entertained residents of the development and prospective purchasers. The party was held in a recently completed new model home.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Rude Awakening Put Overweight On Right

Meet a refreshingly frank reducer who was jolted into taking action. Here is her story:

Ida Jean Kain

"I would like to pass along my motivation for losing weight. In January, I weighed 163½ pounds. I'm less than 5' 2", so I was really bulging at all seams.

"I didn't like what I saw in the mirror and was embarrassed when I was buying clothes. To get anything wide enough through the middle no other part of any garment fit.

"EVEN SO, I postponed action. But one day we were riding out in a farming area, and I noticed a large feed lot full of hogs being fattened for market. I asked myself if that were the impression I gave of myself to those around me. Right then and there I said to myself: 'This is it! Had the good Lord wanted me to be a hog He would have given me four feet.'

"My very next purchase was a good calorie counter. With pencil and paper in hand, I began counting calories. I checked on the food nutrients my body needed to be sure I was following a properly balanced diet. From this point, I took off for a slimmer me.

"I didn't even tell my husband, nor any of the family. I knew if they noticed any difference this would be proof that I was succeeding. The first two weeks I lost only 2½ pounds—not much, but a start; and I didn't want to lose fast and invite wrinkles. In about a month my family began to notice, and now (six months later) I think they are even more proud of my accomplishment than I am. I'm pretty proud, too. I now weigh 136 pounds.

"I weigh every morning. Some diet rules say once a week, but if I weigh just the tiny bit more than the previous morning, I eat on the 1,000 calorie mark or just under. I feel that by this plan I won't regain any fraction of what I have lost.

"IT TAKES a little extra time and effort on my part, but any good attempt requires this. The self-discipline is not only good for my body, but for my soul as well.

"I'm the mother of six. I have 14 grandchildren, and I fix all the good things they like to eat. "I feel so much better mentally. I was quite self-conscious about my excess weight. In closing, let me add that I am 62 years old and 'going strong.'

"I still hope to slim down another 10 pounds . . . and then retain the new leanness. I hope this will help someone else to decide to take matters in hand and count calories."

The greatest victory is the victory over self. Congratulations to this gallant grandmother.

Boy Hit By Wheel Off Race Car Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two-year-old Steven M. LaFollette of Cleveland died in Marymount Hospital today of head injuries suffered when he was hit by a wheel that flew off a stock car during a race.

The boy was injured Monday night at Cloverleaf Speedway. His father was hospitalized and a woman escaped with minor injuries.

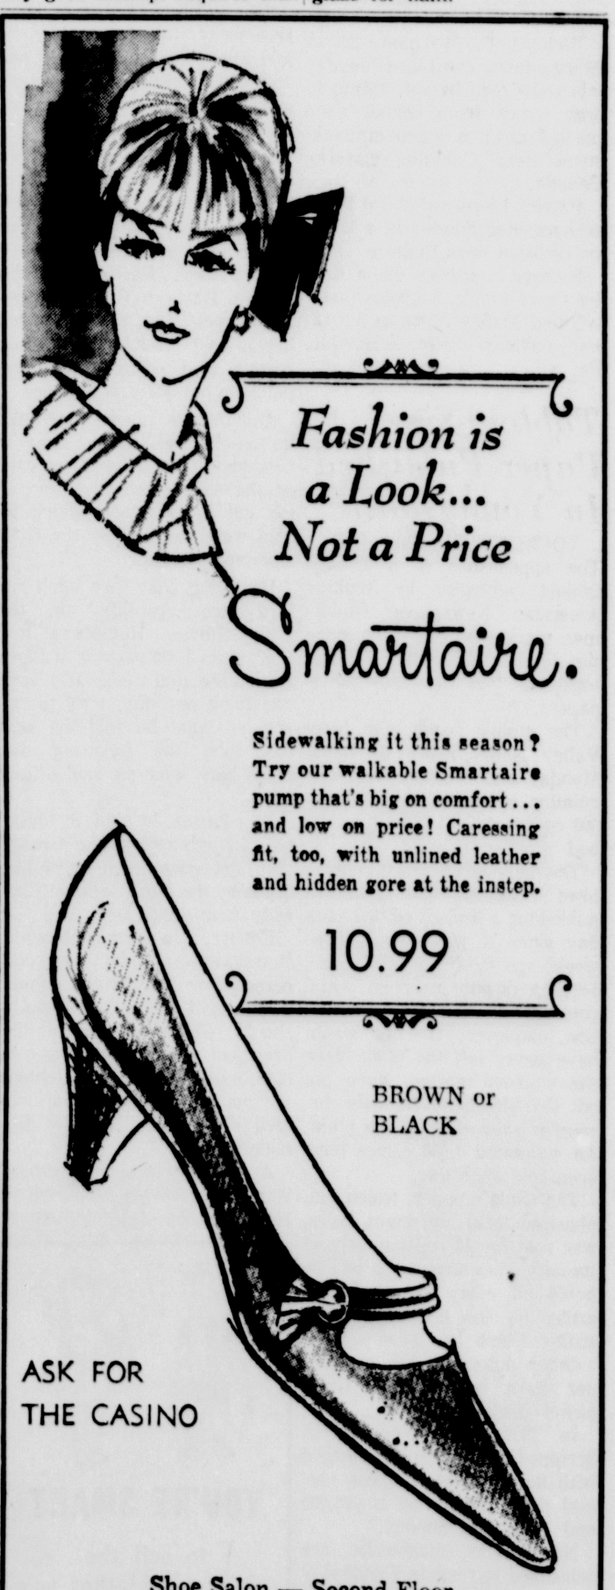

The boy's father, Herbert, 31, who also was hit by the tire, was listed in fair condition with chest injuries. Mrs. Loretta Fronczak, 36, also of Cleveland, was treated for injuries to her left side and released.

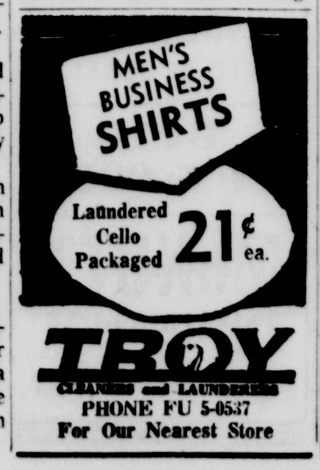

Pennsylvania Pike Wreck Claims Third

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa. (AP)—Patricia Lee Bigler, 16, of Rt. 1, Cambridge, Ohio, is the third person to die of a three-car collision on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

She died in Frick Memorial Hospital here Monday. Her sister, Constance, 17, and Lucille Rentas, 23, of Akron, Ohio, were killed in the accident Saturday. A fourth person, Frank L. Miller, 31, of Akron was in serious condition at Somerset Community Hospital.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband says you will answer my question with a flat "NO." I'm not so sure. Here it is anyway.

I'm 48, have three married children and two younger ones, 12 and 14 years of age.

The children always have been in the habit of getting up at 6:30 a.m. — school or not, rain or shine. They clean up their rooms and enjoy making their own breakfast. The 14-year-old is a boy and his French toast is better than mine.

My husband usually gets up when the kids do but he doesn't always eat breakfast at home. He feels, nonetheless, that I should get up every morning at 6:30 with the rest of the family. I would like to sleep until 7:30 or 8 one morning a week.

Am I lazy, as he claims? What is your opinion? — KIPSVILLE.

Dear Kip: A woman who has raised five children — three already out of the nest, and the other two apparently well trained and perfectly capable of preparing their own breakfast — has earned the right to hug the sack one measly morning a week if she wants to.

Pick your morning (in fact, be my guest, and pick TWO mornings) and tell the kids they can prepare Pa's breakfast on those days if he wishes to eat at home.

Foreign Affair

Dear Ann: I'm a girl, 16, who has been dating a very handsome boy who came to this country recently from France. He speaks English rather well and understands almost everything said to him except "NO." To put it another way, he has Roman hands and Russian impulses.

This boy is marvelous company when he behaves himself. His knowledge of history and politics is amazing. He plays the piano like a dream and has a beautiful singing voice. He knows a lot about poetry and painting. In fact, he's the best-educated person I've ever met.

I hate to think of breaking up with him. He's so good for me, culturally speaking. But it's becoming awfully hard to keep him in line. What is your advice? — BELINDA.

Dear Belinda: Get your culture from the library, the art galleries and the concert halls — where the price is not so high.

Comforting Thought

Dear Ann: I hope this letter will bring a measure of comfort to other women like myself, who have lost husbands—to younger women.

Eddie and I were married 29 years. I gave him a family any man would be proud of. I nursed him through three serious illnesses. Two years ago he had a bad heart attack. He recovered but the doctor told him he must take it easy.

On Christmas Day he asked me for a divorce — so he could marry a girl his daughter's age. I was shocked. The settlement was more than generous. I received most of the assets and Eddie assumed all the debts.

I felt beaten and disgraced. Then suddenly I saw it all so clearly. That young girl had taken an ailing man and all my financial burdens off my hands. Maybe she did me a favor after all. — FREE WOMAN.

Dear Woman: Despite your bitterness, it is apparent this rationale gives you a measure of comfort and a woman in your spot is entitled to all the comfort she can get.

Confidentially

SON: I'm sorry but the sex drive is psychological, which means it originates in the head. It is not an "inherited physical characteristic." The only thing that runs in THAT family is the male.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Charleston Fire Probed

CHARLESTON (AP) — Authorities were continuing an investigation today into a huge fire that destroyed a warehouse on Charleston's West Side Labor Day at a cost of about $1 million.

Seven fire companies, including 50 firemen, fought the blaze at the Dunbar Wholesale Co. for several hours Monday afternoon before bringing the fire under control.

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Saunders said the large ware house was engulfed in flames when the first truck arrived to answer the alarm. "We never had a ghost of a chance of saving the building," Saunders said.

Officials said Monday they believe the fire started after a workman in the warehouse dropped a package of matches which exploded. But they said an intensive inquiry will be made into the circumstances of the fire.

There were no injuries but six men working in the building had to flee when the fire started.

Throughout the fire, the firemen were faced with the threat of the blaze spreading to a 1,000 gallon underground gasoline storage tank beneath the burning building.

Saunders said the firefighters contained the fire and avoided an explosion by spraying the tank with high pressure hoses.

The building was used to store grocery store supplies. Nearly all the goods as well as the building were destroyed.

Officials of the wholesale firm said most of the damage will be covered by insurance.

New Miss America

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

May Be Taller, Older And Have Better Figure

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A new Miss America will be chosen Saturday night and chances are she'll be taller, older and have a better figure than her predecessors.

Odds are the heir to the tiara worn by Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., also will weigh more and have different color eyes but the same color hair as most of the 37 winners of the title.

That's the result of a composite look at the 50 girls, representing all the states, who are trying to become Miss America 1965.

The composite contestant stands a hair taller than 5-foot-6 compared with the 5-5 of previous winners and is 19½ years old compared with 19 years.

Her bust-waist-hips measurements run 35½-23-35½, compared to the 34 3-5-24-34 2-5 average measurements of previous Miss Americas.

Former title holders averaged 123¾ pounds. The composite of the current group is on the shy side of 129 pounds.

Each has brown hair but 18 of this year's group have brown eyes compared to the overwhelming majority of predecessors whose eyes were blue.

Pictures, rehearsals and a glittering parade are scheduled today, the first full day of the pageant. The girls registered with pageant headquarters Sunday.

Tonight, the girls will make their first public appearance in a boardwalk parade with grand marshal Perle Meste, the Washington hostess.

Electronic Nose

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Aimed At Sniffing Out Bombs Planted On Planes

CHICAGO (AP)—An electronic nose more sensitive than a bloodhound's is being developed to sniff out bombs planted aboard airliners.

The project conducted by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute was made possible by a $39,000 grant from the Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA has wrestled with the problem of aerial sabotage since Nov. 1, 1955, when a time bomb destroyed an airliner in flight near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. In all, the FAA estimates 191 persons have been killed by criminally placed bombs.

The feasibility of building an electronic bomb detecting device "looks good," research director Dr. Andrew Dravnieks, 52, said in an interview Monday, "but we are trying to make it practical.

"We are not yet at the stage where we can visualize a complete piece of equipment," Dravnieks said. "That is about 5 or 10 years away."

Dravnieks said he would report his findings to the FAA in December.

The electronic nose would operate on much the same principle as a human nose. A complex field of electrical detectors acutely sensitive to tiny amounts of vapor emitted by explosives would serve as olfactory nerves. An alarm, a bell or light, would act as a brain.

When molecules of an explosive material such as dynamite are detected, the disturbance will trigger the alarm.

Under controlled laboratory conditions, Dravnieks said, the lingering odor of dynamite can be detected in a box three weeks after the explosive has been removed. The problem now, he said, is making the nose discriminate between odors of explosives and those of harmless substances.

Boy Injured On Boat Prop

A Lisbon boy cut on a motorboat propeller and a city woman bitten by a dog were among seven area residents treated at City Hospital Monday.

Richard James, 12, son of Richard James, 130 Summit Rd., Lisbon, suffered a laceration of the foot on a boat prop while swimming.

Mrs. Janice Williams, 31, of 313 W. 9th St. received a wound of the left leg when bitten by a neighbor's dog.

Homer McCauley, 58, of 617 Washington Ave., Wellsville, suffered a bruised scalp in a fall after becoming faint while walking.

Kimberly Plum, daughter of Glenn Plum, 930 St. Clair Ave., received a cut of the forehead and upper lip in a fall out of a halted auto.

Galen Corbett, 8, son of Robert Corbett, 1120 Vine St., suffered a cut finger on a stone.

David Shroades, 3, son of Robert Shroades of Madison Heights, was treated for a laceration of the hand received on a stone.

Wreck Injuries Fatal To Canton Woman, 72

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Elsie Evy, 72, of Canton died at Good Semaritan Hospital early today of injuries she received in a three-car accident Saturday in Dayton.

Mrs. Evy's daughter, Elsie Buehler, 46, of Wooster, also injuried in the crash, remained in fair condition at the hospital.

The two women were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Evy's son-in-law, Kenneth Hanna, 45, of Greenville, which collided with two other autos. He was cited by police for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Nebo Grange To Elect

LISBON — The Mt. Nebo Grange will elect officers at its meeting Wednesday night at 8 in the Grange Hall with Carl Bailey, master, presiding.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Lettuce-Lovers: Months ago, we asked folks to write in and tell us how they preserved lettuce, got it crisp and crunchy and kept it from turning rusty-looking on the cut sides, etc. if kept a few days.

Many restaurants wrote in. Some said to clean the lettuce by soaking it in salt water, rinsing it, laying paper towels over it, and then topping with a few ice cubes.

Others wrote to lay paper towels in the bottom of the bowl to catch the drainage, after putting ice cubes under the towel.

Others used terry cloth towels filled with ice cubes, etc., but you can't KEEP lettuce using any of these methods without the rusty spots forming.

After trying all the suggestions, I think I can top them.

I got to figuring that if I could put a soap-filled pad under water for as long as two weeks . . . and as long as it was completely covered with the water it wouldn't rust . . . then why wouldn't it work for lettuce?

It did!

I filled up a plastic container with water, removed the outside leaves of the lettuce, cut the head of lettuce in half with a stainless steel knife, and plunged all the lettuce completely under water. I set this in my refrigerator and forgot it until I was ready to use it.

-:-

NEXT DAY I removed one-half of the lettuce, shook the ice water out, and proceeded from there to cut off as much as I needed for my salad.

Any portion that is left should be plunged back down in that iced water and replaced in the refrigerator for later use.

This will keep at least a weeks as long as I changed the water every five days.

You have never in your life tasted such crunchy lettuce! And look at the money we are going to save by not having rust form.

People who do not have plastic containers can cut the top off a big bleach bottle, rinse and then use this for a lettuce container.

Heads of lettuce may be quartered for easy insertion into the containers. I do NOT recommend cutting them any smaller.

If you buy a big head of lettuce which is wrapped in plastic, and which won't go into your container . . . BEFORE removing the plastic, cut directly through plastic and all, remove half the head and use the above method.

THE REMAINING portion of plastic may be drawn over the cut half of the head and this put in your hydrator for future use.

There were two schools of thought when it came to breaking lettuce or cutting it up for salads.

Those who said breaking it was the only way, gave no reason. We found that the heat from our hands sort of wilted the lettuce when compared to cutting it.

One famous chain of restaurants wrote that they NEVER break lettuce with their hands because it bruises the leaves, removes the crispness, etc. They all suggested sharp, stainless steel knives.

Hotels cut a head in half, turn the cut side down on a cutting board, then slice away, making pieces any size they desire. They use stainless steel spoons to toss it with (NEVER WARM HANDS) so the pieces will separate. This we found to be perfect . . . quick and easy.

IN THE LAST few months I have learned that the above method can be used with many different kinds of lettuce.

And now that I have found the perfect answer, I'm going to quit trying different methods and stick to this.

A few more hints from authorities:

NEVER salt lettuce until just before serving (causes it to wilt). Of course, it's all right to wash it in salt water, and then rinse. NEVER put your dressing on until just before you put it on the table (causes soggy wilts, too).

All restaurateurs recommended serving in chilled wooden bowls.

So . . . happy savings with your next head of lettuce (no need to waste a leaf now) and nondroopy salad . . . without rust.

Girl, 17, Kills Self In Shotgun Accident

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Miss Rebecca Ann Wright, 17, accidentally killed herself with a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun in her home in Bristol Township, the Trumbull County coroner has ruled.

The victim's father, Hayes Wright, found his daughter lying on the floor with a gunshot wound in the neck when he returned from an errand Sunday night. He told authorities he had refused his daughter permission to shoot the shotgun when he and she were target shooting with a .22-caliber rifle earlier that afternoon.

Two Fatally Injured In Crash Of Truck

BUTLER, Ind. (AP)—Ronald Mack, 21, of Rt. 1, Edgerton, Ohio, was killed Monday when a pickup truck towing a stock car to the Angola Speedway crashed along a DeKalb County road.

Officials said Mack and Harvey Fry, 27, of Butler were thrown from the truck bed when the stock car began to sway, causing the truck to bounce into a ditch. Fry died a few hours later in an Angola hospital.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 8, the 252nd day of 1964. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1636, Harvard College was established. The Colony Court of Massachusetts agreed to provide funds for the school which was to be located in Cambridge.

On this date:

In 1760, Wisconsin became English territory; it formerly was controlled by France.

In 1934, the luxury liner Morro Castle burned off the coast of New Jersey with a loss of 134 lives.

In 1935, Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana was assassinated in the Capitol at Baton Rouge by Dr. Carl Weiss, who was killed on the spot by state police.

In 1900, more than 6,000 persons were lost when a hurricane, floods and a tidal wave struck the Galveston, Tex., area.

Ten years ago — Pope Pius opened the World Congress of Marian Congregations before 25,000 pilgrims in St. Peter's Basilica.

Five years ago — The Civil Rights Commission reported to President Dwight D. Eisenhower that many Negroes still were being denied voting rights through legal technicalities and threats of reprisals.

One year ago — Quintuplets were born to a 34-year-old grandmother in Venezuela, the third such birth officially recorded in the Western Hemisphere.

Columbus Youth Fair With Stab Wound

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Harry Crabtree, 18, of Columbus, was reported in fair condition at South Side Hospital with a stab wound he received while waiting to board a bus near the Greyhound terminal.

Police said Crabtree was stabbed by another 18-year-old youth, who was expelled from the new Mahoning Valley Technical School at Youngstown Municipal Airport because of Crabtree.

Housewife Continues Fast In Her Protest To Housing

CINCINNATI (AP)—A young white housewife was expected to complete a week's fast today as part of a demonstration protesting conditions at the Standish Apartments, a building occupied by Negroes.

Mrs. Judy Menzi, who says she has lost 12 pounds, said Monday night she plans to leave the City Hall steps for the first time since last Wednesday to register her five-year-old son in school. After that, she will rejoin the sit-in.

Mrs. Menzi's hunger strike began last Tuesday when the local Congress of Racial Equality started demonstrating at the home of Irwin S. Rhodes, landlord of the Standish. The demonstration was moved to the City Hall steps the next day and Mrs. Menzi was joined in her fast by Alistair MacIntyre, a University of Cncinnati junior who was born in Scotland.

McIntrye said Monday night he has been drinking soft drinks and fruit juice, and lost 10 pounds. Mrs. Menzi, whose husband is an Episcopal minister, told newsmen she is "in good condition."

About 100 persons joined in the sit-in on its first day, but since then the number of persons sitting on the steps has generally varied between seven and a dozen.

CORE officials said that another young woman who joined the hunger strike quit Monday after three days.

City's Civil Defense Groups Meet Tonight

The East Liverpool Civil Defense will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex with Dennis Smith, deputy director, in charge. All units are to report.

The land rescue team will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Central Fire Station, Kenneth Long said. Fourteen men and two vehicles took part in the Jaycee parade at Wellsville Monday.

Bishop, 62, Dies

SEATTLE (AP) — The Rt. Rev. William Lewis, 62, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Olympia, Wash., died Sunday.

Erie-West Virginia Freeway Gets Boost

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said Monday no other roadbuilding project in Pennsylvania has a higher priority than the Erie - West Virginia freeway.

"We are going to move this highway just as fast as is humanly possible," Scranton said in a routine status report on the proposed 184-mile road.

He said the highways department told him that construction bids will be taken on another 37 miles of the freeway before the end of the year, bringing to nearly 54 miles the total advertised since June.

A total of 22 miles is in use and right-of-way plans for another 52 miles have been approved.

Dear Belinda: Get your culture from the library, the art galleries and the concert halls — where the price is not so high.

Comforting Thought

Dear Ann: I hope this letter will bring a measure of comfort to other women like myself, who have lost husbands—to younger women.

Eddie and I were married 29 years. I gave him a family any man would be proud of. I nursed him through three serious illnesses. Two years ago he had a bad heart attack. He recovered but the doctor told him he must take it easy.

On Christmas Day he asked me for a divorce — so he could marry a girl his daughter's age. I was shocked. The settlement was more than generous. I received most of the assets and Eddie assumed all the debts.

I felt beaten and disgraced. Then suddenly I saw it all so clearly. That young girl had taken an ailing man and all my financial burdens off my hands. Maybe she did me a favor after all. — FREE WOMAN.

Dear Woman: Despite your bitterness, it is apparent this rationale gives you a measure of comfort and a woman in your spot is entitled to all the comfort she can get.

Confidentially

SON: I'm sorry but the sex drive is psychological, which means it originates in the head. It is not an "inherited physical characteristic." The only thing that runs in THAT family is the male.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Lettuce-Lovers: Months ago, we asked folks to write in and tell us how they preserved lettuce, got it crisp and crunchy and kept it from turning rusty-looking on the cut sides, etc. if kept a few days.

Many restaurants wrote in. Some said to clean the lettuce by soaking it in salt water, rinsing it, laying paper towels over it, and then topping with a few ice cubes.

Others wrote to lay paper towels in the bottom of the bowl to catch the drainage, after putting ice cubes under the towel.

Others used terry cloth towels filled with ice cubes, etc., but you can't KEEP lettuce using any of these methods without the rusty spots forming.

After trying all the suggestions, I think I can top them.

I got to figuring that if I could put a soap-filled pad under water for as long as two weeks . . . and as long as it was completely covered with the water it wouldn't rust . . . then why wouldn't it work for lettuce?

It did!

I filled up a plastic container with water, removed the outside leaves of the lettuce, cut the head of lettuce in half with a stainless steel knife, and plunged all the lettuce completely under water. I set this in my refrigerator and forgot it until I was ready to use it.

-:-

NEXT DAY I removed one-half of the lettuce, shook the ice water out, and proceeded from there to cut off as much as I needed for my salad.

Any portion that is left should be plunged back down in that iced water and replaced in the refrigerator for later use.

This will keep at least a weeks as long as I changed the water every five days.

You have never in your life tasted such crunchy lettuce! And look at the money we are going to save by not having rust form.

People who do not have plastic containers can cut the top off a big bleach bottle, rinse and then use this for a lettuce container.

Heads of lettuce may be quartered for easy insertion into the containers. I do NOT recommend cutting them any smaller.

If you buy a big head of lettuce which is wrapped in plastic, and which won't go into your container . . . BEFORE removing the plastic, cut directly through plastic and all, remove half the head and use the above method.

THE REMAINING portion of plastic may be drawn over the cut half of the head and this put in your hydrator for future use.

There were two schools of thought when it came to breaking lettuce or cutting it up for salads.

Those who said breaking it was the only way, gave no reason. We found that the heat from our hands sort of wilted the lettuce when compared to cutting it.

One famous chain of restaurants wrote that they NEVER break lettuce with their hands because it bruises the leaves, removes the crispness, etc. They all suggested sharp, stainless steel knives.

Hotels cut a head in half, turn the cut side down on a cutting board, then slice away, making pieces any size they desire. They use stainless steel spoons to toss it with (NEVER WARM HANDS) so the pieces will separate. This we found to be perfect . . . quick and easy.

-:-

IN THE LAST few months I have learned that the above method can be used with many different kinds of lettuce.

And now that I have found the perfect answer, I'm going to quit trying different methods and stick to this.

A few more hints from authorities:

NEVER salt lettuce until just before serving (causes it to wilt). Of course, it's all right to wash it in salt water, and then rinse. NEVER put your dressing on until just before you put it on the table (causes soggy wilts, too).

All restaurateurs recommended serving in chilled wooden bowls.

So . . . happy savings with your next head of lettuce (no need to waste a leaf now) and nondroopy salad . . . without rust.

HELOISE.

Girl, 17, Kills Self In Shotgun Accident

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Miss Rebecca Ann Wright, 17, accidentally killed herself with a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun in her home in Bristol Township, the Trumbull County coroner has ruled.

The victim's father, Hayes Wright, found his daughter lying on the floor with a gunshot wound in the neck when he returned from an errand Sunday night. He told authorities he had refused his daughter permission to shoot the shotgun when he and she were target shooting with a .22-caliber rifle earlier that afternoon.

Two Fatally Injured In Crash Of Truck

BUTLER, Ind. (AP)—Ronald Mack, 21, of Rt. 1, Edgerton, Ohio, was killed Monday when a pickup truck towing a stock car to the Angola Speedway crashed along a DeKalb County road.

Officials said Mack and Harvey Fry, 27, of Butler were thrown from the truck bed when the stock car began to sway, causing the truck to bounce into a ditch. Fry died a few hours later in an Angola hospital.

Charleston Fire Probed

CHARLESTON (AP) — Authorities were continuing an investigation today into a huge fire that destroyed a warehouse on Charleston's West Side Labor Day at a cost of about $1 million.

Seven fire companies, including 50 firemen, fought the blaze at the Dunbar Wholesale Co. for several hours Monday afternoon before bringing the fire under control.

Asst. Fire Chief Claude Saunders said the large ware house was engulfed in flames when the first truck arrived to answer the alarm. "We never had a ghost of a chance of saving the building," Saunders said.

Officials said Monday they believe the fire started after a workman in the warehouse dropped a package of matches which exploded. But they said an intensive inquiry will be made into the circumstances of the fire.

There were no injuries but six men working in the building had to flee when the fire started.

Throughout the fire, the firemen were faced with the threat of the blaze spreading to a 1,000 gallon underground gasoline storage tank beneath the burning building.

Saunders said the firefighters contained the fire and avoided an explosion by spraying the tank with high pressure hoses.

The building was used to store grocery store supplies. Nearly all the goods as well as the building were destroyed.

Officials of the wholesale firm said most of the damage will be covered by insurance.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Sept. 8, the 252nd day of 1964. There are 114 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1636, Harvard College was established. The Colony Court of Massachusetts agreed to provide funds for the school which was to be located in Cambridge.

On this date:

In 1760, Wisconsin became English territory; it formerly was controlled by France.

In 1934, the luxury liner Morro Castle burned off the coast of New Jersey with a loss of 134 lives.

In 1935, Sen. Huey Long of Louisiana was assassinated in the Capitol at Baton Rouge by Dr. Carl Weiss, who was killed on the spot by state police.

In 1900, more than 6,000 persons were lost when a hurricane, floods and a tidal wave struck the Galveston, Tex., area.

Ten years ago — Pope Pius opened the World Congress of Marian Congregations before 25,000 pilgrims in St. Peter's Basilica.

Five years ago — The Civil Rights Commission reported to President Dwight D. Eisenhower that many Negroes still were being denied voting rights through legal technicalities and threats of reprisals.

One year ago — Quintuplets were born to a 34-year-old grandmother in Venezuela, the third such birth officially recorded in the Western Hemisphere.

Columbus Youth Fair With Stab Wound

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Harry Crabtree, 18, of Columbus, was reported in fair condition at South Side Hospital with a stab wound he received while waiting to board a bus near the Greyhound terminal.

Police said Crabtree was stabbed by another 18-year-old youth, who was expelled from the new Mahoning Valley Technical School at Youngstown Municipal Airport because of Crabtree.

New Miss America

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

May Be Taller, Older And Have Better Figure

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A new Miss America will be chosen Saturday night and chances are she'll be taller, older and have a better figure than her predecessors.

Odds are the heir to the tiara worn by Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., also will weigh more and have different color eyes but the same color hair as most of the 37 winners of the title.

That's the result of a composite look at the 50 girls, representing all the states, who are trying to become Miss America 1965.

The composite contestant stands a hair taller than 5-foot-6 compared with the 5-5 of previous winners and is 19½ years old compared with 19 years.

Her bust-waist-hips measurements run 35½-23-35½, compared to the 34 3-5-24-34 2-5 average measurements of previous Miss Americas.

Former title holders averaged 123¾ pounds. The composite of the current group is on the shy side of 129 pounds.

Each has brown hair but 18 of this year's group have brown eyes compared to the overwhelming majority of predecessors whose eyes were blue.

Pictures, rehearsals and a glittering parade are scheduled today, the first full day of the pageant. The girls registered with pageant headquarters Sunday.

Tonight, the girls will make their first public appearance in a boardwalk parade with grand marshal Perle Meste, the Washington hostess.

Electronic Nose

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Aimed At Sniffing Out Bombs Planted On Planes

CHICAGO (AP)—An electronic nose more sensitive than a bloodhound's is being developed to sniff out bombs planted aboard airliners.

The project conducted by the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute was made possible by a $39,000 grant from the Federal Aviation Agency.

The FAA has wrestled with the problem of aerial sabotage since Nov. 1, 1955, when a time bomb destroyed an airliner in flight near Longmont, Colo., killing 44 persons. In all, the FAA estimates 191 persons have been killed by criminally placed bombs.

The feasibility of building an electronic bomb detecting device "looks good," research director Dr. Andrew Dravnieks, 52, said in an interview Monday, "but we are trying to make it practical.

"We are not yet at the stage where we can visualize a complete piece of equipment," Dravnieks said. "That is about 5 or 10 years away."

Dravnieks said he would report his findings to the FAA in December.

The electronic nose would operate on much the same principle as a human nose. A complex field of electrical detectors acutely sensitive to tiny amounts of vapor emitted by explosives would serve as olfactory nerves. An alarm, a bell or light, would act as a brain.

When molecules of an explosive material such as dynamite are detected, the disturbance will trigger the alarm.

Under controlled laboratory conditions, Dravnieks said, the lingering odor of dynamite can be detected in a box three weeks after the explosive has been removed. The problem now, he said, is making the nose discriminate between odors of explosives and those of harmless substances.

Housewife Continues Fast In Her Protest To Housing

CINCINNATI (AP)—A young white housewife was expected to complete a week's fast today as part of a demonstration protesting conditions at the Standish Apartments, a building occupied by Negroes.

Mrs. Judy Menzi, who says she has lost 12 pounds, said Monday night she plans to leave the City Hall steps for the first time since last Wednesday to register her five-year-old son in school. After that, she will rejoin the sit-in.

Mrs. Menzi's hunger strike began last Tuesday when the local Congress of Racial Equality started demonstrating at the home of Irwin S. Rhodes, landlord of the Standish. The demonstration was moved to the City Hall steps the next day and Mrs. Menzi was joined in her fast by Alistair MacIntyre, a University of Cncinnati junior who was born in Scotland.

McIntrye said Monday night he has been drinking soft drinks and fruit juice, and lost 10 pounds. Mrs. Menzi, whose husband is an Episcopal minister, told newsmen she is "in good condition."

About 100 persons joined in the sit-in on its first day, but since then the number of persons sitting on the steps has generally varied between seven and a dozen.

CORE officials said that another young woman who joined the hunger strike quit Monday after three days.

City's Civil Defense Groups Meet Tonight

The East Liverpool Civil Defense will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Potters Savings & Loan Co. annex with Dennis Smith, deputy director, in charge. All units are to report.

The land rescue team will meet Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Central Fire Station, Kenneth Long said. Fourteen men and two vehicles took part in the Jaycee parade at Wellsville Monday.

Bishop, 62, Dies

SEATTLE (AP) — The Rt. Rev. William Lewis, 62, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Olympia, Wash., died Sunday.

Erie-West Virginia Freeway Gets Boost

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said Monday no other roadbuilding project in Pennsylvania has a higher priority than the Erie - West Virginia freeway.

"We are going to move this highway just as fast as is humanly possible," Scranton said in a routine status report on the proposed 184-mile road.

He said the highways department told him that construction bids will be taken on another 37 miles of the freeway before the end of the year, bringing to nearly 54 miles the total advertised since June.

A total of 22 miles is in use and right-of-way plans for another 52 miles have been approved.

Boy Injured On Boat Prop

A Lisbon boy cut on a motorboat propeller and a city woman bitten by a dog were among seven area residents treated at City Hospital Monday.

Richard James, 12, son of Richard James, 130 Summit Rd., Lisbon, suffered a laceration of the foot on a boat prop while swimming.

Mrs. Janice Williams, 31, of 313 W. 9th St. received a wound of the left leg when bitten by a neighbor's dog.

Homer McCauley, 58, of 617 Washington Ave., Wellsville, suffered a bruised scalp in a fall after becoming faint while walking.

Kimberly Plum, daughter of Glenn Plum, 930 St. Clair Ave., received a cut of the forehead and upper lip in a fall out of a halted auto.

Galen Corbett, 8, son of Robert Corbett, 1120 Vine St., suffered a cut finger on a stone.

David Shroades, 3, son of Robert Shroades of Madison Heights, was treated for a laceration of the hand received on a stone.

Wreck Injuries Fatal To Canton Woman, 72

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Elsie Evy, 72, of Canton died at Good Samaritan Hospital early today of injuries she received in a three-car accident Saturday in Dayton.

Mrs. Evy's daughter, Elsie Buehler, 46, of Wooster, also injuried in the crash, remained in fair condition at the hospital.

The two women were passengers in a car driven by Mrs. Evy's son-in-law, Kenneth Hanna, 45, of Greenville, which collided with two other autos. He was cited by police for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Nebo Grange To Elect

LISBON — The Mt. Nebo Grange will elect officers at its meeting Wednesday night at 8 in the Grange Hall with Carl Bailey, master, presiding.

Including 3 Trouble Spots

More Schools In South Start Integrated Classes

By The Associated Press

More public schools begin integrated classes today, including former trouble spots such as Prince Edward County, Va., Albany, Ga., and Gadsden, Ala.

Fourteen Negroes and 59 white pupils were enrolled at Tuskegee (Ala.) High School Monday. There was no trouble like that which forced the school to close seven months ago.

Prince Edward County bows to federal court orders and opens the doors to public school rooms for the first time since 1958-59.

But only seven white pupils are expected to attend the public schools with 1,600 Negroes. The other white pupils will continue to attend private schools set up when the county closed the schools to escape court-ordered desegregation.

The faculty in Prince Edward County also will be integrated, with 9 white teachers and 59 Negro teachers.

School authorities at Albany, Ga., planned to desegregate the 1st, 2nd and 12th grades under federal court orders.

Hundreds of demonstrators have been arrested in racial clashes in Albany during the past two years, but school officials expect no trouble.

Negroes also will attend white schools at Gadsden, Ala., for the first time. Although 38 Negro pupils applied for transfer to the white schools, it was not known immediately how many would be accepted.

Gadsden, a northeast Alabama city of more than 58,000, has been the scene of racial tension in the past. However, no difficulties have arisen recently.

Segregation barriers also will fall at Montgomery, Ala., as eight Negro pupils enter previously white schools in the first capitol of the Confederacy. Six will go to high schools and two to Harrison Elementary School where an effort was first made 10 years ago to allow Negroes to enter. This year, the integration is under federal court order.

Schools also are being integrated at Mount Sterling, Ky., where 227 pupils, displaced by the burning of a Negro school, enter classes.

Besides the 227 Negro pupils entering city schools at Mount Sterling, 111 other Negro pupils enter county schools.

Three fires, including the one at the school, have broken out in the Negro section of Mount Sterling since Negro parents threatened a suit and a school boycott in support of demands for desegregation.

Ohio's Fair Sets Record In Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 111th Ohio State Fair has passed into history with fair officials claiming an all-time attendance record and already planning for next year's explosition.

State Fair manager E. J. Keirns estimated Monday's crowd at 57,545 and said the attendance record for the 11 days of the fair would be in the neighborhood of 645,000 when receipts were tallied.

The largest previous crowd was set last year when 623,630 persons passed through the gates.

Monday's crowds were swelled when the fair let in youths and children 17 years old and under free of charge. At 6 p.m. the gates were thrown open to free of charge to adults and children alike.

Fair attendance sagged last week after starting off the first three days with crowds larger than those of last year. But the surge of Labor Day weekend fairgoers apparently made up for the midweek deficit.

The highlight of Monday's program was auto racing. Chuck Rodee of Speedway, Ind., won the featured 100 lap, 50-mile "Buckeye 100" for 110 Offenhausers after setting a track record of 25.38 seconds in the time trials. Rodee won $2,000 of the $5,000 purse.

Ohio's Exposition Commission has said that many improvements will be made at the fairgrounds before next year's fair.

Officials also say they plan to take a critical look at the grandstand entertainment. The low attendance at the various shows was an especially sore spot to the fair's producers.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who was seen among the crowds practically every day, met several times during the fair with officials and exhibitors to see where the big show can be improved.

Masons Register 1,365 At Outing

LISBON — There were 1,365 Masons registered for the eighth annual outdoor meeting of the 24th Masonic District Labor Day morning at the Lynn Riddle farm off Roller Coaster Rd.

Attending from the Grand Lodge of Ohio were Colin B. Montis of Cleveland, grand master; Ralph Francisco of Dayton, junior grand master, and Ed Jenkins of Winona, grand tyler.

Sulgrave Lodge 696 of Youngstown was host and opened the lodge meeting. Myron Kelly of Salem announced the officers, who conferred the Mastor Mason's degree.

Masons from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia attended the outing. Coffee and doughnuts were served before lodge opened.

Hungary, Cleveland's Eaton Sign Trade Pact

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) An agreement to develop trade between Cleveland, Ohio, industrialist Cyrus Eaton Sr.'s industrial and banking concerns and Hungarian state trade companies has been signed here, the Hungarian News Agency MTI reports.

The agency said Cyrus Eaton Jr. signed the pact after a week-long visit to Hungary of the younger Eaton and a group of American businessmen associated with the Eaton concern.

Western Traders Courting Business Of Red Germany

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Western traders — especially the British — are courting Communist East Germany's business. They say West Germany is trying to block them.

The traders are here in large numbers for the autumn Leipzig Trade Fair, largest in the Communist world. One of the most vocal complaints about West German opposition came from Brunaby Drayson, Conservative member of the British Parliament from a Yorkshire agricultural area.

In an interview, Drayson said the West Germans are trying by political and other means to keep Western countries from trading with East Germany. He said British businessmen were insisting on a fair share of the market.

West Germany is the biggest Western trader with East Germany. Total trade both ways ran to about $437 million last year. West German officials, although insisting on official nonrecognition of the Communist regime, contend trade is a domestic matter and may help achieve German reunification.

The British buy most of East German potash exports, about 6 million tons a year. Drayson said the East Germans are prepared to shave the price a few shillings per ton below what suppliers from other countries are asking.

Drayson said the quality of East German potash is exactly the same as West German potash since both countries are mining it from the same fields.

Harriman Cites Main Issues In Coming Election

CINCINNATI (AP) — The main issues in the coming presidential election are "hope and good will against fear and suspicion," says undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Harriman came to Cincinnati Monday to speak to the Cincinnati AFL-CIO Labor Council's Labor Day Festival at Ross, Ky.

The undersecretary for political affairs told the festival crowd the present prosperity was the result of policies of the Democratic administration, and urged them to keep the Democrats in office.

He said earlier at an airport news conference he did not expect the Communists to make any gestures that might have an influence on the election because the Russians "are against both the Republicans and the Democrats, and aside from Khrushchev's desire to avoid war with the U. S. they have nothing in common with us."

Wellsville Rifle Club To Resume Practice

Wellsville's Jaycee Junior Rifle Club will resume weekly shooting sessions Wednesday night at the City Hall range.

The club has not been meeting during the summer. The meetings are Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p. m., according to Dan MacLean, instructor.

Members will continue to work for various qualifications and begin a match for the club championship.

A business meeting will be held within a few weeks to elect officers for the coming year and renew the charter for the third time with the National Rifle Association.

MacLean said there are some openings for new members, boys or girls from 12 to 18.

Firemen 'Labor' Monday—4 Calls

Labor Day was just that for city firemen who quelled four fires Monday.

North Side firemen were called at 1904 Allison St. at 3:25 p. m. to quell a fire in a pile of lumber. Firemen said burning papers set fire to the lumber.

Firemen from Central spent 90 minutes extinguishing grass fires at the foot of Market St. and at the end of W. 3rd St. below the freeway.

Firemen were called to Market St. at 4:40 p. m. and went to W. 3rd St. after receiving a radioed report of the other blaze.

East End firemen were called to Maple St. at 6:11 p.m. after railroad ties were ignited from an undetermined cause.

Southern Local Plans For Schools' Opening

Southern Local School District teachers met this morning in preparation for the start of classes Wednesday.

Jack Baker, executive head, said the staff is now complete with the hiring of Edward Henry of near Chettles Lake as a sixth grade teacher at Salineville. He will also serve as a coaching aide.

An enrollment of 1,435 is expected for the district, an increase of 30 alone at the high school. The Board of Education will meet next Monday night.

Woman Is Fined $30 On Charge At Lisbon

LISBON — Mrs. Jean Burchett Lewis of Salineville R. D. 2, who pleaded "not guilty", was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Dean Stockman Monday on a larceny charge.

The charge was made in an affidavit filed by Edwin H. Cusick, an employe of the Hillyer IGA, in an alleged theft of $3 worth of meat.

Mrs. Lewis said a package of lunch meat had been placed in her purse by her 4-year-old son without her knowledge while she was doing her shopping.

Lisbon Jaycees Set

LISBON — Nominating a member for "Jaycee of the Month," will be the main business for the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 9 p. m. in the Morgan Building. Walter Thomas, president, will preside.

Crucible Crew Snags Runaway River Fleet

The small diesel towboat Cherokee and two tank barges drifted loose from the Standard Oil Co. dock above Midland Monday but the fleet's drifting journey downstream ended about a mile away at the Crucible Steel Co.'s docks — where it was lassoed.

With little current and no wind, the runaway drifted slowly into view of Crucible river crewmen who tossed a hawser and snagged the fleet as it passed the mill's riverside facility.

The Cherokee operates on the Ohio between Pittsburgh and Charleston for the Seneca Oil Co. of Cleveland and hauls barges of petroleum products.

Board Meeting Slated In Beaver Local Area

The Beaver Local School District Board of Education will meet tonight at 7 at the Public School, and is slated to attend a meeting of the Association for Advancement of Beaver Local Education at 8.

Some 2,550 students are expected to enroll for the fall term, which begins Wednesday morning. Teachers met this morning with Roy Cashdollar, executive head, and other officials, and were to be in classrooms this afternoon preparing for the first - day classes.

Lisbon Meeting Slated By School Executives

LISBON — The first fall meeting for the chief school administrators of Columbiana County will be held Friday noon at the Wick Hotel.

A representative of the County Mental Health Clinic will discuss the clinic located on E. Lincoln Way. County Supt. James L. McBride will preside.

County Search Yields No Suspect In Attack

LISBON — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies and the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon conducted a brief search Sunday for a youth suspected of an attack upon an 11-year-old girl near Austintown Saturday.

The 19-year-old youth was reported hitch - hiking along Route 7 south of Lisbon, but a search yielded no one matching his description.

Ruritan Reports Due

LISBON — Reports of all Ruritan lieutenant governors in Ohio will be presented at a meeting Wednesday night at 7 at Aldom's Restaurant near Alliance Richard Brian of East Liverpool, lieutenant governor of Zone 8, said. Ralph Schneider of North Georgetown is Ohio governor.

Including 3 Trouble Spots

More Schools In South Start Integrated Classes

By The Associated Press

More public schools begin integrated classes today, including former trouble spots such as Prince Edward County, Va., Albany, Ga., and Gadsden, Ala.

Fourteen Negroes and 59 white pupils were enrolled at Tuskegee (Ala.) High School Monday. There was no trouble like that which forced the school to close seven months ago.

Prince Edward County bows to federal court orders and opens the doors to public school rooms for the first time since 1958-59.

But only seven white pupils are expected to attend the public schools with 1,600 Negroes. The other white pupils will continue to attend private schools set up when the county closed the schools to escape court-ordered desegregation.

The faculty in Prince Edward County also will be integrated, with 9 white teachers and 59 Negro teachers.

School authorities at Albany, Ga., planned to desegregate the 1st, 2nd and 12th grades under federal court orders.

Hundreds of demonstrators have been arrested in racial clashes in Albany during the past two years, but school officials expect no trouble.

Negroes also will attend white schools at Gadsden, Ala., for the first time. Although 38 Negro pupils applied for transfer to the white schools, it was not known immediately how many would be accepted.

Gadsden, a northeast Alabama city of more than 58,000, has been the scene of racial tension in the past. However, no difficulties have arisen recently.

Segregation barriers also will fall at Montgomery, Ala., as eight Negro pupils enter previously white schools in the first capitol of the Confederacy. Six will go to high schools and two to Harrison Elementary School where an effort was first made 10 years ago to allow Negroes to enter. This year, the integration is under federal court order.

Schools also are being integrated at Mount Sterling, Ky., where 227 pupils, displaced by the burning of a Negro school, enter classes.

Besides the 227 Negro pupils entering city schools at Mount Sterling, 111 other Negro pupils enter county schools.

Three fires, including the one at the school, have broken out in the Negro section of Mount Sterling since Negro parents threatened a suit and a school boycott in support of demands for desegregation.

Western Traders Courting Business Of Red Germany

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP) — Western traders — especially the British — are courting Communist East Germany's business. They say West Germany is trying to block them.

The traders are here in large numbers for the autumn Leipzig Trade Fair, largest in the Communist world. One of the most vocal complaints about West German opposition came from Brunaby Drayson, Conservative member of the British Parliament from a Yorkshire agricultural area.

In an interview, Drayson said the West Germans are trying by political and other means to keep Western countries from trading with East Germany. He said British businessmen were insisting on a fair share of the market.

West Germany is the biggest Western trader with East Germany. Total trade both ways ran to about $437 million last year. West German officials, although insisting on official nonrecognition of the Communist regime, contend trade is a domestic matter and may help achieve German reunification.

The British buy most of East German potash exports, about 6 million tons a year. Drayson said the East Germans are prepared to shave the price a few shillings per ton below what suppliers from other countries are asking.

Drayson said the quality of East German potash is exactly the same as West German potash since both countries are mining it from the same fields.

Firemen 'Labor' Monday–4 Calls

Labor Day was just that for city firemen who quelled four fires Monday.

North Side firemen were called at 1904 Allison St. at 3:25 p. m. to quell a fire in a pile of lumber. Firemen said burning papers set fire to the lumber.

Firemen from Central spent 90 minutes extinguishing grass fires at the foot of Market St. and at the end of W. 3rd St. below the freeway.

Firemen were called to Market St. at 4:40 p. m. and went to W. 3rd St. after receiving a radioed report of the other blaze.

East End firemen were called to Maple St. at 6:11 p.m. after railroad ties were ignited from an undetermined cause.

Southern Local Plans For Schools' Opening

Southern Local School District teachers met this morning in preparation for the start of classes Wednesday.

Jack Baker, executive head, said the staff is now complete with the hiring of Edward Henry of near Chettles Lake as a sixth grade teacher at Salineville. He will also serve as a coaching aide.

An enrollment of 1,435 is expected for the district, an increase of 30 alone at the high school. The Board of Education will meet next Monday night.

Woman Is Fined $30 On Charge At Lisbon

LISBON — Mrs. Jean Burchett Lewis of Salineville R. D. 2, who pleaded "not guilty", was fined $25 and costs by Mayor Dean Stockman Monday on a larceny charge.

The charge was made in an affidavit filed by Edwin H. Cusick, an employe of the Hillyer IGA, in an alleged theft of $3 worth of meat.

Mrs. Lewis said a package of lunch meat had been placed in her purse by her 4-year-old son without her knowledge while she was doing her shopping.

Lisbon Jaycees Set

LISBON — Nominating a member for "Jaycee of the Month," will be the main business for the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 9 p. m. in the Morgan Building. Walter Thomas, president, will preside.

Crucible Crew Snags Runaway River Fleet

The small diesel towboat Cherokee and two tank barges drifted loose from the Standard Oil Co. dock above Midland Monday but the fleet's drifting journey downstream ended about a mile away at the Crucible Steel Co.'s docks — where it was lassoed.

With little current and no wind, the runaway drifted slowly into view of Crucible river crewmen who tossed a hawser and snagged the fleet as it passed the mill's riverside facility.

The Cherokee operates on the Ohio between Pittsburgh and Charleston for the Seneca Oil Co. of Cleveland and hauls barges of petroleum products.

Board Meeting Slated In Beaver Local Area

The Beaver Local School District Board of Education will meet tonight at 7 at the Public School, and is slated to attend a meeting of the Association for Advancement of Beaver Local Education at 8.

Some 2,550 students are expected to enroll for the fall term, which begins Wednesday morning. Teachers met this morning with Roy Cashdollar, executive head, and other officials, and were to be in classrooms this afternoon preparing for the first - day classes.

Lisbon Meeting Slated By School Executives

LISBON — The first fall meeting for the chief school administrators of Columbiana County will be held Friday noon at the Wick Hotel.

A representative of the County Mental Health Clinic will discuss the clinic located on E. Lincoln Way. County Supt. James L. McBride will preside.

Harriman Cites Main Issues In Coming Election

CINCINNATI (AP) — The main issues in the coming presidential election are "hope and good will against fear and suspicion," says undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Harriman came to Cincinnati Monday to speak to the Cincinnati AFL-CIO Labor Council's Labor Day Festival at Ross, Ky.

The undersecretary for political affairs told the festival crowd the present prosperity was the result of policies of the Democratic administration, and urged them to keep the Democrats in office.

He said earlier at an airport news conference he did not expect the Communists to make any gestures that might have an influence on the election because the Russians "are against both the Republicans and the Democrats, and aside from Khrushchev's desire to avoid war with the U. S. they have nothing in common with us."

Wellsville Rifle Club To Resume Practice

Wellsville's Jaycee Junior Rifle Club will resume weekly shooting sessions Wednesday night at the City Hall range.

The club has not been meeting during the summer. The meetings are Wednesdays from 7 to 10 p. m., according to Dan MacLean, instructor.

Members will continue to work for various qualifications and begin a match for the club championship.

A business meeting will be held within a few weeks to elect officers for the coming year and renew the charter for the third time with the National Rifle Association.

MacLean said there are some openings for new members, boys or girls from 12 to 18.

County Search Yields No Suspect In Attack

LISBON — Columbiana County sheriff's deputies and the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon conducted a brief search Sunday for a youth suspected of an attack upon an 11-year-old girl near Austintown Saturday.

The 19-year-old youth was reported hitch - hiking along Route 7 south of Lisbon, but a search yielded no one matching his description.

Ohio's Fair Sets Record In Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 111th Ohio State Fair has passed into history with fair officials claiming an all-time attendance record and already planning for next year's explosition.

State Fair manager E. J. Keirns estimated Monday's crowd at 57,545 and said the attendance record for the 11 days of the fair would be in the neighborhood of 645,000 when receipts were tallied.

The largest previous crowd was set last year when 623,630 persons passed through the gates.

Monday's crowds were swelled when the fair let in youths and children 17 years old and under free of charge. At 6 p.m. the gates were thrown open to free of charge to adults and children alike.

Fair attendance sagged last week after starting off the first three days with crowds larger than those of last year. But the surge of Labor Day weekend fairgoers apparently made up for the midweek deficit.

The highlight of Monday's program was auto racing. Chuck Rodee of Speedway, Ind., won the featured 100 lap, 50-mile "Buckeye 100" for 110 Offenhausers after setting a track record of 25.38 seconds in the time trials. Rodee won $2,000 of the $5,000 purse.

Ohio's Exposition Commission has said that many improvements will be made at the fairgrounds before next year's fair.

Officials also say they plan to take a critical look at the grandstand entertainment. The low attendance at the various shows was an especially sore spot to the fair's producers.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who was seen among the crowds practically every day, met several times during the fair with officials and exhibitors to see where the big show can be improved.

Masons Register 1,365 At Outing

LISBON — There were 1,365 Masons registered for the eighth annual outdoor meeting of the 24th Masonic District Labor Day morning at the Lynn Riddle farm off Roller Coaster Rd.

Attending from the Grand Lodge of Ohio were Colin B. Montis of Cleveland, grand master; Ralph Francisco of Dayton, junior grand master, and Ed Jenkins of Winona, grand tyler.

Sulgrave Lodge 696 of Youngstown was host and opened the lodge meeting. Myron Kelly of Salem announced the officers, who conferred the Mastor Mason's degree.

Masons from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia attended the outing. Coffee and doughnuts were served before lodge opened.

Hungary, Cleveland's Eaton Sign Trade Pact

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) An agreement to develop trade between Cleveland, Ohio, industrialist Cyrus Eaton Sr.'s industrial and banking concerns and Hungarian state trade companies has been signed here, the Hungarian News Agency MTI reports.

The agency said Cyrus Eaton Jr. signed the pact after a week-long visit to Hungary of the younger Eaton and a group of American businessmen associated with the Eaton concern.

Speed, Experience In Wellsville's Corner This Season

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ Tigers Open At Oak Glen

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

The customary problems of depth and size again confront Wellsville High Coach Ken Woods this season, but for a change the Tigers list good experience and speed.

Woods, embarking on his seventh season, sees an improvement on last year's 3-7 record a strong possibility. And barring serious injuries, he just might have a winner.

Thus far in drills, the defense has been the brightest point. The usual minor injuries received in twice-a-day practice sessions to the ball carriers have delayed the work of polishing the offense.

CHRIS THORNTON, a solid, 180-pounder who could become one of the most exciting players at Wellsville in a long while, heads the returning regulars. Sensational as a rookie quarterback, Thornton will run at fullback in his sophomore year.

Big Chris as a freshman measured up in offensive ability with a lot of senior quarterbacks. He has the speed, elusiveness and stamina to go all the way most any time, and the move to fullback will no doubt give him additional opportunities to make stabbing bucks at the enemy line or sweep around the ends like a cyclone.

ON THE FRONT wall, experienced returnees are headed by right tackle Bill Pease, 150-pound senior, who was an All-Buckeye Border Conference selection last year.

He's joined on the line by Roger McLain, 155-pound senior end who won the "most improved" award as a junior; hard-hitting center Dave Bell, 175-pound senior, and right end Pat Welch, heaviest of the veterans at 190 pounds.

—:—

WOODS has shuffled the players around in the backfield and also a little on the line.

Thornton, who scored five touchdowns and three conversions last year, will start Friday night's opening game with Oak Glen at fullback.

The quarterback post he vacated will go to a younger brother, 150-pound junior Harry Thornton.

At the halfbacks will be Ron Daniels, an experienced 148-pound senior with a record of injuries, and Tom Miller, 150-pound senior, who runs the 100 yard dash in 10.7.

—:—

WOODS also has another fullback in line in case the Thornton brothers are switched around.

He's Ed Boso, 180-pound senior, who lumbered the length of the field for a touchdown against Salem in 1963. Boso, however, is a converted guard and will probably see a lot of duty on the front wall.

The Tiger chief said bruises to the leg of Chris Thornton, and a cut knee Boso received on the first day of practice, delayed the job of getting the backfield groomed.

The defense, however, has been sharp in scrimmages with Columbiana and Beaver. Woods said his linemen were hitting hard and moving quick. Columbiana failed to gain yardage in the first 10 plays of the scrimmage against the Wellsville defense.

—:—

WELLSVILLE'S interior line may turn out to be a weak point, Woods feels. The guards are "lightweights."

Only one member of the 50-member Wellsville squad hits the 200-pound mark, and the heaviest player is only a sophomore.

Only three regulars from last season are missing through graduation, but they include halfback Jim Reed, the leading scorer with nine touchdowns, dependable fullback Dale Mobley, and guard Tom Koontz.

—:—

IN ADDITION, regulard guard Terry Grills moved with his family and Don Rawlings, regular tackle, gave up the sport due to a kidney ailment.

Thus, nearly all of Woods' starting team is experienced and the most are fast. Reserve strength and size have never been great at Wellsville in Woods' tenure, and will continue to be problems this season.

The Tigers will operate in a T formation, with Harry Thornton calling the signals. He's rated a better than average passer, and speedier, Woods says.

Woods singles out East Liverpool and Oak Glen as two of Wellsville's "big games."

The opener with Oak Glen will be the first between the schools. "We had a rough time beating Chester before, now we have to beat Chester, Newell and New Cumberland combined," Woods lamented.

—:—

WELLSVILLE hasn't come through with a winner since Woods' 1960 team won seven, lost two and tied one. Records of 5-5-0, 3-7-0, and 3-7-0 followed. He starts his seventh year with an overall record of 25-31-3.

Two new assistants are at Wellsville this season.

John Carter (WHS '39) is new assistant line coach, and Paul L. Mikanik, former West Virginia University star, is helping groom the backfield.

Bill Riley and Dick Jones, the latter starting his third season, return as line coaches, along with Kyle Baker, backfield coach.

Wellsville will play a 10 game schedule. Athletic Director Donald A. Lowe has announced Mingo has been scheduled for the Oct. 16 open date. The game will be at Wellsville.

New opponents are Oak Glen, Mingo and Southern Local, a new addition to the Buckeye Border Conference.

Senators Surprise Chisox Twice; Orioles Split, Yankees Threaten

Birds Show ½-Game Edge In AL Race

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bennie Daniels and Dave Stenhouse got it started in Washington and Bob Meyer picked them up in Kansas City. Before it was over, Dave Morehead, Jay Ritchie and Pete Charton made their pitch in Los Angeles.

The game was Can You Top This and the nondescript American League pitchers who played it had themselves a Labor Day lark Monday. Old- timer Dean Chance got into the act too and a non-pitching Angel named Jack Hiatt had the last laugh.

But the jokers failed to amuse the Chicago White Sox or Baltimore Orioles and the Angels almost wound up with egg on their faces.

Daniels and Stenhouse, with seven previous victories between them, hurled the ninth-place Senators to a 3-0, 6-2 doubleheader sweep over Chicago that dumped the White Sox into second place in the tight AL pennant race.

Southpaw Meyer, discarded by both the New York Yankees and Angels, won his first game for the last-place Athletics, stopping Baltimore 6-1 in the second game of a twin bill after the Orioles had regained the league lead on Wally Bunker's six-hit, 6-1 victory in the opener.

The split left the Orioles one-half game in front of Chicago and 1½ games up on the third place Yankees, who edged Minnesota 5-4 in the 11-inning first game of a scheduled day-night doubleheader. The night game was rained out and rescheduled for tonight.

The holiday's zaniest fare was the Red Sox-Angeles twi-nighter at Los Angeles. Chance became the AL's first 18-game winner, copping the first game 4-1 after Red Sox youngsters Morehead and Ritchie held the Angeles hitless through seven innings.

Charton made his first major league start in the rhubarb-laced nightcap and blanked Los Angeles for 6 2-3 innings. Relief ace Dick Radatz replaced the rookie in the seventh and blew a three-run lead before Los Angeles finally won 4-3 in 11. Hiatt, in his first time at bat in the majors, broke it up with a bases-loaded single.

Cleveland trimmed Detroit 7-2 in the only single game scheduled.

Daniels, who hadn't pitched a complete game since June 23 and had lost seven of his last eight decisions, checked the White Sox on five hits, snapping the Senators' seven-game tailspin, in the opener at Washington.

Stenhouse, who spent 1½ months on the disabled list earlier in the year, worked eight strong innings in the second game before giving way to Jim Hannan in the ninth when Chicago scored twice. The victory was only his second against seven defeats. He had dropped 24 of his last 29 decisions, dating back to 1962.

Will Tribe Move? Seattle Rumored

CLEVELAND (AP)—Will the financially troubled Cleveland Indians stay where they are or move to another home in 1965?

This is the question Indians' general manager Gabe Paul plans to discuss within a month with his board of directors.

"We're going to hold a directors' meeting soon and make a decision," Paul said Monday night amid fresh rumors that the Indians would be moved, with Seattle, Wash., reported as the most likely destination.

"We'll take inventory and decide how much money we'll need. Then we'll decide about next year."

Paul said 10 or 12 cities have approached Cleveland about the possibility of moving but quickly added:

"I want to say flatly we have made no commitments to anybody. We want to stay here."

Paul, the American League club's biggest stockholder, was asked in an interview what will determine whether he keeps the Tribe here. He replied:

"We want to be certain we don't go broke here. We had to dig into our pockets last year to keep alive and the same situation prevails this year. All we want is a fighting chance to stay alive financially."

Paul was part of a 19-man syndicate which shelled out 6 million for the Indians in November, 1962. He reportedly owns one-fifth of the 6,000 shares of stock.

William R. Daley, board chairman, is the second largest holder. A millionaire, he heads the Cleveland investment firm Otis & Co. and led a syndicate which bought the club for a reported $3.9 million in 1956.

Cleveland's attendance last season was 562,507, the lowest figure since 1945. Attendance so far this season amounts to 556,030, with 12 home games still remaining.

The Indians reportedly finished $1.2 million in the red last season when they ended up in a fifth-place tie with Detroit. To date this season they reportedly have lost $800,000 and may show a larger loss than last year.

Colts Trade Two For Lou Michaels

PITTSBURGH — Along with the announcement that linebacker Myron Pottios has a broken arm and will be lost for the season, the Pittsburgh Steelers today traded kicking specialist Lou Michaels to the Baltimore Colts for two players.

Michaels led the Steelers in scoring last season with 95 points. In return, the Steelers acquired defensive halfback Marv Woodson and linebacker Bill Saul.

Coach Buddy Parker explained that Michaels' trade had nothing to do with an incident at the Steelers' Rhode Island camp when Michaels was suspended after a fracas with a teammate.

Parker said with Pottios out for the season the Steelers were in need of a lineback and acquired Saul.

Pottios suffered the broken arm in Sunday's exhibition game at Canton against the Colts.

Kickoff Rally Set Tonight In Wellsville

Wellsville High fans will be given an opportunity to catch a preview look at the Tiger football team at a "kickoff" rally tonight at 7:30 at Beacom Memorial gym. The players will wear their new uniforms and Coach Ken Woods will make the introductions. Offensive and defensive strategy will be demonstrated. The Tigers open Friday night at Oak Glen.

East Carolina College joined the Southern Conference last May.

Speed, Experience In Wellsville's Corner This Season

★ ★ ★ Tigers Open At Oak Glen ★ ★ ★

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

The customary problems of depth and size again confront Wellsville High Coach Ken Woods this season, but for a change the Tigers list good experience and speed.

Woods, embarking on his seventh season, sees an improvement on last year's 3-7 record a strong possibility. And barring serious injuries, he just might have a winner.

Thus far in drills, the defense has been the brightest point. The usual minor injuries received in twice-a-day practice sessions to the ball carriers have delayed the work of polishing the offense.

CHRIS THORNTON, a solid, 180-pounder who could become one of the most exciting players at Wellsville in a long while, heads the returning regulars. Sensational as a rookie quarterback, Thornton will run at fullback in his sophomore year.

Big Chris as a freshman measured up in offensive ability with a lot of senior quarterbacks. He has the speed, elusiveness and stamina to go all the way most any time, and the move to fullback will no doubt give him additional opportunities to make stabbing bucks at the enemy line or sweep around the ends like a cyclone.

ON THE FRONT wall, experienced returnees are headed by right tackle Bill Pease, 150-pound senior, who was an All-Buckeye Border Conference selection last year.

He's joined on the line by Roger McLain, 155-pound senior end who won the "most improved" award as a junior; hard-hitting center Dave Bell, 175-pound senior, and right end Pat Welch, heaviest of the veterans at 190 pounds.

—:—

WOODS has shuffled the players around in the backfield and also a little on the line.

Thornton, who scored five touchdowns and three conversions last year, will start Friday night's opening game with Oak Glen at fullback.

The quarterback post he vacated will go to a younger brother, 150-pound junior Harry Thornton.

At the halfbacks will be Ron Daniels, an experienced 148-pound senior with a record of injuries, and Tom Miller, 150-pound senior, who runs the 100 yard dash in 10.7.

WOODS also has another fullback in line in case the Thornton brothers are switched around.

He's Ed Boso, 180-pound senior, who lumbered the length of the field for a touchdown against Salem in 1963. Boso, however, is a converted guard and will probably see a lot of duty on the front wall.

The Tiger chief said bruises to the leg of Chris Thornton, and a cut knee Boso received on the first day of practice, delayed the job of getting the backfield groomed.

The defense, however, has been sharp in scrimmages with Columbiana and Beaver. Woods said his linemen were hitting hard and moving quick. Columbiana failed to gain yardage in the first 10 plays of the scrimmage against the Wellsville defense.

WELLSVILLE'S interior line may turn out to be a weak point, Woods feels. The guards are "lightweights."

Only one member of the 50-member Wellsville squad hits the 200-pound mark, and the heaviest player is only a sophomore.

Only three regulars from last season are missing through graduation, but they include halfback Jim Reed, the leading scorer with nine touchdowns, dependable fullback Dale Mobley, and guard Tom Koontz.

—:—

IN ADDITION, regulard guard Terry Grills moved with his family and Don Rawlings, regular tackle, gave up the sport due to a kidney ailment.

Thus, nearly all of Woods' starting team is experienced and the most are fast. Reserve strength and size have never been great at Wellsville in Woods' tenure, and will continue to be problems this season.

The Tigers will operate in a T formation, with Harry Thornton calling the signals. He's rated a better than average passer, and speedier, Woods says.

Woods singles out East Liverpool and Oak Glen as two of Wellsville's "big games."

The opener with Oak Glen will be the first between the schools. "We had a rough time beating Chester before, now we have to beat Chester, Newell and New Cumberland combined," Woods lamented.

WELLSVILLE hasn't come through with a winner since Woods' 1960 team won seven, lost two and tied one. Records of 5-5-0, 3-7-0, and 3-7-0 followed. He starts his seventh year with an overall record of 25-31-3.

Two new assistants are at Wellsville this season.

John Carter (WHS '39) is new assistant line coach, and Paul L. Mikanik, former West Virginia University star, is helping groom the backfield.

Bill Riley and Dick Jones, the latter starting his third season, return as line coaches, along with Kyle Baker, backfield coach.

Wellsville will play a 10 game schedule. Athletic Director Donald A. Lowe has announced Mingo has been scheduled for the Oct. 16 open date. The game will be at Wellsville.

New opponents are Oak Glen, Mingo and Southern Local, a new addition to the Buckeye Border Conference.

Birds Show ½-Game Edge In AL Race

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bennie Daniels and Dave Stenhouse got it started in Washington and Bob Meyer picked them up in Kansas City. Before it was over, Dave Morehead, Jay Ritchie and Pete Charton made their pitch in Los Angeles.

The game was Can You Top This and the nondescript American League pitchers who played it had themselves a Labor Day lark Monday. Old- timer Dean Chance got into the act too and a non-pitching Angel named Jack Hiatt had the last laugh.

But the jokers failed to amuse the Chicago White Sox or Baltimore Orioles and the Angels almost wound up with egg on their faces.

Daniels and Stenhouse, with seven previous victories between them, hurled the ninth-place Senators to a 3-0, 6-2 doubleheader sweep over Chicago that dumped the White Sox into second place in the tight AL pennant race.

Southpaw Meyer, discarded by both the New York Yankees and Angels, won his first game for the last-place Athletics, stopping Baltimore 6-1 in the second game of a twin bill after the Orioles had regained the league lead on Wally Bunker's six-hit, 6-1 victory in the opener.

The split left the Orioles one-half game in front of Chicago and 1½ games up on the third place Yankees, who edged Minnesota 5-4 in the 11-inning first game of a scheduled day-night doubleheader. The night game was rained out and rescheduled for tonight.

The holiday's zaniest fare was the Red Sox-Angeles twi-nighter at Los Angeles. Chance became the AL's first 18-game winner, copping the first game 4-1 after Red Sox youngsters Morehead and Ritchie held the Angeles hitless through seven innings.

Charton made his first major league start in the rhubarb-laced nightcap and blanked Los Angeles for 6 2-3 innings. Relief ace Dick Radatz replaced the rookie in the seventh and blew a three-run lead before Los Angeles finally won 4-3 in 11. Hiatt, in his first time at bat in the majors, broke it up with a bases-loaded single.

Cleveland trimmed Detroit 7-2 in the only single game scheduled.

Daniels, who hadn't pitched a complete game since June 23 and had lost seven of his last eight decisions, checked the White Sox on five hits, snapping the Senators' seven-game tailspin, in the opener at Washington.

Stenhouse, who spent 1½ months on the disabled list earlier in the year, worked eight strong innings in the second game before giving way to Jim Hannan in the ninth when Chicago scored twice. The victory was only his second against seven defeats. He had dropped 24 of his last 29 decisions, dating back to 1962.

Cards Sweep Pair From Reds, 3 Teams Trail Phils By 6½

Phillies In Split With Los Angeles

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the St. Louis Cardinals are rolling Bing Devine could become Major League Executive of the Year for the second successive season.

Now if he could only get a job...

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Monday by identical 3-2 scores with similar ninth inning rallies and climbed into a second-place tie with the Reds — the first time since April 19 they've been as high as the runner-up spot.

Devine, named the majors' top executive last year for building the Cardinals into a pennant contender, resigned Aug. 17 in a hassle with the St. Louis front office. The Cardinals went into a slight skid, but pulled out of it a week later and now have won 12 of their last 15 games.

The streak, coupled with Philadelphia's 8-7 record over the same period has pulled the Cardinals from 11 games back to within 6½ games of the top with some two dozen games still remaining.

The Phillies split their Labor Day doubleheader with the Dodgers, winning 5-1 behind Dennis Bennett's first victory in more than two months before losing the nightcap 3-1.

The San Francisco Giants remained in fourth place — one percentage point back of the Cardinals and Reds — but also climbed to within 6½ games of the Phillies by riding Willie Mays' 40th and 41st homers to 6-4 and 9-6 victories over Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee took two from the Chicago Cubs 10-9 and 8-7 with the second game called after eight innings because of darkness at Wrigley Field. The New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Houston 7-5 and 6-4.

Ken Boyer pulled the Cardinals into a 2-2 tie in the opener with his 20th homer, then scored the winning run in the ninth. He walked moved around to third on two passed balls by Don Pavletich and came home on a pinch-hit single by Tim McCarver.

McCarver played Boyer's role in the nightcap, tying it in the seventh with a homer, then starting the winning rally with a ninth inning single. Julian Javier then forced McCarver, but promptly stole second and rode home on Curt Flood's single.

Locked in a 1-1 tie, the Phillies broke the first game open in the eighth with a four-run rally keyed by Frank Thomas' tie-breaking two-run double. Bennett brought his record to 10-12 with a five-hitter, breaking a seven-game losing streak that had kept him winless since July 5.

The Dodgers put the nightcap away in the first inning, jumping on 18-year-old Rick Wise for three runs. Walks to Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam followed by singles by Willie Davis and Derrell Griffith brought in two runs. John Roseboro's squeeze bunt got the other run across.

Mays got the Giants rolling in the opener with a homer in the first inning. Jim Hart then walked, Orlando Cepeda followed with a homer and the Pirates never were able to overcome the quick start.

Mays came up as a pinch hitter in the fourth inning of the nightcap with two on and the Giants trailing 4-2. He slammed one over the Forbes Field scoreboard, putting San Francisco ahead to stay.

Denny Menke and Joe Torre shared hitting honors for the Braves. Menke slammed two homers and a double, scored four runs and drove in three in the opener against the Cubs while Torre took over in the nightcap, slamming a homer and two singles and driving in four runs.

George Altman was the key man for the Mets, collecting four hits in the doubleheader, driving in three runs and scoring three.

In each game, however, the Mets had to put down eighth-inning rallies by the Colts, using seven pitchers in the inning. Larry Bearnarth cut off Houston in the opener and Dennis Ribant did it in the nightcap.

Browns Open Title Drive With Skins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Speed and depth, two essential ingredients in the National Football League, will make the Cleveland Browns contenders for the NFL title when the season opens Sunday against the Washington Redskins.

The speed comes from offensive end Paul Warfield and defensive halfback Walter Beach, two first-year men certain to start in the opener.

Other rookies who have shown good speed are receivers Walter Roberts and Clifton McNeil. But coach Blanton Collier also has depth outside the pass-catching department.

Frank Ryan and Jim Ninowski offer veteran stability at quarterback.

In the defensive line, Collier has Jim Kanicki, Frank Parker, Bob Gain and Dick Modzelewski at tackle. The foursome split the game Saturday night in the Browns' 20-17 win over the Green Bay Packers in the Pro Football Doubleheader.

The Detroit Lions whipped the New York Giants in the first game, 24-10, before a standing room crowd of 83,737 fans.

Dale Memmelaar is an experienced guard, as is Roger Shoals who can operate at either guard or tackle. Monte Clark adds insurance at offensive tackle and can also fill-in for center John Morrow.

Senators

and tripled to lead Washington's first game attack and Joe Cunningham stroked three hits for the Senators in the nightcap.

Former Oriole Jim Gentile crashed two home runs against his former mates, driving in four runs and backing Meyer's six-hitter in the Athletics' second game triumph. The freshman left-hander is 2-5 on the season, having won one for the Angels.

Bunker, Baltimore's prize rookie, ran his record to 15-4 Boog Powell clubbed a 450-feet solo homer, his 32nd in the first game.

Roger Maris' 11th - inning double scored Tony Kubek, who had singled, with the Yankees' game-winning run. Maris had three other hits, including a two-run homer. Whitey Ford, seventh New York pitcher, got the final out in the Twins' 11th.

Bob Allison's two-run homer touched off Minnesota's four-run, two-out rally in the eighth that forced the game into overtime.

The Angels were leading 2-0 without benefit of a hit when Joe Adcock singled off Radatz in the eighth inning of the twilight game at Los Angeles. Bob Rodgers then hit an inside-the-par homer for the last two runs.

Four of seven walks issued by Morehead in 2 1-3 innings and Rodgers' sacrifice fly gave Chance a two-run margin in the third and the Angels' ace protected it with a seven-hit, 12 strikeout performance for his 13th victory in the last 14 decisions.

Chance lost his bid for shutout No. 10 in the ninth, when the Red Sox scored an unearned run on two singles and Paul Schaal's error, but he lowered his major-league-leading ERA — for starters—to 1.55.

The Red Sox gave young Charton an early three-run lead but Radatz lost it in the eighth when he walked three Angels and Willie Smith unloaded a bases-clearing triple.

Smith led off the 11th against reliever Bob Heffner with a single and stole second. A sacrifice and two intentional walks loaded the bases before Haitt came through in his initial appearance since being recalled from Hawaii.

Radatz, Lee Thomas and Russ Nixon all were tossed out of the game in the ninth inning following a lengthy argument over a called third strike to Nixon.

Sam McDowell tossed a five-hitter for Cleveland and Woody Held singled twice and homered behind the big left-hander as the Indians cooked off the Tigers.

Held's 17th homer followed a single by Joe Azcue in the fourth.

Kelso Beats Gun Bow In Big A Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kelso, the Grand Old Man of the thoroughbreds, is not ready to abdicate his throne. And with a mere $38,738 he can become the world's leading money winning horse.

The 7-year-old gelding, four times winner of Horse of the Year honors, was hanging on the ropes until Monday after winning only two minor races in seven starts this year. Then came the $107,700 Aqueduct Stakes at Aqueduct and another clash with a young upstart named Gun Bow.

Gun Bow, a 4-year-old, had won seven stakes this year by as much as 12 lengths and was ready to take over as the boss of the runners. In one of his victories, the Brooklyn Handicap, he beat Kelso by 14 lengths.

But this was the Kelso of old that Gun Bow met in The Aqueduct. The Bohemia Stable ace let his younger rival set most of the pace, caught him with one-quarter-mile remaining and went on to a three-quarter lenth triumph in the good clocking of 1:48 3-5 for 1⅛ miles. Each carried 128 pounds.

The victory was worth $70,005 and boosted Kelso's earnings to $1,711,132. Round Table closed out his career as a 5-year-old with a bank account of $1,749,869 earned in 66 starts. Kelso has started 53 times and has won 34 races and placed second in 11 others.

Wheeling Beaten, Canton Wins In United League

By The Associated Press

The unbeaten Indianapolis Warriors seem to have found the formula for winning and have established themselves as a leading contender for the Eastern Division title in the United Football League.

Indianapolis racked up its second victory in a row by whipping newcomer Joliet 45-13 Saturday. It was the Explorers' second straight loss.

In another Saturday night game Toledo defeated winless Quebec 27-16 as the Tornadoes' rookie quarterback Butch Yenrick raced for one touchdown and passed for two more.

Charleston, the Western Division leader, outscored defending champion Wheeling Sunday night 20-9, and Monday night Canton rolled to a 27-17 come-from-behind victory over Grand Rapids.

The big offensive gun for Indianapolis was fullback Roger Lopes, who scored three tds on runs of 45, 20 and 1 yard. The strong Warrior defense has held the opposition to 26 points while the offensive club has run up 73 points.

Yenrick hit on 16 of 27 passes as the Tornadoes wrapped up their first triumph in two starts. Bob Morgan of Quebec tallied on a 91-yard punt return, setting a new league mark. Leon Burton of Grand Rapids set the old record of 85 yards in 1961.

The Rockets continued to soar along undefeated with quarterback Ron Miller and end Sam Weir clicking against the Ironmen. The Miller-to-Weir combination worked twice in the first quarter, the first on a 23-yard pattern and the second for 79 yards.

Dick Zigrino, place kicker for Charleston, booted field goals of 15 and 33 yards.

Veteran quarterback Bob Brodhead led the Bulldogs' attack with scoring tosses of 10 and 33 yards in the fourth quarter. He completed 14 of 31 passes for 197 yards.

The big star for Grand Rapids was quarterback Ed Chlebec, who also flipped two tds and hit on 20 of 44 passes for 200 yards.

Canton, now 2-0 is tied with Charleston for the Western Division lead. Grand Rapids has a 1-1 record.

Coody Wins Dallas Open By 1 Stroke

DALLAS (AP) — Tall Texan Charles Coody won the $40,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament and then observed that it wasn't the money but the fringe benefits that interested him.

"Anybody who wins his first tournament will tell you that," said Coody, who took his first title Monday in less than a year of following the weary tournament trial.

What he meant was that you had to win one in order to really cash in on golf.

His victory here qualifies him for the PGA, Tournament of Champions, Carling's World, Colonial and other big tournaments; gives him a better position in the tournament pairings, prevents his having to qualify for any tournament and a lot of other things that can come to a champion.

Coody also had some other things working for him when he beat off the great challenge of Billy Casper, one of the top winners, and his buddy, Jerry Edwards, to win the $5,800 first money with a record 271 for 72 holes.

Coody said that when his daughter Caryn was born two years ago Monday he went to the semifinals of the national amateur. Seventeen days ago a son was born and as soon as Coody returned to the tour he won a championship.

Edwards shot a 67 for 272 and Casper and fast-finishing Fred Haas tied for third at 273.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Bennie Daniels, Senators, pitched his first complete game in more than two months with a five-hitter, starting 3-0 and 6-2 doubleheader sweep that dropped the Chicago White Sox out of the American League lead.

BATTING — Roger Maris, Yankees, collected four hits, including a homer and an 11th inning double that drove in the winning run and gave New York a 5-4 victory over Minnesota.

Cards Sweep Pair From Reds, 3 Teams Trail Phils By 6½

Phillies In Split With Los Angeles

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way the St. Louis Cardinals are rolling Bing Devine could become Major League Executive of the Year for the second successive season.

Now if he could only get a job...

Currently the hottest club in the National League, the Cardinals swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Monday by identical 3-2 scores with similar ninth inning rallies and climbed into a second-place tie with the Reds — the first time since April 19 they've been as high as the runner-up spot.

Devine, named the majors' top executive last year for building the Cardinals into a pennant contender, resigned Aug. 17 in a hassle with the St. Louis front office. The Cardinals went into a slight skid, but pulled out of it a week later and now have won 12 of their last 15 games.

The streak, coupled with Philadelphia's 8-7 record over the same period has pulled the Cardinals from 11 games back to within 6½ games of the top with some two dozen games still remaining.

The Phillies split their Labor Day doubleheader with the Dodgers, winning 5-1 behind Dennis Bennett's first victory in more than two months before losing the nightcap 3-1.

The San Francisco Giants remained in fourth place — one percentage point back of the Cardinals and Reds — but also climbed to within 6½ games of the Phillies by riding Willie Mays' 40th and 41st homers to 6-4 and 9-6 victories over Pittsburgh.

Milwaukee took two from the Chicago Cubs 10-9 and 8-7 with the second game called after eight innings because of darkness at Wrigley Field. The New York Mets swept a doubleheader from Houston 7-5 and 6-4.

Ken Boyer pulled the Cardinals into a 2-2 tie in the opener with his 20th homer, then scored the winning run in the ninth. He walked moved around to third on two passed balls by Don Pavletich and came home on a pinch-hit single by Tim McCarver.

McCarver played Boyer's role in the nightcap, tying it in the seventh with a homer, then starting the winning rally with a ninth inning single. Julian Javier then forced McCarver, but promptly stole second and rode home on Curt Flood's single.

Locked in a 1-1 tie, the Phillies broke the first game open in the eighth with a four-run rally keyed by Frank Thomas' tie-breaking two-run double. Bennett brought his record to 10-12 with a five-hitter, breaking a seven-game losing streak that had kept him winless since July 5.

The Dodgers put the nightcap away in the first inning, jumping on 18-year-old Rick Wise for three runs. Walks to Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam followed by singles by Willie Davis and Derrell Griffith brought in two runs. John Roseboro's squeeze bunt got the other run across.

Mays got the Giants rolling in the opener with a homer in the first inning. Jim Hart then walked, Orlando Cepeda followed with a homer and the Pirates never were able to overcome the quick start.

Mays came up as a pinch hitter in the fourth inning of the nightcap with two on and the Giants trailing 4-2. He slammed one over the Forbes Field scoreboard, putting San Francisco ahead to stay.

Denny Menke and Joe Torre shared hitting honors for the Braves. Menke slammed two homers and a double, scored four runs and drove in three in the opener against the Cubs while Torre took over in the nightcap, slamming a homer and two singles and driving in four runs.

George Altman was the key man for the Mets, collecting four hits in the doubleheader, driving in three runs and scoring three.

In each game, however, the Mets had to put down eighth-inning rallies by the Colts, using seven pitchers in the inning. Larry Bearnarth cut off Houston in the opener and Dennis Ribant did it in the nightcap.

Browns Open Title Drive With Skins

CLEVELAND (AP) — Speed and depth, two essential ingredients in the National Football League, will make the Cleveland Browns contenders for the NFL title when the season opens Sunday against the Washington Redskins.

The speed comes from offensive end Paul Warfield and defensive halfback Walter Beach, two first-year men certain to start in the opener.

Other rookies who have shown good speed are receivers Walter Roberts and Clifton McNeil. But coach Blanton Collier also has depth outside the pass-catching department.

Frank Ryan and Jim Ninowski offer veteran stability at quarterback.

In the defensive line, Collier has Jim Kanicki, Frank Parker, Bob Gain and Dick Modzelewski at tackle. The foursome split the game Saturday night in the Browns' 20-17 win over the Green Bay Packers in the Pro Football Doubleheader.

The Detroit Lions whipped the New York Giants in the first game, 24-10, before a standing room crowd of 83,737 fans.

Dale Memmelaar is an experienced guard, as is Roger Shoals who can operate at either guard or tackle. Monte Clark adds insurance at offensive tackle and can also fill-in for center John Morrow.

and tripled to lead Washington's first game attack and Joe Cunningham stroked three hits for the Senators in the nightcap.

Former Oriole Jim Gentile crashed two home runs against his former mates, driving in four runs and backing Meyer's six-hitter in the Athletics' second game triumph. The freshman left-hander is 2-5 on the season, having won one for the Angels.

Bunker, Baltimore's prize rookie, ran his record to 15-4 Boog Powell clubbed a 450-feet solo homer, his 32nd in the first game.

Roger Maris' 11th - inning double scored Tony Kubek, who had singled, with the Yankees' game-winning run. Maris had three other hits, including a two-run homer. Whitey Ford, seventh New York pitcher, got the final out in the Twins' 11th.

Bob Allison's two-run homer touched off Minnesota's four-run, two-out rally in the eighth that forced the game into overtime.

The Angels were leading 2-0 without benefit of a hit when Joe Adcock singled off Radatz in the eighth inning of the twilight game at Los Angeles. Bob Rodgers then hit an inside-the-par homer for the last two runs.

Four of seven walks issued by Morehead in 2 1-3 innings and Rodgers' sacrifice fly gave Chance a two-run margin in the third and the Angels' ace protected it with a seven-hit, 12 strikeout performance for his 13th victory in the last 14 decisions.

Chance lost his bid for shutout No. 10 in the ninth, when the Red Sox scored an unearned run on two singles and Paul Schaal's error, but he lowered his major-league-leading ERA — for starters—to 1.55.

The Red Sox gave young Charton an early three-run lead but Radatz lost it in the eighth when he walked three Angels and Willie Smith unloaded a bases-clearing triple.

Smith led off the 11th against reliever Bob Heffner with a single and stole second. A sacrifice and two intentional walks loaded the bases before Haitt came through in his initial appearance since being recalled from Hawaii.

Radatz, Lee Thomas and Russ Nixon all were tossed out of the game in the ninth inning following a lengthy argument over a called third strike to Nixon.

Sam McDowell tossed a five-hitter for Cleveland and Woody Held singled twice and homered behind the big left-hander as the Indians cooked off the Tigers.

Held's 17th homer followed a single by Joe Azcue in the fourth.

Kelso Beats Gun Bow In Big A Stakes

By ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kelso, the Grand Old Man of the thoroughbreds, is not ready to abdicate his throne. And with a mere $38,738 he can become the world's leading money winning horse.

The 7-year-old gelding, four times winner of Horse of the Year honors, was hanging on the ropes until Monday after winning only two minor races in seven starts this year. Then came the $107,700 Aqueduct Stakes at Aqueduct and another clash with a young upstart named Gun Bow.

Gun Bow, a 4-year-old, had won seven stakes this year by as much as 12 lengths and was ready to take over as the boss of the runners. In one of his victories, the Brooklyn Handicap, he beat Kelso by 14 lengths.

But this was the Kelso of old that Gun Bow met in The Aqueduct. The Bohemia Stable ace let his younger rival set most of the pace, caught him with one-quarter-mile remaining and went on to a three-quarter lenth triumph in the good clocking of 1:48 3-5 for 1⅛ miles. Each carried 128 pounds.

The victory was worth $70,005 and boosted Kelso's earnings to $1,711,132. Round Table closed out his career as a 5-year-old with a bank account of $1,749,869 earned in 66 starts. Kelso has started 53 times and has won 34 races and placed second in 11 others.

Wheeling Beaten, Canton Wins In United League

By The Associated Press

The unbeaten Indianapolis Warriors seem to have found the formula for winning and have established themselves as a leading contender for the Eastern Division title in the United Football League.

Indianapolis racked up its second victory in a row by whipping newcomer Joliet 45-13 Saturday. It was the Explorers' second straight loss.

In another Saturday night game Toledo defeated winless Quebec 27-16 as the Tornadoes' rookie quarterback Butch Yenrick raced for one touchdown and passed for two more.

Charleston, the Western Division leader, outscored defending champion Wheeling Sunday night 20-9, and Monday night Canton rolled to a 27-17 come-from-behind victory over Grand Rapids.

The big offensive gun for Indianapolis was fullback Roger Lopes, who scored three tds on runs of 45, 20 and 1 yard. The strong Warrior defense has held the opposition to 26 points while the offensive club has run up 73 points.

Yenrick hit on 16 of 27 passes as the Tornadoes wrapped up their first triumph in two starts. Bob Morgan of Quebec tallied on a 91-yard punt return, setting a new league mark. Leon Burton of Grand Rapids set the old record of 85 yards in 1961.

The Rockets continued to soar along undefeated with quarterback Ron Miller and end Sam Weir clicking against the Ironmen. The Miller-to-Weir combination worked twice in the first quarter, the first on a 23-yard pattern and the second for 79 yards.

Dick Zigrino, place kicker for Charleston, booted field goals of 15 and 33 yards.

Veteran quarterback Bob Brodhead led the Bulldogs' attack with scoring tosses of 10 and 33 yards in the fourth quarter. He completed 14 of 31 passes for 197 yards.

The big star for Grand Rapids was quarterback Ed Chlebec, who also flipped two tds and hit on 20 of 44 passes for 200 yards.

Canton, now 2-0 is tied with Charleston for the Western Division lead. Grand Rapids has a 1-1 record.

Coody Wins Dallas Open By 1 Stroke

DALLAS (AP) — Tall Texan Charles Coody won the $40,000 Dallas Open Golf Tournament and then observed that it wasn't the money but the fringe benefits that interested him.

"Anybody who wins his first tournament will tell you that," said Coody, who took his first title Monday in less than a year of following the weary tournament trial.

What he meant was that you had to win one in order to really cash in on golf.

His victory here qualifies him for the PGA, Tournament of Champions, Carling's World, Colonial and other big tournaments; gives him a better position in the tournament pairings, prevents his having to qualify for any tournament and a lot of other things that can come to a champion.

Coody also had some other things working for him when he beat off the great challenge of Billy Casper, one of the top winners, and his buddy, Jerry Edwards, to win the $5,800 first money with a record 271 for 72 holes.

Coody said that when his daughter Caryn was born two years ago Monday he went to the semifinals of the national amateur. Seventeen days ago a son was born and as soon as Coody returned to the tour he won a championship.

Edwards shot a 67 for 272 and Casper and fast-finishing Fred Haas tied for third at 273.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING — Bennie Daniels, Senators, pitched his first complete game in more than two months with a five-hitter, starting 3-0 and 6-2 doubleheader sweep that dropped the Chicago White Sox out of the American League lead.

BATTING — Roger Maris, Yankees, collected four hits, including a homer and an 11th inning double that drove in the winning run and gave New York a 5-4 victory over Minnesota.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Arline's Back In Court, Naturally

Arline Judge has had her fill of former acquaintances who greet her with gushing, "Darling! You look wonderful—when did you get back in town?" Her squelching retort now is, "I bathe regularly, I'm still laughing and I've been in town for 10 years —What's new with you?" Middle-aged movie fans may recall Arline as the perennial rah-rah girl in a series of college musicals turned out between 1932 and 1935.

Hal Humphrey

-:-

"I WAS THE GIRL in the raccoon coat, the chrysanthemum and waving a pennant. They married me off to Jack Oakie eight times in one year, and after that it was Jack Haley for I don't know how many," says Arline.

Her fans who were 20 then forget that she was, too. They figure Arline must be in her dotage now and raising chrysanthemums, not wearing them. It's a bit of a shock to learn that she's 52 and looks younger than most of her contemporaries who've already buried or retired her.

To hypo Arline's ego as much as anything else, she has gone to work again and just finished filming her first TV appearance —a suspected murderess in a future "Perry Mason."

PUTTING ARLINE in a courtroom witness box is as beautiful a piece of real-life type casting as Hollywood has done in a long time.

Besides her eight screen marriages to Jack Oakie, Arline can look back over seven actual marriages and as many divorces. One of these was to Dan Topping, co-owner of the New York Yankees until the recent sale of most of the stock to CBS.

By a coincidental turn of fate, Arline was doing her "Perry Mason" role for the CBS network the same week it was purchasing her former husband's ball club. Her son, Dan Topping Jr., is manager of Yankee Stadium in New York.

In between her courtroom appearances for seven divorce decrees, Arline found herself in court as a witness to a jewel robbery (hers were stolen), a car accident suit (vs. someone driving her car) and assorted other legal matters which, if nothing else, proved Arline was not a stay-at-home type.

-:-

GETTING BACK into the swing of things has been easy, Arline reports.

"I'm supposed to be a friend of somebody's on the 'Perry Mason Show,' but I was on the list for a year and a half before I got called. I guess there are a lot of friends," Arline surmises.

"Everybody loves you until you ask them for work. I've already gone through three agents. Most of the directors I knew seem to have died."

Arline still weighs the same 101 pounds she did at the beginning of her career and hardly ever bothers to diet.

"I'm a candy eater, and that makes your stomach stick out, but I quit for a few days and it goes back in."

-:-

IT BUGS HER a bit to be unknown to the current generation. A mutual friend of Arline and Martha Raye's was to meet them at Hollywood's Whiskey A-Go Go, a nitery where the young dance the watusi.

"Our friend hadn't arrived yet, and we didn't know whose name the reservation was in. I asked if there was a table for Arline Judge, and the maitre d' said, 'Who?' Then I said, 'How about Martha Raye?' and he still said 'Who?' so I felt better."

On the face of her clip file in the Los Angeles Times library it says, "Arline Judge, Actress," then lists the dates of her seven marriages, at the end of which is the line, "To be continued."

The librarian at the Times has faith in Arline's future.

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Students Offer Views On Teachers

The May issue of "Childhood Education" is devoted to the education of teachers. Of special interested to my readers is an article by Dr. Walter Barbe and Katherine Steierton "What Children Like About Their Teachers." It is based on interviews with 40 gifted children in grades three through six in 40 elementary classrooms of Ohio.

Dr. Garry Myers

Of first concern to these children was that their teacher be "well-informed." Thirty - six of the 40 children named such traits as "wise, smart and lots of brains." Some said teachers should know what they are teaching, that they should be able to explain problems, and understand pupils' questions.

—:—

A NUMBER of boys wanted "an older woman," with as much schooling as she can get. A few girls wanted a man teacher. Both boys and girls thought it important that the teacher "know a lot about kids."

Most of the children interviewed emphasized discipline—"not too strict, but not too unstrict." Half of them wanted class control and firmness tempered with friendliness, fairness and understanding.

Several thought a teacher "should get mad sometimes," and one girl said "the teacher shouldn't get scared of kids."

Only one child, a boy, preferred a teacher who "lets you do anything you want."

Some boys expressed concern about the teachers who have "class favorites or who pick on them and hurt their feelings." But they wanted a teacher who "means what she says," but she must be polite, a bit modest, but not shy. The girls expressed more interest in teachers who know the limitations of pupils and were "nice, kind, pretty and patient."

—:—

THESE GIFTED children generally agreed that homework is a necessary evil — "not real easy, not real hard, sort of in-between." Just one thought there should be no homework.

About half of the whole group of 40 thought they would like to be teachers so they might share their knowledge and meet "lots of children and people."

Some observed that teachers have good working hours.

Of those who did not want to be teachers, some named "too many worries" or having "to work too hard."

Bright children seemed to know what they wanted in a teacher. "They wanted her to be knowledgeable but to blend knowledge with understanding and warmth."

DeGaulle Backer Dies

BREST, France (AP) — Georges Thierry d'Argleieu, 75, an ardent follower of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, died Monday after a long career as a seaman and a Roman Catholic priest.

Heart Attack Fatal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John Jarman, 47, wife of Rep. John Jarman, D-Okla., died today after suffering a heart attack. Jarman has served in the House since 1950.

Lady Had Good Reason To Clutch Her Brief Case

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —There was a reason why Mrs. Isabell Long of Mansfield didn't want to give up the brief case she was clutching when authorities found her in her wrecked car.

Mrs. Long, 48-year-old estranged wife of acting Richland County Coroner Russell Long, was found in her car which had left Ohio 13 six miles north of here and hit a tree early Sunday.

She suffered a broken jaw and abrasions of the face and body.

She was holding a brief case, and authorities couldn't get her to release it.

They took her to Mercy Hospital here, then to University Hospital in Columbus.

She was still clutching the brief case when she was administered an anesthetic.

When she lost consciousness authorities finally were able to get it away from her.

Police said that when they opened it they found just under $500,000 in currency, bonds and checks, including almost $100,000 in cash.

Police transferred the money to a Columbus bank for safe keeping.

Police informed Dr. Long who said simply:

"Well, she has that kind of money, so it's probably hers."

Area Fire Linked To Earlier Blaze

The grass fire which burned over about three acres in the Apples Corners area Sunday afternoon apparently was ignited by embers from a fire of Friday afternoon.

Harry Reckner, assistant chief of Glenmoor, said Glenmoor, LaCroft and Dixonville firemen battled the grass fire five hours Friday afternoon. The fire was in a thick fence row, near Bibbee's Lake, three-fourths mile south of Route 267.

Some youngsters told firemen two older boys had kindled a fire, and it burned out of control in the old apple orchard. Glenmoor firemen were called at 1:45 and were joined by LaCroft and Dixonville

A fire in the same area broke out Sunday and was subdued by Glenmoor, LaCroft and West Point firemen. Water was hauled to the scene, and a local farmer used his tractor to plow furrows around the fire to prevent a hayfield from burning.

Bee Sting On Wrist Kills New York Man

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A bee sting on the wrist killed Vincent D. Foley, 48, of Albany, Monday night.

Coroner Elmer Parker said Foley, a deputy chief weighmaster at the Port of Albany, was allergic to bee stings and died of anaphylactic shock.

He was stung as he and his wife were closing their summer camp in the nearby Helderberg Mountains. Foley was dead on arrival at an Albany hospital.

Defense Department Says More Bases Face Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indirectly answering cricitism by Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater, the Defense Department says it expects to close more military installations "as it is found they are no longer necessary for our security."

Goldwater said Sunday that in four years the Democrats had closed more bases than the Eisenhower administration did in eight years.

The Defense Department issues a statement Monday which said in part:

"We do not believe that the American people want the Department of Defense to continue to operate installations which have become obsolete or unnecessary.

"We believe that the American people do not intend their Department of Defense to be operated as a WPA, but rather to provide all the military strength necessary for security in the most economical manner."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it obtained a record 1,559 tax case convictions in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In a statement issued Monday, it said those convicted were given prison sentences totaling 354 years and fined more than $3 million. The previous fiscal year there were 1,298 convictions.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientific information has been received from 14 of the 20 experiments carried by the new orbiting U.S. space observatory called OGO.

The data, received at midafternoon Monday shortly after OGO passed its low orbital point of 176 miles, is being analyzed by National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists.

OGO was launched last Friday night from Cape Kennedy, Fla. One of its main aims is to try to learn how the sun affects the earth and the atmosphere.

Sandusky Man Jailed On Probation Penalty

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Robert Whetstone, 29, was in jail today on a probation violation charge after the fatal shooting of his ex-wife, Joyce Carico, 31, at a secluded spot at the Rest Haven Wildlife Preserve west of here.

Whetstone was arrested shortly after he brought his former wife to Providence Hospital late Sunday afternoon where she died of a gunshot wound behind her left ear. He told investigators she was hit by a ricocheting bullet while they were target shooting with a .22 caliber pistol. The couple was divorced last year. He is accused of violating his probation on a charge of grand larceny by being out so late.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Arline's Back In Court, Naturally

Arline Judge has had her fill of former acquaintances who greet her with gushing, "Darling! You look wonderful—when did you get back in town?" Her squelching retort now is, "I bathe regularly, I'm still laughing and I've been in town for 10 years—What's new with you?" Middle-aged movie fans may recall Arline as the perennial rah-rah girl in a series of college musicals turned out between 1932 and 1935.

Hal Humphrey

-:-

"I WAS THE GIRL in the raccoon coat, the chrysanthemum and waving a pennant. They married me off to Jack Oakie eight times in one year, and after that it was Jack Haley for I don't know how many," says Arline.

Her fans who were 20 then forget that she was, too. They figure Arline must be in her dotage now and raising chrysanthemums, not wearing them. It's a bit of a shock to learn that she's 52 and looks younger than most of her contemporaries who've already buried or retired her.

To hypo Arline's ego as much as anything else, she has gone to work again and just finished filming her first TV appearance —a suspected murderess in a future "Perry Mason."

PUTTING ARLINE in a courtroom witness box is as beautiful a piece of real-life type casting as Hollywood has done in a long time.

Besides her eight screen marriages to Jack Oakie, Arline can look back over seven actual marriages and as many divorces. One of these was to Dan Topping, co-owner of the New York Yankees until the recent sale of most of the stock to CBS.

By a coincidental turn of fate, Arline was doing her "Perry Mason" role for the CBS network the same week it was purchasing her former husband's ball club. Her son, Dan Topping Jr., is manager of Yankee Stadium in New York.

In between her courtroom appearances for seven divorce decrees, Arline found herself in court as a witness to a jewel robbery (hers were stolen), a car accident suit (vs. someone driving her car) and assorted other legal matters which, if nothing else, proved Arline was not a stay-at-home type.

-:-

GETTING BACK into the swing of things has been easy, Arline reports.

"I'm supposed to be a friend of somebody's on the 'Perry Mason Show,' but I was on the list for a year and a half before I got called. I guess there are a lot of friends," Arline surmises.

"Everybody loves you until you ask them for work. I've already gone through three agents. Most of the directors I knew seem to have died."

Arline still weighs the same 101 pounds she did at the beginning of her career and hardly ever bothers to diet.

"I'm a candy eater, and that makes your stomach stick out, but I quit for a few days and it goes back in."

-:-

IT BUGS HER a bit to be unknown to the current generation. A mutual friend of Arline and Martha Raye's was to meet them at Hollywood's Whiskey A-Go Go, a nitery where the young dance the watusi.

"Our friend hadn't arrived yet, and we didn't know whose name the reservation was in. I asked if there was a table for Arline Judge, and the maitre d' said, 'Who?' Then I said, 'How about Martha Raye?' and he still said 'Who?' so I felt better."

On the face of her clip file in the Los Angeles Times library it says, "Arline Judge, Actress," then lists the dates of her seven marriages, at the end of which is the line, "To be continued."

The librarian at the Times has faith in Arline's future.

Bringing Up Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Students Offer Views On Teachers

The May issue of "Childhood Education" is devoted to the education of teachers. Of special interested to my readers is an article by Dr. Walter Barbe and Katherine Steierton "What Children Like About Their Teachers." It is based on interviews with 40 gifted children in grades three through six in 40 elementary classrooms of Ohio.

Dr. Garry Myers

Of first concern to these children was that their teacher be "well-informed." Thirty - six of the 40 children named such traits as "wise, smart and lots of brains." Some said teachers should know what they are teaching, that they should be able to explain problems, and understand pupils' questions.

—:—

A NUMBER of boys wanted "an older woman," with as much schooling as she can get. A few girls wanted a man teacher. Both boys and girls thought it important that the teacher "know a lot about kids."

Most of the children interviewed emphasized discipline—"not too strict, but not too unstrict." Half of them wanted class control and firmness tempered with friendliness, fairness and understanding.

Several thought a teacher "should get mad sometimes," and one girl said "the teacher shouldn't get scared of kids."

Only one child, a boy, preferred a teacher who "lets you do anything you want."

Some boys expressed concern about the teachers who have "class favorites or who pick on them and hurt their feelings." But they wanted a teacher who "means what she says," but she must be polite, a bit modest, but not shy. The girls expressed more interest in teachers who know the limitations of pupils and were "nice, kind, pretty and patient."

—:—

THESE GIFTED children generally agreed that homework is a necessary evil — "not real easy, not real hard, sort of in-between." Just one thought there should be no homework.

About half of the whole group of 40 thought they would like to be teachers so they might share their knowledge and meet "lots of children and people."

Some observed that teachers have good working hours.

Of those who did not want to be teachers, some named "too many worries" or having "to work too hard."

Bright children seemed to know what they wanted in a teacher. "They wanted her to be knowledgeable but to blend knowledge with understanding and warmth."

DeGaulle Backer Dies

BREST, France (AP) — Georges Thierry d'Argleieu, 75, an ardent follower of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, died Monday after a long career as a seaman and a Roman Catholic priest.

Heart Attack Fatal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John Jarman, 47, wife of Rep. John Jarman, D-Okla., died today after suffering a heart attack. Jarman has served in the House since 1950.

Lady Had Good Reason To Clutch Her Brief Case

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) —There was a reason why Mrs. Isabell Long of Mansfield didn't want to give up the brief case she was clutching when authorities found her in her wrecked car.

Mrs. Long, 48-year-old estranged wife of acting Richland County Coroner Russell Long, was found in her car which had left Ohio 13 six miles north of here and hit a tree early Sunday.

She suffered a broken jaw and abrasions of the face and body.

She was holding a brief case, and authorities couldn't get her to release it.

They took her to Mercy Hospital here, then to University Hospital in Columbus.

She was still clutching the brief case when she was administered an anesthetic.

When she lost consciousness authorities finally were able to get it away from her.

Police said that when they opened it they found just under $500,000 in currency, bonds and checks, including almost $100,000 in cash.

Police transferred the money to a Columbus bank for safe keeping.

Police informed Dr. Long who said simply:

"Well, she has that kind of money, so it's probably hers."

Area Fire Linked To Earlier Blaze

The grass fire which burned over about three acres in the Apples Corners area Sunday afternoon apparently was ignited by embers from a fire of Friday afternoon.

Harry Reckner, assistant chief of Glenmoor, said Glenmoor, LaCroft and Dixonville firemen battled the grass fire five hours Friday afternoon. The fire was in a thick fence row, near Bibbee's Lake, three-fourths mile south of Route 267.

Some youngsters told firemen two older boys had kindled a fire, and it burned out of control in the old apple orchard. Glenmoor firemen were called at 1:45 and were joined by LaCroft and Dixonville

A fire in the same area broke out Sunday and was subdued by Glenmoor, LaCroft and West Point firemen. Water was hauled to the scene, and a local farmer used his tractor to plow furrows around the fire to prevent a hayfield from burning.

Bee Sting On Wrist Kills New York Man

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A bee sting on the wrist killed Vincent D. Foley, 48, of Albany, Monday night.

Coroner Elmer Parker said Foley, a deputy chief weighmaster at the Port of Albany, was allergic to bee stings and died of anaphylactic shock.

He was stung as he and his wife were closing their summer camp in the nearby Helderberg Mountains. Foley was dead on arrival at an Albany hospital.

Defense Department Says More Bases Face Closing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indirectly answering cricitism by Republican presidential candidate Barry Goldwater, the Defense Department says it expects to close more military installations "as it is found they are no longer necessary for our security."

Goldwater said Sunday that in four years the Democrats had closed more bases than the Eisenhower administration did in eight years.

The Defense Department issues a statement Monday which said in part:

"We do not believe that the American people want the Department of Defense to continue to operate installations which have become obsolete or unnecessary.

"We believe that the American people do not intend their Department of Defense to be operated as a WPA, but rather to provide all the military strength necessary for security in the most economical manner."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service says it obtained a record 1,559 tax case convictions in the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

In a statement issued Monday, it said those convicted were given prison sentences totaling 354 years and fined more than $3 million. The previous fiscal year there were 1,298 convictions.

—:—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientific information has been received from 14 of the 20 experiments carried by the new orbiting U.S. space observatory called OGO.

The data, received at midafternoon Monday shortly after OGO passed its low orbital point of 176 miles, is being analyzed by National Aeronautics and Space Administration scientists.

OGO was launched last Friday night from Cape Kennedy, Fla. One of its main aims is to try to learn how the sun affects the earth and the atmosphere.

Sandusky Man Jailed On Probation Penalty

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Robert Whetstone, 29, was in jail today on a probation violation charge after the fatal shooting of his ex-wife, Joyce Carico, 31, at a secluded spot at the Rest Haven Wildlife Preserve west of here.

Whetstone was arrested shortly after he brought his former wife to Providence Hospital late Sunday afternoon where she died of a gunshot wound behind her left ear. He told investigators she was hit by a ricocheting bullet while they were target shooting with a .22 caliber pistol. The couple was divorced last year. He is accused of violating his probation on a charge of grand larceny by being out so late.

NOTICE OF ELECTION ON TAX LEVY IN EXCESS OF THE TEN MILL LIMITATION

Rev. Code, Secs. 345.03; 3501.11(G); 5705.191, 5705.25

NOTICE is hereby given that in pursuance of a Resolution of the Council of the City of East Liverpool, Columbiana County, Ohio, passed on the 17th day of August, 1964, there will be submitted to a vote of the people of said City of East Liverpool at a GENERAL ELECTION to be held in the City of East Liverpool, Columbiana County, Ohio, at the regular places of voting therein, on Tuesday, the 3rd day of November, 1964, the question of levying a tax, in excess of the ten mill limitation, for the benefit of the City of East Liverpool for the purpose of providing an adequate amount for current expenses, to-wit: Paying for the repair, improvement, maintenance and upkeep of the City Hospital of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Said tax being: a renewal of an existing tax of Seven-tenths (7/10) of One (1) Mill to run for Five (5) Years at a rate not exceeding Seven-tenths (7/10) of One (1) mill for each one dollar of valuation, which amounts to Seven Cents ($0.07) for each one hundred dollars of valuation, for the tax years 1964, 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1968.

The Polls for said Election will be open at 6:30 o'clock A.M. and remain open until 6:30 o'clock P.M. Eastern Standard Time of said day.

By order of the Board of Elections, of Columbiana County, Ohio.
C. L. Stacey, Chairman
Frank R. O'Hanlon, Clerk
Dated August 19, 1964.
E. L. Review: August 25, September 1, 8 and 15, 1964.

NOTICE

The tax return for the current year has been revised and the valuation completed and is open for public inspection in the Office of the County Auditor.

Complaints against any valuation will be heard by the Board of Revision subsequent to its organization meeting, Monday, January 11, 1965, in the quarters of Board of Revision, Court House, Lisbon, Ohio. This notice published as required by Section 5715.17 of the Revised Code of the State of Ohio. Kenneth Bell, Secretary, Board of Revision.

Junior Editors Quiz on BUDDHA

QUESTION: Who was Buddha?

ANSWER: Siddhartha Gautama was a high caste Indian prince born about 563 B.C. The young man became troubled because there seemed so much suffering and trouble in the world. At 29 he gave up his palace and wealth and began to search for some answer to the world's problems. At first, he felt his quest to be futile. But finally, while sitting under a fig tree, he suddenly had a conviction that he had found the answer. Indians believed people were reborn—but Gautama, who from this time was called "Buddha" or the "enlightened one", felt that he would be able to escape from this rebirth into an ideal mental state he called "nirvana". Buddha formulated a set of rules by which he felt people could reach nirvana, rules which included the teaching of moral values such as unselfishness and kindness—and then started out to teach them. So began the Buddhist religion which spread to many parts of the East and is one of the world's great religions today.

Buddha's followers made many statues and pictures of him, such as those at the right, in order to spread the ideas of the Buddhist religion. He is usually shown in a seated pose because this suggests the meditation under the fig tree. His expression of calm is because he taught that only by quieting violent feelings could man attain inner wisdom.

SECRET AGENT

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—What can I do about drawers that refuse to work easily and have become stuck because of dampness?

A.—Apply heat in the form of an electric pad, a sun-ray (infra-red) bulb, or a portable electric heater. The heat will cause the wood to shrink, and when the swelling goes down, the drawers will work again. Take care, of course, not to scorch the wood!

Q.—How can I remove rubber cement stains from fabrics?

A.—Sponge the stains with carbon tetrachloride, or dip the stain into it. If the cement has dried, rub petroleum jelly into the stain to loosen it, then sponge with the carbon tetrachloride.

Q.—How can I prevent screws from working loose in a plastered wall?

A.—Make a tiny opening in the plaster where you wish to drive your screw, then fill this with platic wood. Drive your screw in while the wood is still soft.

Q.—Please tell me the proper paintbrush cleaning agents for the various kinds of paints used.

A.—For oil paints and varnishes, use turpentine and then naphtha or kerosene. For flat paints, just naphtha or kerosene. For shellac, denatured alcohol does the trick. For lacquers, acetone and naphtha. For calcimine and other water paints, just plain old water.

Q.—How can I improvise some stamp-pad ink?

A.—Grind up about an inch of lead from an indelible pencil and mix this with a teaspoonful of glycerin and a teaspoonful of water. Let settle for about 10 hours, and it's ready for use.

Q.—How can I improvise a chalkboard for my children?

A.—A discarded window shade makes a very serviceable chalkboard for youngsters. Paint it black and hang it at a convenient height.
